One of the ties, which is railroad tie at Nashua Junction while unloading a railroad train. As it was derrick, was raised with the derrick, the young man was struck on the right foot, which was badly crushed.

PALMER ON TRIAL

Defendant Says That What He Told Grand Jury Was True

The trial of Lawyer Jackson Palmer, son of the late ex-Mayor Charles D. Palmer of Lowell, who was indicted on a charge of perjury by the Middlesex county grand jury, was resumed before Judge McLaughlin at the criminal session of the superior court at Cambridge this morning.

Charles A. Miller, ticket agent of the Boston & Maine railroad at the Middlesex street station in this city, was recalled at the opening of this morning's session and presented a book of record of sales of trip-books sold to Mr. Shaw in account with the county. Harry D. Carter, husband of one of Mr. Shaw's daughters, testified that he was married on October 23, 1903. He was asked if during the latter part of 1908 or early part of 1909, he didn't ride on a train to Boston with two of Mr. Shaw's daughters and another person. The question was objected to and the witness excused.

Otis W. Butler, a manufacturer of peanut butter and salted peanuts, with a place of business in Lowell, who was a member of the grand jury which heard the testimony in the inquiry into the so-called Middlesex county ring, was the next witness heard. Witness remembered Jackson Palmer testifying before the grand jury. He felt that Mr. Palmer testified on three different occasions.

There was no cross-examination.

Sheriff Fairbairn

Sheriff John R. Fairbairn of Middlesex county was called and showed the commission of appointment of Mr. Harry E. Shaw as deputy sheriff and keeper of Lowell jail on Jan. 1, 1908. The paper was admitted as evidence.

The paper bore the names of Samuel P. Hadley and James P. Savage, commissioners to qualify civil officers. The bond which Mr. Shaw furnished was also presented and admitted as evidence.

A portion of the transcript of the testimony given by Mr. Palmer before the grand jury was then read by District Attorney Higgins, after which Mr. Higgins stated that the government would rest its case.

The first witness called for the defense was Mrs. Rowena Palmer, widow of the late Mayor Charles D. Palmer. She said her husband died on Sept. 25, 1909, and said that her son, Dana Palmer, came back from school on the 26th of September, the day following the death of her husband, and that he did not go to Lowell again until June of this year.

Mrs. Palmer, upon being cross-examined by District Attorney Higgins, testified that to the best of her recollection her son, Jackson Palmer, was at home on Sunday, Oct. 24, 1909, but that she would not swear to it.

Mrs. Palmer Testifies

Mrs. Mary Perkins Palmer, wife of the defendant, was then called. She testified that her husband was not at home on the 24th of October, 1909. Mr. Higgins put the witness through a rigid examination relative to her recollection of the dates and places her husband was at certain times.

George Decker, a newspaper man of Boston, testified to knowing Mr. Palmer, the defendant. He said he had something to do with the investigation of the Middlesex county ring and the alleged extravagances of Mr. Shaw. He made the investigation in his official capacity of a newspaper man.

Witness said that he and Jackson Palmer went before Judge DeCoursey during the latter part of December, 1909. He heard what Mr. Palmer said to the justice.

"What did he say?" asked Mr. Burke, "object," said Mr. Higgins.

Later the court allowed the witness to testify relative to the conversation between Judge DeCoursey and Jackson Palmer. Mr. Decker said that Mr. Palmer asked if there was not some way that he could avoid testifying before the grand jury and that the judge said that he would have to go before the chief justice.

Later the witness and Mr. Palmer went to see Chief Justice Aiken relative to Mr. Palmer's appearance before the grand jury and that Justice Aiken said that Mr. Palmer would be obliged to appear before the grand jury.

Witness admitted that he wrote a series of articles relative to the alleged condition at the Lowell jail and the alleged mismanagement on the part of Mr. Shaw, which was published in the Boston Journal in May, 1909. He also admitted that more or less of the information he received came through Jackson Palmer.

Mr. Decker also said in answer to a question put by Mr. Higgins that he and the defendant went before the attorney general relative to the official conduct of Mr. Shaw at the Lowell jail. He also admitted that he and Jackson Palmer conferred with Lawyer Philip Dunbar on several occasions relative to the procedure against the officials of Middlesex county. He said that he was not interested in the pushing of the case and was with the defendant mostly in the interest of his paper.

Witness said that Jackson Palmer told him that he (Palmer) had had Mr. Shaw watched by detectives for a number of days, especially during the automobile races in Lowell. Mr. Decker did not know whether or not the detectives occupied rooms across the street from the jail. Witness admitted that he had had conversations with the detectives in question.

At 11:30 o'clock an intermission of 15 minutes was taken and when court resumed several minor cases were taken up and disposed of.

Palmer Testifies

The hearing of the Palmer case was resumed at 12 o'clock.

Jackson Palmer, the defendant, was called and testified in part as follows: "I am 27 years of age and was admitted to the bar in 1908. I formed a partnership with James A. George, under the firm name of George & Palmer. I made an investigation relative to the conduct of the officials of the northern part of Middlesex county. My partner, Mr. George, was the first person who spoke to me about the matter. He asked me to look up the law relative to the conduct of county officials. Subsequently I had a conference with Lawyer R. H. Dana, and the latter requested me to secure detectives and have them watch the actions of the officials at the Lowell jail. I engaged Robert Burns, a detective.

Witness testified that one day while he was traveling between Lowell and Boston over the western division of the Boston & Maine R. R., he saw two of Mr. Shaw's daughters on the train.

Mr. Palmer testified relative to his being subpoenaed to appear before the grand jury. He said he was reluctant about appearing and testifying and went to Judge DeCoursey and subsequently went before Judge Aiken. Witness said he appeared before the grand jury and that the testimony which he gave was true.

Cross Examined

On cross examination Mr. Palmer said that as a lawyer he had studied about the duties and offices of the grand jury and felt that if he was subpoenaed to appear before the grand jury that he would have to appear, but that at the time he went before Judge DeCoursey and Justice Aiken the subpoena had not been served. He had heard that he was liable to be called before the grand jury, but decided that he had vacated his office in Boston for three days in order to avoid receiving the summons.

Mr. Palmer testified that the summons was served on him at Wellesley Hills. He also testified relative to a conversation which he had with Mr. Decker, the Boston newspaperman, and George A. Ferris, a former employee at the Lowell jail.

Mr. Palmer, the defendant, was called to the witness stand and testified partly as follows: "I met Mr. Ferris in October, 1908. I was working on an accident case and I understood that Mr. Ferris was an eye witness to the accident. I had a conversation with Mr. Ferris later and he told me of Mr. Shaw's management and conduct at the Lowell jail."

W. C. T. U. CONVENTION

WATERVILLE, Me., Sept. 28.—Resolutions rejoining "that Maine has retained constitutional prohibition, the safest and best form of prohibiting the liquor traffic," were adopted today at the annual convention of the Maine Woman's Christian Temperance Union. Other resolutions included the following:

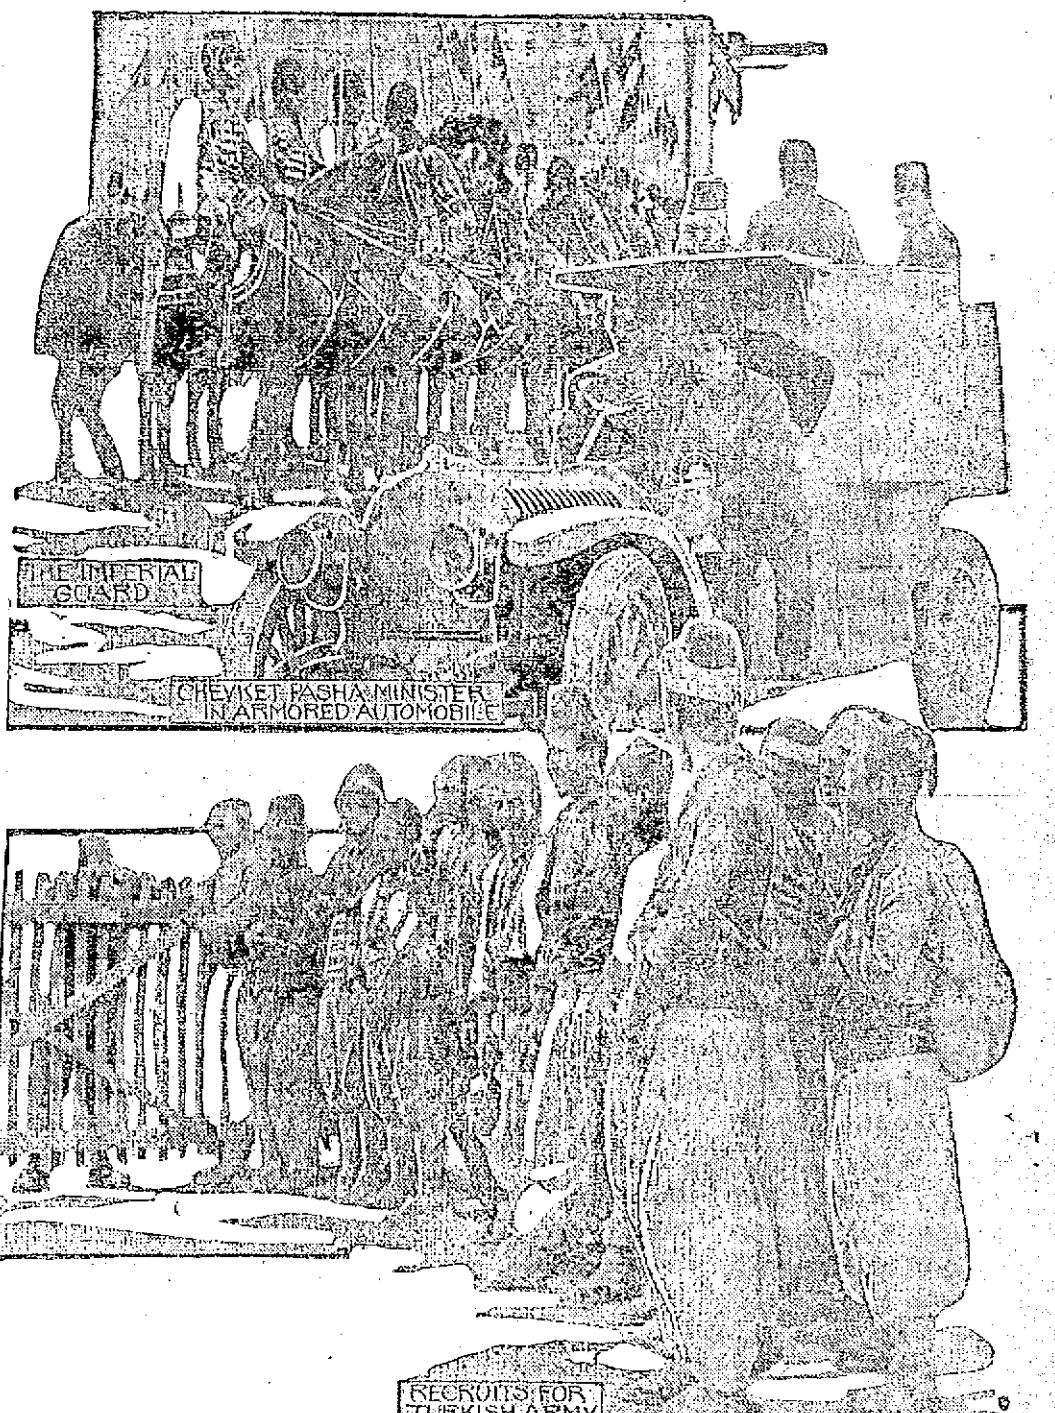

"That we will heartily co-operate in the endeavor to secure the passage of a congressional law which will remove intoxicating liquors from interstate commerce protection."

"We are, in hearty accord with the spirit and letter of the proclamation issued from Portland, Sept. 10, by our national and state president, Mrs. Lillian Stevens, for national constitutional prohibition and will do all in our power to obtain such legislation."

THE DEATH OF McLEAN

Judge Pickman filed a report in the police court this morning on the inquest held upon the death of the late John A. McLean, who met with an accident on the 21st day of July at three o'clock in the afternoon, which resulted in his death. The judge concludes his report with this statement: "It is the opinion of the jury that the death of John A. McLean at the time, and in the manner aforesaid, was not attributable to the criminal negligence of either the New England Telephone Co. or the Lowell Electric Light Co."

CRISIS AT HAND

Trouble Between Turkey and Italy Becomes More Serious

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 28.—A telegram from Tripoli under yesterday's date states that upon the invitation of the local branch of the Banca di Roma many Italians passed the night on board the bank's steamer.

The telegram adds: "The panic among and exodus of Italians are increasing, the object being to emphasize the necessity for the arrival of Italian warships. The attitude of the Turkish and Arab population and of the local authorities is exemplary. The proclamation of the Turkish grand vizier engaging the population to be calm and prudent was publicly read."

Turkish circles are convinced that there is no real warrant for the agitation in the Italian colony at Tripoli and it is regarded as the outcome of a deliberate design to provoke a pretext for Italian intervention.

Yesterday Arabs, natives of Tripoli who are residing in Constantinople, held a meeting of protest against the Italian institution that the Arabs of Tripoli were in favor of Italian rule. Loyalty to the sultan was expressed.

The minister of the interior today addressed the provincial authorities through a circular note assuring them that the government was resolved to defend the national honor, adding: "For the moment no actual aggression has taken place but Italy apparently is ready to take action any moment."

The minister ordered the provincial authorities to suppress all attempts to boycott Italian products inasmuch as there has been no rupture in the relations of Turkey and Italy. His counsels confidence and calmness.

It is reported that the Turkish squadron at present lying off Beirut, reached Paris this morning and the reply maintains reservations which acquire serious examination.

ITALY SENDS ULTIMATUM

PARIS, Sept. 28.—It is accepted in government circles here that Italy has sent an ultimatum to Turkey but has not set the time within which the demand must be met or rejected. Hence, from the document itself it cannot be determined when Italy will proceed from words to action.

The delay, although indefinite, will not, it is presumed, continue many hours without a suitable response from the Porte.

ULTIMATUM REPORT CONFIRMED

BERLIN, Sept. 28.—The report that Italy has presented an ultimatum to Turkey is confirmed but, according to the information had here, it demands only the immediate cessation of the despatch of Turkish troops and material of war to Tripoli. The general demands of Italy have not yet been presented.

The Porte yielded and stopped the movement of the ships toward Tripoli except the transport Derna, which had already sailed and could not be reached when the ultimatum was delivered. Italy acquiesced in the plans of the Derna and did not interfere with her passage.

THE MOROCCAN AFFAIR

PARIS, Sept. 28.—A semi-official note issued today says that the observations presented by the German government on the last French proposals for a settlement of the Moroccan affair

GRAVE MEASURES THREATENED

ROME, Sept. 28.—The minister of foreign affairs has sent the following telegram to the Italian legation consulates in the Balkans:

"The constant opposition of Turkey to all legitimate and economic activity on the part of Italians in Tripoli and Cyrene and the danger which surrounds our nationals at this moment compel the royal government to take grave measures."

SPEEDY ANSWER SOUGHT

ROME, Sept. 28.—Sometime during Tuesday night the Italian minister of foreign affairs, Marquis Di San Giuliano, addressed to the Italian charge d'affaires at Constantinople, Signor Di Martino, a note which began:

"During the long series of years the government of Italy never ceased to make representations to the Porte upon the absolute necessity of correcting the state of disorder to which the government of Turkey abandoned Tripoli and Cyrene. These regions should be admitted to the benefits of the progress realized by other parts of the Mediterranean and Africa."

The transformation which is imposed by the general exigencies of civilization constitutes for Italy a vital interest by reason of the slight distance separating these countries from the coasts of Italy. Notwithstanding the attitude taken by the government of Italy, which has always accorded its loyal support to the imperial government in the different political questions of recent times; notwithstanding

The committee on finance recommended the following salaries: Arthur W. Truhey, manual training at the high school, $1000; William A. Webb, machine shop instruction at the industrial school, $1200; Miss Anna O'Day, industrial school, $650. The salaries for the last two are for day and evening school. Accepted.

The following teachers for the evening drawing school were appointed: Machine class, S. G. Stephens, principal; A. D. Colby, H. S. Crisler, C. Frank Dupe, Arthur C. Silcox and Harry A. Newell, Architectural class, Harry P. Graves, principal; George W. Mansur and Henry L. Rourke. Free hand drawing class, Mrs. Lilla E. Robbins, principal; Katherine Berrange, Mary E. Cushing, Edith C. Merchant, Carrie G. Staples, Elizabeth Whiting.

Teachers Resign

Supt. Whitcomb read the following three resignations: Winifred C. Hagerty, Pond Street school; Mabel H. Dia, Colburn primary school; Carrie A. Paul, Moody school. The resignations were accepted and a vote of thanks given the teachers for their faithful work.

Another Evening School

The superintendent read a petition signed by about 15 members of the Jewish colony on Howard street, for the opening of an evening school on Howard street. The petitioners were represented by Isaac Banks, and the matter referred to the committee on evening schools.

A six months leave of absence was granted to Elsie M. Cragin and a half year's leave of absence to Miss O'Hearn of the Lincoln school, for reason of ill health.

The board voted to close the public schools on the last Friday in October, to enable the teachers to attend the Middlesex county convention of school teachers.

Plumbing Classes

A communication from John E. Drury in behalf of the master plumbers, for the opening of plumbing classes in connection with the industrial school was read, and finding Mr. Dooley in favor of the new class, the matter was left to the committee on teachers. It was at this point that Mr. Goward recommended the appointment of a committee of three members to be known as the committee on industrial schools. Later, Mr. Midsley moved that a committee of four members be appointed for the industrial school. This was finally cut down to three, composed of Franklin E. Johnson, chairman, and Messrs. Midsley and McKenzle.

Principal Dooley's Report

Supt. Whitcomb read a report from Supt. Dooley of the industrial school, saying that there were 53 girls registered in the classes at the Morrill school and 106 boys at the Bartlett. As the situation is at present, there are too many applicants for the teaching staff, and among those registered are 25 boys from out of town who pay a tuition fee. The question arose whether it was proper to turn away the out of town boys and lose money, or turn away the Lowell boys and make money on the tuition fees. Dr. Lambert allowed that it would be proper economy to appoint another teacher and accommodate more boys, so the superintendent recommended Walter Connolly for a position as teacher in the machine class of the industrial department. Connolly was appointed and the matter of salary referred to the committee on finance.

A motion was passed to open a class in decorative sign painting in the evening drawing school and authority given the sub-committee on evening schools to open such a class.

Portuguese Evening School

A communication from the Portuguese residents was read, stating that the Portuguese government allowed a certain sum of money to educate her people in the United States, said money to be used for the instruction of adults only. The petitioners prayed that an unused class room in the Edison school be given to them, with the understanding that they are to pay all expenses.

The question of classes of social bacteriology for girls and young women in the industrial school was discussed at some length, such class to include the various home duties such as dress making and millinery. Mr. Dooley spoke in favor of it, and the motion to open such a class was passed.

Committee on Rules

The minority report of the committee on rules was brought up for consideration and last. The report provided that the tenure of office rule, be amended to include the evening school teachers. It was so voted.

Dr. Lambert Speaks

Dr. Lambert discussed the question of the Cheever street school briefly, saying that such a matter should not have been given the publicity that it received. The school board knew what they were doing when they leased the school to the Oblate fathers, and that the place was not a parochial school. The fact that a nominal rental only was charged was because of the fact that the board knew it was not to be used as a parochial school.

A motion to amend two of the rules of the school board, so as to conform to the new law, was passed.

THE LUMBER TRUST

Government Makes New Attack On It

DENVER, Sept. 28.—The government charges that the so-called lumber trust completely dominates the lumber trade of at least 20 states by monopolizing a saw system, black lists, distribution of territory and other illegal methods conducted through a central agency in Chicago, called the "lumber trust," made in an anti-trust suit filed in the U. S. court here yesterday by the department of justice.

This is the government's fourth attack on the lumber trust, in addition to the criminal indictments already standing against lumber barons, etc., have been furnished to all dealers in the combined associations.

The government holds that by attacking the bureau the department of justice strikes at the root of the alleged restraints which are said to keep the distribution of lumber from the manufacturer to the consumer.

Attorney General Wickersham and his special assistant, Clark McKelroy, have been working more than a year gathering the evidence upon which the suits are brought.

The government asks the court to strip the bureau from continuing its "black lists" and other illegal information. It asks that the bureau be dissolved and its assets be turned over to the government.

The suit is part of a series of attacks on the lumber trust, which has been practiced upon several months of manufacturers and wholesalers.

The government's latest attack is in the form of a motion to set aside the criminal indictments already standing against lumber barons, etc., have been furnished to all dealers in the combined associations.

A GENERAL LOCKOUT In Building Trades in New York is Threatened

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—A general suspension of all building operations was threatened today as a result of the strike of the marbleworkers. The board of governors of the building trades employees association at a meeting today expects to serve notice on the unions that unless they call off a sympathetic strike on some sixth buildings in support of the marbleworkers the employers will declare a general lockout.

Seven hundred members of the Employers association representing 32 trade associations met yesterday and empowered the board to take this action. About 40,000 members of the various trades associations are affected. This notice would not affect the bricklayers and the members of one or two other crafts, but the employers say Threatened to kill her. Patrolman Marron found Eagle fastened in a bedroom. His wife had tied a clothes line to the door knob, wrapped it around various heavy pieces of furniture and had tied the end of it to the wash tubs in the kitchen.

The infuriated husband attempted to crawl out through the transom, but could not get over. He did not dare jump two stories from the window. For twenty-four hours his meals had been passed over the transom by the frightened wife.

The policeman held parley between them before opening the door. Mrs. Burke insisted she had taken precautions to hold her husband, after he threatened to desert her and their four-year-old son, Jimmy. Eagle, recalled the act and declared he was tired of being walled.

The policeman liberated the husband. The latter at once began to pack a suit case to leave, but his wife insisted he was taking articles of clothing that she had bought. The officer refused to allow Eagle to take away more than his own, and advised Mrs. Burke to get a summons from the district court. Eagle hurried down to Seventh avenue and disappeared.

JUMPED TO DEATH

Boy Discouraged Because He Lost Job

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—Despondent because he had lost the position he held for four years, Carl Christensen, 19 years old, a waiter, who lived at No. 148 East Thirty-sixth street, leaped to death last night from the ninth floor of the Temple Court building, at Beekman street and Theatre alley.

Christensen was informed last night by employees in a back room on the ground floor of the Temple Court building that he had lost his position. Shortly afterward he approached a porter and speaking of his discharge said:

"I can't go home and tell my father and mother that I've lost my job. I've held it for four years. I reckon the only thing left for me to do is to commit suicide."

He left the building and walked to Park row. He returned to the Temple Court building and rode up in an elevator to the ninth floor. For several minutes he walked back and forth taking the elevator. He then stood a window overlooking Theatre alley and, climbing out on the window sill, jumped. Almost every bone in his body was broken.

HUSBAND BARRED

WIFE CHANGED THE LOCK ON THE DOOR

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—WANTED: Somebody who will invent a skeleton key that will open any lock. Apply to Oscar C. Fullert, 1222 Beacon avenue. Fullert, a married man, advertised yesterday for a key like this, but he admitted, just before he was interviewed, that such a device would have saved him a good deal of worry and inconvenience and might have kept him out of court altogether.

He asked for a writ of habeas corpus to get his 14-year-old son from Alvin Fullert, his wife, of 447 Park avenue, on the ground that she is not as fit as he is to take care of the child.

"I was married in October, 1905, and started house-keeping in Park avenue," said Fullert. "My wife took it into her head to change me with Alvin, a boy like this, but he admitted, just before he was interviewed, that such a device would have saved him a good deal of worry and inconvenience and might have kept him out of court altogether."

Fullert said that he made a desperate effort to spare himself at home, but couldn't get on good terms with his wife. He wanted for the fact that he went to his wife on two occasions and offered her $5 if she would cook his supper for him. She refused the offer.

Fullert quotes Mrs. Fullert as having said in the presence of the boy:

"I will not over the bridge of Siles unless he pays me $1500."

SIR THOMAS LIPTON

Ready to Challenge For America Cup on Fair Conditions

LONDON, Sept. 28.—The minute he heard that the New York Yacht club is willing to meet me under its own rules I challenge again," said Sir Thomas Lipton today, regarding reports raised here that the American yacht club favor changing the cup conditions so that the international races can be conducted according to rules recognized by every club in America.

"I felt sure that when Americans knew the facts of the case they would put things straight. It is no fault of mine that there has been no challenge from this side. I see from the cables that many important yacht clubs want the New York Yacht club to use the golden bridge which provides for conditions to be arranged by mutual consent."

"I never could believe that American sportsmen wanted to keep the cup on a more technicality. I am more than pleased to see that the Atlantic Yacht club is of the same opinion. All I ask is to run under the New York Yacht club's own rules. As I've said before, what is good enough for them is good enough for me."

"Every yachtsman in America knows there is nothing would stimulate the sport so much as another international race, even if the race were under the universal rule. I couldn't say that I would win, but win or lose, every American yachtsman would then

THE BOSTONS DEFEATED

Ed. Walsh Was Too Much for the Red Sox

BOSTON, Sept. 28.—In these melancholy, saddest-of-the-year, autumnal days, when the sea and yellow is beginning to get in its work, it makes little difference to us who wins the afternoon set. Perhaps one might look out where the Cubs and Giants are winding up the season in a blaze of fireworks, but hereabouts—what's the use. Yesterday we trekked out to Huntington avenue only to find old Ed Walsh propelling the sphere for the White Sox, and accidentally engineering a 3 to 0 victory over the local club.

The game, played in the gray of the afternoon, didn't amount to much. There are six more of the same to be played between now and the final curtain, but the only question that they will decide is whether or not the Red Sox can represent themselves as the best of the league.

Walsh had Ray Collins as opposition for eight rounds. Then Bushelman, the New England league recruit, was given a trial, and marched through one inning without mishap. Walsh held Boston to five hits. The White Sox made but six, but of these four counted in the scoring. In the fourth inning a walk to McIntyre was followed by a single by Bodie and a couple of infield outs, McIntyre scoring on the three plays.

An single by Lord, a sacrifice by McIntyre and a three-bagger by Bodie made for another tally in the sixth, and a two-bagger by Shomo Collins along with a sacrifice hit and a sacrifice fly were ingredients in the third and last run which came in the seventh.

Against this Boston was seldom dangerous. The best little rally came in the eighth inning, when after two outs down, Eagle batted for Ray Collins and singled. Speaker followed with a one-base run to center, on which Eagle took third. Gardner had a fine opportunity to distinguish himself, but his best was a strike-out which one must maintain isn't very good in any extremity.

The game was played in 1 hour and 20 minutes, a shortness of time that must be indicative of the merits of the rival batters. Walsh, always good on a cloudy day, was steady as a clock, giving but one base on balls and scattering the five Boston hits in an extremely clever manner.

Collins was almost constantly steady, the chances first run being undoubtedly due to a playing out of the least field with one out and a man on second and third. The mistake in technical defence gave the opposition the lever with which to pry open the run chest, and incidentally the advantage which eventually gave them the game.

The same team go at it this afternoon at the usual hour. The score:

York, it ran for several months. It was taken on the road and drew packed houses right from the start. People were turned away almost nightly. Exactly the case with "The Newbyweds." In a comparatively short time, it has made a fortune—that is, a theatrical fortune for its owners. This is the first venture into New England and so far it has hit the bull's eye. It is an excellent entertainment, novel in plot, a line of characters new to the stage. In fact a distinct departure from anything yet offered in the musical comedy line. It's a big company—over 60 people.

The Newbyweds and their wonderful baby will be seen here at the Opera House, Friday and Saturday, Sept. 29-30, with Saturday matinee—Adv.

DANTE'S "INFERNO"

With the exception of Shakespeare and the Bible, probably the greatest monument of literature and history is Dante's "Inferno." It has at all times been praised by students as a revelation rather than a mere poem. With all its power, this literary masterpiece has heretofore only been appreciated by a limited number of readers, while to the great masses it was a hidden treasure. It remained, however, for Edison's greatest invention, the moving pictures, to furnish the key which has unlocked this treasure for the benefit of the general public.

The recent reproduction of a "Florence drama," of the type, by the Milano Film company of Italy, has been met with unparalleled success. The result, however, has been a complete revelation to both literary and art critics. There are more than one hundred scenes displayed covering almost every part of Dante's poem and constituting an entertainment of more than two hours' duration.

By special arrangement the pictures were first shown to his Majesty, the King of Italy, who, together with the members of the royal household, commended the work with the highest flattery. The Milano company spent nearly two years producing the subject and received the advice of artists from every part of Europe, the result was a triumph not only of moving picture art, but of stage craft and pantomime as well. A dignified lecture augmented by special music rendered on a Mason & Hamlin pipe organ accompanies the pictures.

The local engagement will commence at the Opera House next Monday, Oct. 2d, for one week with daily matinees. It may be of interest to know that the Messrs. Shubert have eight productions playing at their leading theatres throughout the country simultaneously with the local engagement—Adv.

KEITH'S LOWELL THEATRE

"How does he do it?" This is the most popular question with the patrons of the B. F. Keith new theatre in Bridge street after they have witnessed the mystifying act which is the headliner this week and presented by Dr. Carl Herman, the only man living who can allow several hundred volts of electricity to course through his body and not feel any ill effects from it. This act is the most mysterious of any ever given on a local stage and is well worth seeing. If you are of a skeptical mind and believe that there is not a direct current flowing through the doctor's body you are invited to the stage, so that you may examine the apparatus he uses, including the three huge dynamos which furnish the "juice," in order that you will leave the theatre without a doubt in your mind regarding the genuineness of the act.

PACKY McFARLAND, WHO IS TO MEET MATT WELLS

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—What promises to be one of the best fights scheduled for a decade is the ten round bout listed for Oct. 12 at Madison Square Garden between Packy McFarland and Matt Wells. They have agreed to weigh in at 155 pounds at 3 o'clock on the afternoon of battle. Wells has shown that he can reach this notch and do himself justice, and it is an ideal fighting weight for Packy. The latter worked like a Trojan to make 133 at 3 for Wolcott in the engagement which has been declared off, but there were grave doubts extant in the minds of his friends whether Packy could have carried his fighting strength into the ring. A week before the Wolcott battle Packy looked anything like a man who was ready to tackle a tough customer like the champion. His face was drawn, and his skin was very pale. Nately has any fear, however, but that the Chicagoan will be at his best with Wells; also it is a pretty safe bet that McFarland will give the Britisher the hardest tussle the latter has had since he landed upon these shores with his blushing honors back upon him. With a few more pounds to his credit Attel might have bothered Wells a lot. McFarland is universally acknowledged to be one of the most scientific men of his poundage that the arena has known since the days of Joe Gans. He is fitted in every way to meet Wells on even terms.

Regarding the genuineness of the act, while Dr. Herman's act itself is the high priced feature act of this week's bill there are other acts, that are fully as interesting, although not of the same nature, and are: Harlan Knight and his company in "The Clark Line," a playlet with pathos and laughs; Mr. and Mrs. Allison, present "Minnie from Minnesota," an interesting sketch of a young composer and a Swedish girl; John Neff and Carrie Starr, in "The Bratwurst Musician," Mr. Neff's latest creation; Roder and Lester, gymnasts; Harry Fantale and Viola Vallette, entertainers in songs and dances and Dummet Brothers, dancers pre-eminent. Moving picture films of the latest subjects close the bill. Tickets may be ordered in advance by telephone, 28—Adv.

SIR ROVER A WINNER

Captured the Pacing Stake in Three Straight Heats

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 28.—T. W. Murphy, wearing yards of bandages to keep in place a rib broken Tuesday when Baroness Helen tossed him over the fence, was winning heats on the Columbus track right and left yesterday until the course was flooded by rain that appeared at 3:15 and forced a postponement until noon today.

Murphy got one of his three races completed, putting Sir Rover ahead in straight heats in the 2:11 pacing stake. With R. T. C. he won the only heat decided in the 2:12 trotting stake, and after Black Twister had nipped the first heat in the 2:07 pace twice brought Longworth B down ahead.

Much comment was stirred up during the Sir R. race. There was a heavy play on the Canadian Hal B Jr. and Starting Judge Stone, who found the good thing acting badly, was accused of not trying to protect him. In both the second and third heats the horse was far out of position when the field was sent away, and was discarded finally. The last heat of the race was paced in a driving rain.

R. T. C. and Longworth B. of the Murphy stable were pronounced favorites, calling to mind that Murphy has been protected by the manager of the Madison stable in which Margaret Farish belones. It is contended that the judges erred Tuesday in placing Mainland when he fell inside the distance day.

Creighton was picked to win the 2:10 trot four heats of which were raced Tuesday, but nearly direct was the heaviest and pulled through the last quarter of the final mile in 31 when Creighton, after going easy to the turn home, was brought up with a rush. The summary:

any as fun makers you should see "Naughty Rebecca," the delightful little comedy of three acts by Maurice Hargrave, being given this week in this theatre. In many respects "Naughty Rebecca" resembles some of the famous comedy drama, "Three Twins," in that there are three members of the cast dressed in opera cloaks of the same color and design, who are continually mistaken for each other by two young husbands who are out on a lark, thinking that their wives have the least knowledge of their whereabouts. However, their discovery after sporting about a well known cafe all evening that the two women they have been with are their wives, who had conceived the plan for the purpose of trying their fidelity. The third member of the quartet is a maid of one of the men who wrote the notes to the husbands requesting them to come to the cafe. She goes to the cafe in order to see the scheme through.

The fun running throughout the drama is of a most delightful and though producing nature and the presentation is as complete as could be desired. "Completeness of every detail" is one of the slogans of Mr. Meek with his company and house and the result is that the many little things which come to the surface and infuse the presentation of a drama where everything is done in a penny saving way, are unknown at this theatre. AEROPLANES CRASH

The Two Aviators Had a Narrow Escape

CANTON, O., Sept. 28.—While attempting to make a landing after circling about the aviation field here yesterday Eugene B. Ely lost control of his machine and crashed to the ground, hitting Aviator Atwood's machine on the way. Both aviators were carried to the ground but neither was badly injured. One of the planes of Ely's machine was damaged.

The gusty breeze was responsible for the accident and kept the aviators from attempting any sensational flights yesterday. No high flights were made. Most of the birdmen flew around the course a few feet from the ground and even then they had trouble with the wind.

Atwood won from Brooks in the quick starting contest. Ely was circling the field about 20 feet from the ground when the accident occurred. A heavy gust of wind tilted his plane and he jerked a lever too far over in an effort to counteract it. As a result he lost control of the machine and it plunged towards the ground. At this moment Atwood was just leaving the ground in his machine and one of Ely's planes touched Atwood's machine. Both machines hit the ground and Ely was spilled out. He sustained a blackened eye but otherwise was uninjured.

OUR METHODS WITH SUPERFLUOUS HAIR

ERADICO is guaranteed to instantly remove superfluous hair. It dissolves it. It won't make your hair grow in faster, as is the case with powders and pastes that break off the hair.

ERADICO can do all it claims, because it is a liquid that is absorbed by the pores of the skin. Powders, pastes and other chemicals that cannot be dissolved must remain on the surface of the skin, and are therefore so disappointing. It is impossible for them to destroy the root of the hair.

Get a bottle of ERADICO. It is the only hair remover with a guarantee. You can get ERADICO in Lowell, only at Hall & Lyon's Drug Store, 101 Main St., or at the Pilgrim Mfg. Co., Makers, New York.

ARM AMPUTATED

Eric Freiberg Met With Serious Accident

Eric Freiberg, an employee of the Cuddy Packing company, was the victim of a terrible accident late yesterday afternoon, when his arm was caught in a sausage machine and amputated. The accident was necessary.

Freiberg, who is an experienced man in this line of business, was working around his machine at 5:30 yesterday afternoon when in some unaccountable manner his right arm was caught in the gears of the machine. Before the machine could be stopped the arm was drawn through to above the elbow and the hand protruded from the other side.

The ambulance was quickly summoned, but as it was impossible to extricate the arm, it being literally jammed by the machine, the only recourse was to amputate the member, and this was done. Dr. R. W. Parker took of the arm above the elbow and during the operation, Freiberg watched the doctor without for a moment losing consciousness. After the operation he was even strong enough to walk to the elevator to be taken to the hospital. The ambulance removed him to St. John's hospital, where it was reported he was resting comfortably.

WOMAN DETECTIVE

WAS BEATEN AND KICKED BY A PRISONER

BOSTON, Sept. 28.—Miss Esther Trask, a store detective, captured a man suspected of shoplifting yesterday at the very entrance of the court house, although beaten and kicked by the prisoner.

Several times the man pounded his fist into her face, as she clung to him, while some of Boston's most prominent attorneys looked on.

A crowd collected, watching the unequal struggle—a crowd of lawyers, stenographers and business men. It was an inspector from police headquarters, summoned by telephone by a woman's voice, who came to Miss Trask's aid.

And the prisoner, to whom Miss Trask had managed to cling for nearly five minutes, in spite of the beating she was receiving, gave the inspector, Wise, such a tussle that he was obliged to call for another officer before he could get him to headquarters.

Miss Trask said that she had seen the prisoner, who gave the name Jas. Shannon, no home, take some glasses and a pipe from the counter in the department store. She followed him, waiting to pass an officer to have the man arrested. At last, fearing he would get away, she came close to him. He noticed that she was following him and turned on her, striking her full in the face. Then she grabbed him and hung on till the police inspector arrived to stop the unequal fight and shame the crowd.

STARVING BABIES

Were Locked in House by Their Parents

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—In a locked room in an East side tenement yesterday, a mother and her two children, who broke in the door and found two little girls and their baby brother almost unconscious from starvation.

Gladie Kurland, 3 years old, when revived with food, said that she and her 3-year-old sister and the year-old boy had been left locked in the flat since early Monday night, when their parents had a quarrel and left the house. The children were turned over to the Children's Society, which said that the baby would probably die. A police alarm was sent out for John J. Kurland and his wife.

WEALTHY WOMAN

WAS ARRESTED ON A CHARGE OF LARCENY

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—Mrs. Frances Walker, said to be the wife of a wealthy resident of Holyoke, Mass., and socially prominent in that city, was arrested late yesterday and arraigned in court accused of shoplifting.

A department store detective alleges he saw Mrs. Walker appropriate several articles of women's wear, valued at $21, and slip them into a blouse jacket. He watched her, he says, in a looking glass, and did not arrest her until she had left the store.

Mrs. Walker, who is a handsome woman and bettes her age, when she gave as $2, burst into tears when the detective took her into custody. She was released on $500 bail, furnished by the manager of a well-known hotel, where she was stopping with her husband.

Senators Bradley and Foster of Kentucky will coach Milwaukee today. Senator Sutherland of Utah and Senator Pomeroy of Ohio will arrive Saturday or Sunday. Senator Heyburn expects to have everything in readiness so as to enable the committee to begin work promptly.

THE EDDY HEIRS

Not Necessary Parties to Friendly Suit

BOSTON, Sept. 28.—The heirs of Mrs. Mary Baker G. Eddy, the founder of the Christian Science church, are not necessary parties to the friendly suit of the directors of the Christian Science church to have trustees conveyed to the church real estate owned by Mrs. Eddy in this city and in Newton in accordance with her will, according to a ruling by Judge Morton of the superior judicial court today.

Assistant Attorney General Field, representing the commonwealth claimants, said that the heirs of Mrs. Eddy now living outside the state should be joined in order that a final decision in the matter might be completed and preclude these heirs in case they were dissatisfied from bringing another proceeding. Involved in the case is the validity of certain provisions of the will under the act which prohibits a bequest of an amount yielding an annual income of more than $2,000 to any one child.

ANTIQUES LOST

TRAMPS OR THIEVES BLAMED FOR FIRE IN GOFFSTOWN

GOFFSTOWN, N. H., Sept. 28.—The bungalow of Prof. Ernest Pierce of Tarrytown, N. Y., situated on the mountain road about one mile from the village, was burned yesterday with all its contents. There was no insurance. The fire was discovered by some of the city boarders of the Mr. Pleasant house.

Mr. and Mrs. Pierce left for Tarrytown a week ago Monday and there has been no one there since. It was either set by tramps who broke in to steal or thieves who were after the furniture and set the fire to cover the tracks, as it was known to be furnished with very valuable antiques that have been in the family of Mrs. Pierce for generations.

The loss on the bungalow is estimated to be $500, while that of the furnishings it is impossible to know till Mr. and Mrs. Pierce can furnish a list.

FOOT AND MOUTH DISEASE SPREADS IN EUROPE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28.—Reports to the department of agriculture indicate that the foot and mouth disease is spreading and ravaging herds of cattle, sheep and swine in all parts of Europe. Dr. A. D. Melvin, chief of the bureau of animal industry, says that the small outbreaks in the United States have been effectively stamped out, and that it is proposed to maintain a quarantine so close as to prevent any infection entering this country.

BOSTON, Sept. 28.—Twelve-year-old David Robinson of 79 Bowser street, last night in Roxbury, in trying to avoid being struck by an automobile on Burdett avenue, stepped in front of another, driven by William J. Mahoney. He was knocked down and run over, receiving a fractured skull and other injuries, and is at the City hospital on the danger list, not expected to recover.

The automobile that figured in the tragedy is numbered 26,810, and owned by E. C. Andrews of Wintrop. Mahoney, the chauffeur of the car, on observing the Robinson boy dart in front of the machine, tried to swerve his automobile from the boy.

Mahoney immediately stopped his car on learning it had struck and run over the boy by the shouts of men and women. The chauffeur, with others, brought the boy into the office of Dr. Kellogg, near by, for temporary aid. Then Mahoney drove him to the City hospital.

FAMILY WAS POISONED MADE DEATH PACT

Daughter is Suspected by the New Orleans Police Mother and Son Committed Suicide by Drowning

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 28.—Annie Crawford, who the police allege is her self addicted to the use of drugs, was arrested by the police yesterday charged with killing her younger sister Elise by administering poison, and is said to have partly confessed her guilt.

The police believe the Crawford girl has poisoned four members of her own family for gain.

Three other members of the family have died under mysterious circumstances within the past 14 months and Annie Crawford was beneficiary in the insurance policies on the life of each. The policies she held on all four amounted to only $1750, and the police say the girl spent nearly all the money for clothes.

Elise Crawford, who was a stenographer, died suddenly Saturday under circumstances so suspicious that the coroner had the contents of the stomach analyzed by an expert chemist.

The finding of traces of morphine was followed by the arrest of the eldest sister. The authorities said last night that the bodies of the three other members of the family will be examined for a similar examination.

Dist. Atty. Adams said last night: "It was established today that Annie Crawford is probably addicted to morphine. It is also established that she had access during the past three weeks to morphine and was in a position to obtain it in practically any quantity. During the illness of Elise Crawford she bitterly complained that her food and drink were poisoned and I have charged Annie Crawford with the murder of her sister Elise."

The first of the Crawford household to die was Mary Agnes, another sister of the prisoner. Her death occurred June 25, 1910, supposedly of acute meningitis.

Three weeks later, July 15, 1910, the father died, uremic poisoning being given as the cause. After an interval of two weeks, on July 29, 1910, the mother died. In her case uremic poisoning was also given as the cause.

Annie Crawford held insurance policies on the lives of the deceased in the following sum:

Walter P. Crawford, father, $800; Mrs. Crawford, mother, $400; Mary Agnes Crawford, sister, $500; Elise Crawford, sister, $250. She has collected the insurance in each case, except that of her sister Elise, payment of which was withheld, pending receipt of the certificate of death.

On the Monday morning following her sister's death on Saturday Annie made a demand on the insurance company for the money. She also went to the railroad offices where her sister was employed and collected $45 due the dead girl.

For several years Annie Crawford had charge of the drug department of the Protestant hospital. She lost her place there more than a year ago. It is alleged after the disappearance of a quantity of drugs.

The girl is small, pale and frail, appearing more like a prim and serious school teacher than a person with criminal inclinations.

FIRE IN TAILOR SHOP

An alarm from box 125 at 11 o'clock last night summoned a portion of the fire department to 591 Market street where a bundle of clothes in a second hand tailor shop was on fire. The clothes were damaged and the side of the building slightly scorched.

EAST BROOKFIELD, Sept. 28.—Stricken with grief and mortification at charges which had been preferred against the son, Mrs. Mary Lacey, aged 35, and her son, John G. Lacey, aged 30, both of Fitchburg, strapped their wrists together, then face to face, with their clasped hands pressed close to their breasts, hung themselves into the waters of Lake Lashaway here yesterday and ended their lives by drowning.

On the banks of the lake was a bag, which held, besides a dozen letters to relatives and friends, a bottle of carbolic acid, another means of ending their sorrow which was not needed.

The bodies were found close to the edge of the lake, lying in barely two feet of water, by a boy named De Roemer, who was first attracted to the spot by the sign of the bag.

The authorities were notified and with the appearance of Medical Examiner E. W. Norwood of Spencer (the bodies were taken from the lake by Francis Bedard, later being taken to an undertaker in the Spencer.

Before entering the water the man had removed his coat and hat and his jacket.

The right wrist of the young man was bound to the left wrist of his mother with a skate strap while the other two hands were held less loosely together with a string.

Letters of Explanation

The bag, which contained 10 letters addressed to parties in Fitchburg and Windsor, Vt., was opened and enough of the letters examined to ascertain the identity of the parties.

The letters in each case mentioned the approaching hearing on charges preferred against the young man in Fitchburg and stated that both the mother and son fearing the shame and disgrace of the matter preferred to end their lives to meeting the publicity.

One of the letters was addressed to a daughter-in-law, Mrs. Bert Lacey, in Windsor, Vt., another to Mrs. Charles Langley of the same place, while others were to Henry Patch, Charles "Bosker" and Herbert Abbott of the Fitchburg, and Dr. Underhill of Groton, Lacey's bondsman.

The bag also contained two life insurance policies. One of them, a $1000 policy, was made out in the name of John G. Lacey, and the other, for a smaller amount, was made out to Mary J. Lacey.

Arrested Sunday Night

Mrs. Lacey and her son formerly lived in North Brookfield, but for several years had made their home in Fitchburg, where Lacey was employed as a steward at the exclusive Fay club.

More than six feet tall and of athletic build, Lacey was a young man who commanded much respect and regard from the members of the club and acquaintances.

Last Sunday night he was placed under arrest on unusual charges preferred by Charles Housquet, an 18-year-old boy who was also employed at the Fay club, and the case was continued to Thursday for a hearing. Since that time Lacey had not appeared at the club, his mother leaving town about the same time.

So far as could be learned the couple were seen in Spencer about a week ago, yesterday morning. It is thought they then went to North Brookfield, where they had formerly lived, and came to East Brookfield by trailer.

A resident of East Brookfield, living near the lake, heard a scream from the borders of the lake about 1 o'clock and it is believed that the suicide pact was carried out at this time, as the medical examiner declared the bodies had been in the water but two or three hours.

Medical Examiner Norwood commended with a daughter of Mrs. Lacey in Windsor, Vt., and arrangements were made for members of the family to come to Spencer and take charge of the bodies.

A PRISON SENTENCE THE MEN'S MISSION

For Man Charged With Robbing Stores Large Congregation at St. Peter's Church

BOSTON, Sept. 28.—Walter P. Chapin of Malden was sentenced by Judge Lawton in the superior court yesterday afternoon to state prison for a term of not less than 2½ nor more than four years. He was charged with two counts of larceny from department stores. It was asserted that Chapin obtained goods valued at $188 by false pretences.

Inspector Patterson, when asked by the court if he knew anything about the prisoner, declared that the record showed that in 1908 Chapin was sentenced to state prison for a term of four to seven years for perjury in connection with a straw hat case. He was later released on parole for three years in the house of correction stores by false pretences.

The inspector said that Chapin was arrested in Philadelphia on charge of receiving people in an advertising scheme. Then he claimed to be a doctor. The next heard of Chapin, said the inspector, was when he went to Maine and defrauded several farmers on an apple proposition.

Asst. Dist. Atty. Webber informed Judge Lawton that although only two counts were named in the complaint upon which Chapin was found guilty, a few days ago, at least 30 other counts could be placed against him. Mr. Webber read a list of goods that he asserted were stolen by Chapin, the value of which was $2678. Chapin's scheme was to open an account at the stores and furnish references.

Kills A Murderer

A merciless murderer is Appendicitis with many victims, but Dr. King's New Life Pills kill it by prevention. They gently stimulate stomach, liver and bowels, preventing that clogging that invites appendicitis, curing Constipation, Headache, Bilioussness, Chills, etc. at A. W. Dwyer & Co.

The attendance at the men's mission at St. Peter's church continues to be large, the inclement weather of last evening not interfering with the number present by any means. The men present filled both the upper and lower churches. Rev. Fr. O'Mahoney, O. S. A., was the preacher in the main church, taking for his subject, the sin of drunkenness. Rev. Fr. Whalen, O. S. A., spoke in the chapel.

A feature of the early morning mass today was the exceptionally large number of communicants. Rev. Fr. O'Donnell, O. S. A., was the celebrant of the mass and Rev. Fr. Mullin assisted in giving communion. Fr. O'Donnell later gave a brief instruction on the meaning of the sixth and ninth commandments.

The children's mission is a big success, large numbers attending the services regularly.

BODY IDENTIFIED

MAN COMMITTED SUICIDE AT MONTPELIER, VT.

MONTPELIER, Vt., Sept. 28.—The man who fired a bullet into his brain in front of the Palace motion-picture house on Main street at midnight Tuesday night, was definitely identified yesterday as Albert Roth of Whitehall, N. Y., and an undertaker was sent here to remove the body.

Roth brought the revolver he used with him, investigation of stores failing to show that it was purchased in this city.

The girl who sent him back his engagement ring and the young man who was with her Tuesday night, after their interview, and whom Roth followed during the evening but did not molest, feel relieved to think that it was not a double or triple tragedy. Local Shriners took charge of the body and notified the family.

BOARD OF CHARITIES

Dropped the Proposition to Purchase Auto Ambulance

Lowell will not have an automobile ambulance for some time to come. The board of charities held a special meeting last night to consider the immediate purchase of an auto ambulance but decided to drop the matter until there is a special appropriation for that purpose. Commissioner Howe urged the necessity of a fast ambulance and proposed that it be purchased out of the board's present appropriation. The board chairman, Dr. McCarty, allowed that Mr. Howe's suggestion was not a very good one. He said it was unbusinesslike and while he was in favor of an auto ambulance he would not sanction its purchase except by special appropriation.

DR. J. J. McCARTY,
Chairman of Charity Board.

Mr. Howe said that the board, to do its full duty, should buy an auto ambulance and buy it right away. He said that the saving of a human life was of greater importance than the furnishing of appropriations. "I have for some time past urged the purchase of an auto ambulance," said Mr. Howe, "because I believe it would improve the ambulance service. I figure that in such a proposed improvement we would be doing our full part in reducing to a minimum the chances of persons losing their lives because of slow ambulance service."

Mr. Howe then moved that the board purchase an automobile ambulance, and Commissioner Burns seconded the motion.

Mr. Coupe was opposed and stated his objections. He said it was inconsistent with the board's method of doing business and that the ambulance should not be purchased unless the board were allowed an appropriation for that specific purpose.

Chairman McCarty said he would favor the purchase of an auto ambulance if it could be secured without taking the money from the department. "I believe that we should be governed by common sense at all times," said the chairman. "Now the present proposition which provides for the taking of $500 out of the outdoor relief fund, which is the only place we could possibly take it from, is what I consider a bad move. If we did this, we would in a way deprive the poor of the city of that which belongs to them. Then, looking at the question from another view, we could say that after we had taken the amount necessary for the purchase of the auto and had used up the little that might be remaining we would go before the city government or appropriations committee and ask for more money to place out for the end of the year. Our excuse then would not be for money for an ambulance or an improved ambulance service, but for more funds for carrying out the outdoor relief work. That would be so I believe, a rather unbusinesslike and rather improper way of getting the money. According to the opinion of our city solicitor, in the case of the 'feeble-minded bill,' this board, and as a matter of fact, any other board, cannot spend a certain sum of money over and over for specific purpose, for any other purpose. Now if the present motion should be favorably acted on I would say that it would be in direct violation to this ruling, which means a direct violation of the city ordinances and the state laws, and I rule that the motion as offered is not, according to common sense and honorable business methods, and therefore rule it out of order."

Mr. Howe stated that it was not his desire to be unfair in the matter, or attempt to railroad the proposition through any unauthorized way. He believed that the proposed new ambulance system would bring about conditions that would warrant its change, and he thought that the saving of lives was first and foremost.

Commissioner Burns allowed that other departments of the city had done about the same thing in the past and he saw no reason why it couldn't be done properly and without it being considered underhanded or improper.

Mr. Coupe opposed the proposition from the start and Commissioner Burns also believed that while an automobile ambulance service would bring about an improvement, he thought that the method proposed in the motion was hardly right.

It was finally decided to drop the matter for the present and make a try for it next year.

OPINIONS DIFFER AS TO CAUSE OF EXPLOSION ON THE LIBERTE

PARIS, Sept. 28.—The Midi affirms today that absolute differences of opinion exist between Vice-Admiral Belin and the minister of marine, M. Delcasse, as to the cause of the explosion that destroyed the Liberte. The admiral, who commands the second squadron, to which the battleship belonged, maintains that the disaster was due to the decomposition of the powder in the magazine. M. Delcasse refuses to accept that explanation.

NEW HAVEN, Sept. 28.—The doors of recitation halls in Yale university swung inward today to receive the young men who will follow their studies for the next academic year. The upper classes in both departments retain their strength of last year while the graduate schools appear to have made gains.

BILLERICA PEOPLE

Will Ask County Board for St. Improvements

Street and roadway improvements in Billerica were discussed at the Manning house yesterday afternoon at a meeting of the Billerica Improvement association and Billerica board of trade. Warren H. Manning presided. In the large gathering there were a large number of women residents present.

It was voted to ask the county commissioners to define the lines of a number of roads in the town. Attention will be given in the newly built district for a uniform regulation of the width of streets. Attention will also be given to secure public reservations along the river bank.

Improvements will be made on the common in Billerica Centre, and P. S. Clark was authorized to confer with Boston & Maine officials regarding improvements near the railroad station in North Billerica. The regulation of the dumping of garbage and posting of signs within town limits for advertising purposes also received attention.

VINTON PAINTING

LOAN OF IT WANTED BY BOSTON ART MUSEUM

This painting was presented to the Lowell Art association in 1878 by Thomas G. Appleton, through the kindly offices of Miss M. P. H. Robbins and her late sister. This is the first opportunity the association has ever had to loan any painting to an exhibition elsewhere.

BODY IN A WELL

Aged Woman Thought to Have Been Robbed

WESTFIELD, Sept. 28.—The finding of the body of an aged woman in a well in the village of Granville and the discovery that her room in a farmhouse owned by her son had been ransacked led to the beginning of an investigation by Medical Examiner James of this town, who went to Granville today. As the village, which is eight miles southwest of here, near the Connecticut line, is without means of communication other than automobile, the outcome of Dr. James' inquiry was not expected to become known before tonight.

The woman was Mrs. Umansky, 65 years old, mother of Paul Umansky, a Granville farmer, with whom she made her home.

According to the story told by Mrs. Paul Umansky, her husband was away from home all day yesterday on a visit to Winsted, Conn., returning last evening. She said that about 10 a. m. she left home, leaving her baby in charge of her mother-in-law and did not return from a drive to Tolland until 3 p. m. On arriving home she said she found the front door locked. She went in the back door and found her baby alone. Hastily looking through the house she found that the elder Mrs. Umansky's room was in great disorder, the bureau drawers having been ransacked and their contents scattered about. She notified neighbors and a search of the premises resulted in the finding of the body of her mother-in-law floating on top of ten feet of water in a well near the house.

Solomon Joseph Welch, who viewed the body and assisted in removing it from the well, said that the clothing appeared to have had pieces torn from it. There were no marks of violence on the head or neck. The woman is said to have had $120 in her clothing yesterday morning but no trace of this could be found.

the moderation and patience shown by the government of Italy; his views concerning Tripoli have been badly received by the imperial government, but more than that all enterprise on the part of Italians in the regions mentioned have been systematically opposed and unjustifiably crushed.

The note continues: "The imperial government, which to the present time has shown constant hostility toward all legitimate activity in Tripoli and in Cyrene, has by an act of the last hour proposed to the royal government to come to an agreement and has declared itself disposed to afford all the economic concessions compatible with the treaties in force and in accord with the dignity and superior interests of Turkey; but the royal government does not believe in measures taken at this hour which resemble the negotiations with which it has had experience in the past which have demonstrated their futility and which, remote from constituting a guarantee for the future, would be themselves permanent causes of disagreement and conflict."

"The Italian government, having the intention henceforth to protect its interests and its dignity, has decided to proceed to the military occupation of Tripoli and Cyrene.

"The Italian government is the only one that will give itself to the task of deciding and itself attempt to do which the imperial government does not do.

"The royal government demands that the imperial government shall give order that the actual Ottoman representative shall not oppose the measure which in consequence will be necessary to effect this solution without difficulty. An ultimate agreement will be requested between the two governments to regulate the definite situation which will arise.

"The royal embassy at Constantinople is ordered to demand a decisive response on this subject from the Ottoman government within 24 hours of the presentation to the Porte of the present document, in default of which the Italian government will consider itself as being obliged to proceed immediately with measures destined to ensure the occupation of the city, in addition, that the response of the Porte within the period of 24 hours shall be communicated also through Turkish embassy at Rome.

SITUATION SERIOUS

LONDON, Sept. 28.—Although hope has not been abandoned that Italy's aggression upon Tripoli may be prevented, nothing tangible is in sight to justify it. It is feared that Italy's action may open up the whole eastern question as the Turks, paraphrasing their president, Kruger, vow they will "strangle humanity if Europe allows this robbery to be perpetrated."

If Turkey has 30,000 men in Tripoli, as is estimated, great doubt is expressed regarding Italy's being capable

SMOOTH PAVING WORK MAN FOUND GUILTY

Will be Started in Dutton Street He Was Given a Jail Sentence Next Week For Larceny

There are more men employed in Dutton street today to the square foot than in any other street in the city of Lowell. The street railway company is putting in new rails preparatory to the smooth paving job that will start there next week. Everything that the street railway touches in the line of tracks is a rush job and there is no such thing as a man resting on a pick or shovel. There are about 60 men on the job in Dutton street and the job extends from Merrimack street to Broadway.

Nowell P. Putnam, superintendent of streets, said today that he expects to get into Dutton street next week and the street railway people expect to get through there by Saturday. They are putting in new rails and new ties. It will cost somewhere in the vicinity of $14,000 to pave Dutton street from Merrimack street to Broadway, and it is generally conceded that the smooth paving should be continued to Middlesex street. That would make smooth paving from Howe street to Exchange street, so to speak, from the depot along Middlesex street to Central, to Merrimack, to Dutton, Fletcher and back to the depot. This would have been arranged for this summer, but was considered unwise at this time because of the proposed abolition of the grade crossing in Middlesex street.

The abolition of the Middlesex street grade crossing will also mean the abolition of the Fletcher street crossing and the grade of the streets in the vicinity will be more or less affected. It is expected that the work will change the entrance to the Lowell Machine Shop, and Supt. Putnam says he expects that a number of changes, not anticipated at the present time, will take place.

East Merrimack Street

The street department is busy on the paving job in East Merrimack street, and as soon as one side has been finished Mr. Putnam will move his men into Dutton street. He says that he can save considerable time by alternating from street to street as he did in the Merrimack street and Gorham street jobs. There is always a wall of a day or two on every job and that wall is eliminated by moving from street to street.

A sum of $2700 has been appropriated for a continuance of the smooth paving from Howe street to Exchange street, but Mr. Putnam is not sure that he will be able to get to it at this time. He says, however, that he will make a good try.

The Fall Clean Up

Asked if he expected to make an early clean up of the fall work, Mr. Putnam said:

A LARGE ATTENDANCE At the Naturalization Court in This City Today

A very large crowd was in attendance at the naturalization session of the superior court at the court house in Gorham street this morning. Judge Walter Perley Hall of Fitchburg, recently appointed to the bench was the presiding officer and 29 men, representing about every nationality were naturalized, that is they received their last papers.

The session opened at 10 o'clock. The court room was filled with future American citizens and each of the latter was accompanied by two witnesses, the said witnesses being the same as 90 days ago when the first session was held in this city.

At the last session of the naturalization court in this city which was held last June, a large number of people took out their second papers. They were with two witnesses each, and today the same men appeared before Judge Hall to be sworn in as American citizens. It was a necessity for the applicants to be accompanied with the same witnesses. The applicants went through the regular formalities of answering questions, and the court adjourned at twelve o'clock to reopen again at 2 o'clock. The session lasted this afternoon as long as there were applicants to be sworn in, and another session will be held tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock, at which time those who have taken out their second papers will be given an opportunity to become full pledged American citizens.

Putnam said that it depended entirely upon the weather. "If the weather holds out as good as it did last year," he said, "we will get everything cleaned up all right. If, on the other hand, we have some set backs that one is not looking for. Two gangs that were mowing streets have been laid off for more than a week because we have no oil. I put in a requisition for a year of oil August 21 and it hasn't arrived. I spoke to the purchasing agent about it. He said he ordered it all right and I don't know why it doesn't put in an appearance."

Cambridge Street Bridge

Mr. Putnam says that his department has run up against a snag in the Cambridge street bridge job. "We thought we struck a pretty soft bottom at the Lawrence street bridge," he said, "but it was nothing compared to what we are up against in the Cambridge street job. In some places there doesn't seem to be any bottom and in other places it is so soft that I don't know what to make of the situation. When we drive one pile in, three others will bob up. I know there is quicksand there but there's something besides quicksand; something that is of rubbery nature. The job is taking about four times as long as it should because of the pile driving trouble."

Big Building Permit

The permit for the erection of the building to be erected by the New England Telephone & Telegraph Co. at the corner of Appleton and Elliot streets was issued at the office of the inspector of buildings yesterday afternoon. A plan of the building and a detailed description of it has already appeared in these columns. The estimated cost is $100,000.

The committee on appropriations will meet tomorrow night at 8 o'clock.

STRIKE ORDER HELD UP

Final Action Will Not Be Taken Until Tomorrow

CHICAGO, Sept. 28.—Today is a day of grace in the threatened strike of 35,000 mechanical employees of the Harriman railroad, including the Illinois Central road, several hundred of whose clerks are already on strike. It had been intended to call the men out at noon today unless a conciliatory reply to the latest demands were received from Vice President Julius Kruttschnitt, who is in New York city, but the time for that action was put off till tomorrow, following a conference last night of officers of the International unions concerned.

The ultimatum sent to M. Kruttschnitt yesterday was not made public and no reply was received from him yesterday or last night. The demand in substance is that the Harriman lines recognize the various unions in the railroad as the railroads now deal with the individual unions.

J. W. Kline today said for the first time since the agitation began that the strike would be called unless the demands were complied with by the railroads. He said that he did not expect any reply from Mr. Kruttschnitt.

LAWRENCE BANKERS KILLED BY A TRAIN

Are Accused by the City Boy Ran Onto the New Haven Tracks

LAWRENCE, Sept. 28.—City Solicitor D. J. Murphy said the bankers last night before the city council when that body concurred in the order recently passed by the city council that corporations and individuals should be granted a 5 per cent. abatement.

Solicitor Murphy said the charge that the bankers had been guilty of financial malfeasance was due to the fact that other administrations and not Mayor John P. Cahill's regime. He also said that the opponents of the measure to grant an abatement were trying to put the city in the wrong.

Mr. Murphy asserted that when an attorney was made to negotiate a loan with the Old Colony Trust company in Boston, the president of that institution stated that the bankers of Lawrence had asked the trust company not to negotiate the loan.

MILFORD, Sept. 28.—A football for D. J. Murphy scored the bankers of Lawrence last night before the city council when that body concurred in the order recently passed by the city council that corporations and individuals should be granted a 5 per cent. abatement.

MME. BONAPARTE

REPORTED TO BE IN A SERIOUS CONDITION

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28.—Mme. Jerome Bonaparte, the widow of Col. Jerome Bonaparte, a grandson of the Emperor Napoleon who was brother to the first emperor of France, is seriously ill at her home here. Mme. Bonaparte was before her marriage, Miss Caroline LeRoy Appleton of Boston. She is a granddaughter of Daniel Webster.

On Monday Mme. Bonaparte was brought to Washington from her summer home at Bar Harbor. Her condition is now serious and reports indicate that there is no change for the better.

Mme. Bonaparte's first marriage was to Newcomb Edgar, by whom she had two children, Commander Webster N. A. Edgar, U. S. N., and Miss Constance Edgar, who is a nun of the Visitation order in Baltimore. By her second marriage in 1871, she had two children, Jerome N. Bonaparte, and a daughter, who is now the Countess von Melcke Hufeldt, of Denmark. Both children spent the summer with Mme. Bonaparte at Bar Harbor.

When Col. Bonaparte married he had just returned to his native land, having served with distinction in the French army, seeing service in the Crimean war, the Italian campaign and the Franco-Prussian war. He barely escaped with his life during the revolution.

He was a graduate of West Point and afterward went to Paris with his father, Jerome Napoleon Bonaparte. Both received great attention from the emperor, Louis Napoleon, and the young officer, resigning his commission in the French army, was appointed a subaltern in the French ranks.

The paternal great-grandmother of the present Jerome N. Bonaparte of this city was Miss Elizabeth Patterson of Baltimore, whose marriage to Prince Jerome Bonaparte, the youngest brother of Napoleon I, made a most interesting chapter in Franco-American history. It took place on Christmas eve, 1802, with the Rt. Rev. John Carroll, bishop of Baltimore and afterward archbishop, officiating. A civil marriage also took place.

ASK HIS RELEASE

TWO PRISONERS PLEAD FOR THEIR COMPANION

BOSTON, Sept. 28.—Police headquarters today treated to a rather unusual incident. Prisoners when asked for prisoners, who, the police say, are self-confessed housebreakers, pleaded with the police to release a third man, arrested with them in a West End pawnshop yesterday, claiming that he had had nothing to do with the jobs and had just met them. The police detained him, however, Joseph B. Finn, 19, no home, and he with the others will be turned over to the Lynn police.

On Tuesday the police discovered in a pawnshop a shotgun, opera glasses and other articles valued at $218, stolen from the residence of William E. Northey of 485 Essex street, Salem on September 25. Thinking that more loot would appear, plans were made to watch for the men yesterday.

Two and two youths, giving the names of John H. Cole, 18, of Mechanicville, N. Y., and Stewart A. Smith, 18, of 511 134th street, New York, were seen entering a pawnshop and inspecting the stolen goods. Cole and Smith pleaded for the release of Finn.

When placed under arrest the men had a pigskin bag containing billiard balls, opera glasses, baby pins set with pearls, gold ladders, sugar spoons, oyster forks and two pairs of valuable seal skin gloves, all believed to have been stolen in Lynn.

INSTANTLY KILLED

NEWTON MAN PICKED UP A LIVE WIRE

NEWTON, Sept. 28.—Frederick W. Swaine, aged 71, of 55 West Pine street, Auburn, picked up a live wire which fell into his garden and set fire to the mass yesterday afternoon, and was instantly killed.

He was working about the garden when the wire broke a short distance from him. He picked up the wire and fell to the ground. A neighbor ran quickly with a stick and succeeded in pushing the wire from his hand, which were burned to a crisp. His clothing also caught fire from the wire, but the blaze was soon extinguished with several buckets of water in the hands of neighbors.

Mr. Swaine lived with his son, Frederick W. Jr., and at the time of the accident his son's wife, who is an invalid, was sitting in a window and witnessed the death of the aged man. She became prostrated and Dr. Hutchinson was called, who, after examining Mr. Swaine and finding that he was beyond medical assistance, attended Mr. Swaine.

The body was later viewed by Medical Examiner George L. West and removed to the house.

HARVARD COLLEGE

OPENED WITH A REGISTRATION OF OVER 3000

CAMBRIDGE, Sept. 28.—Harvard college opened its doors today for its 22,000th year of academic instruction with a registration of 2300 students in the department of arts and sciences. Registration in the law and medical schools will increase this number to considerably over 3000. The freshman class this year exceeds in number any ever admitted to the college, due to the new entrance requirements. There was also a larger representation from the west than usual through the effort of President Lowell, who, with presidents and secretaries of Harvard western clubs, have worked to popularize the college in that part of the country.

Among the entering students is Lionel De Jersey Harvard, a descendant of John Harvard, who founded the institution in 1636. It is also stated that Vincent Aston, son of Col. John Jacob Aston, will be a member of 1915. The first meetings of courses for instruction will be held tomorrow.

AN ARMED POSSE

After Doctor Who Escaped From Hospital

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 28.—Dr. J. Grant Lyman, the federal prisoner who escaped from an Oakland hospital Sunday night, is being pursued by an armed posse and federal officials through the mountains near Shasta Springs.

With him is Charles Thorne, local nurse, who aided Lyman to escape. Lawrence Gallardo, the chauffeur who drove Lyman to Sacramento, was arrested and confessed.

Dr. Lyman is a prominent and organizer of enterprises involving millions. He was arrested by post office officials in San Francisco Sept. 9, on complaint of Los Angeles investors in a Panama land scheme, who declared they had been defrauded of $200,000. The promoter attempted to escape, arrest and injured his knee, necessitating his detention at the hospital.

The escape from the hospital involved the drugging of a nurse and a plot by which Thorne, a previous acquaintance of Lyman, was employed as a nurse in the hospital.

The promoter was permitted last Sunday to go to the bathroom. A half hour later nurses found that Lyman had escaped through a window.

U. S. Marshal Elliott was immediately notified and the police called to aid in the search. Lyman and Thorne are known to have been with the fugitive at the time of the escape, but their identity is unknown.

Dr. Lyman is well known in Boston, New York and the capitals of the world. He was a promoter in Wall street in 1909. While in that city he was an exhibitor at the horse shows.

JOKE OR AN ERROR

May Cause the Death of Three Men

WORCESTER, Sept. 28.—The mistake of a thoughtless practical joker in taking to a building soda nitrate for table salt to three employees of the Worcester Theatrical & Dry Goods company may cause the death of the men who sprinkled the white powder over their laps.

The three men, Frank Chaceur, 23 Wall street; Perch Elias, 21, of a residential street, and Simon Hadjar, 21, of 23 Wall street, are all seriously ill. The former is at the St. Vincent hospital, and the latter two at the City hospital.

They were in the yard of the factory at noon eating lunches that they had brought from home. Calling a boy, which one they cannot remember, they sent him into the factory for some table salt.

He returned shortly with a handful, which the men sprinkled over their laps. The impression it made was so strong that they collapsed, while a work one after the other, at about 4 o'clock. Dr. R. J. Shaban, called to treat them, ordered them to hospital, where they have very slight chances for recovery.

A GREAT CROWD

WILL WITNESS THE CHICAGO NEW YORK GAME

CHICAGO, Sept. 28.—Although the defeat of the New York National league team yesterday made it impossible for the leaders in the league pennant race to clinch the championship in the present series of four games, the Chicago team today expressed confidence in their ability to take revenge in the game scheduled for this afternoon.

Supporters of the Chicago team, which has held the championship of the National league for several years, are greatly elated over the result of yesterday's game and are prepared to crowd the West Side park to its capacity in the hope that Chicago would also take the second game of the series.

JACK JOHNSON

IS NOT "BROKE," ACCORDING TO HIS MOTHER

CHICAGO, Sept. 28.—Mrs. Tiny Johnson, mother of the world's champion heavyweight pugilist, yesterday denied, with shrieks of laughter, that the colored pugilist had gone broke in England.

"To say Jack has spent all his money," reported the mother of the big fellow, who has $15,000 of her own in the First National bank, put there by Johnson for her special use.

"Jack Johnson is stringing the English," said Mrs. Johnson. "He always goes on the country when he is traveling. You could no more get him to touch the interest of his $15,000 Chicago holdings than you could send him white in the face. No, sir, that is all just talk."

"Jack only took a little money with him. He hasn't drawn any since from this side of the water. He has been living on what he has made."

"Jack's money is in the custody of a Chicago committee of safety. These gentlemen will never give Jack a cent of his own money except for certain purposes and he's got to show them."

"What is the committee of safety?" Mrs. Johnson was asked.

"Well, sir," she answered, "it's a committee of gentlemen that know how to look after money. Jack knows he is not a good financier, so he puts his money in safe hands."

MASS OF REQUIEM

At 8 o'clock yesterday morning a high mass of requiem was sung at the Immaculate Conception church by Rev. Francis A. Sullivan, O. M. I., for the repose of the soul of the late Mrs. John Miller, O. M. I.

The attendance at the church was very large for the deceased, who was well known and much beloved in that parish. The choir under the direction of Charles P. Smith rendered the Gregorian chant. Mrs. Hugh Walker presiding at the organ. P. P. Haggerty sang Donna Jesu Christi and Mrs. Walker sang De Jesu.

DEDICATION PARTY

Is to Make Trip to Battlefields

BOSTON, Sept. 28.—Gov. Foss, with the consent of the executive council, yesterday approved the order for the appropriation of $2500 which the legislature granted so the state may be represented at the dedication of the military monuments in Valley Forge, Pa., and Petersburg, Va.

The party will start Nov. 9 and be gone ten days.

Major Anderson of Springfield, chairman of the Petersburg memorial commission; Senator Denny of Worcester and Representative Witt of Springfield, senate and house chairmen of the legislative committee on military affairs, called on the governor and urged him to approve the order and the itinerary arranged by Sergeant-at-Arms Pedrick.

The official delegation will include the governor or lieutenant-governor, the president of the senate, speaker of the house, two members of the governor's staff, two members of the executive council, clerks of house and senate, the joint legislative committee on military affairs, the sergeant-at-arms, doorkeepers of house and senate, the commissions supervising erection of the memorials and the commander of the Grand Army or his representative. A total of 35.

The executive councilors chosen for the trip are Brigham of New Bedford and Cushing of Norwood.

The party will leave Boston in a special car No. 9 at 4:50 p. m. for New York and will go to Washington Nov. 10. The route is by way of Norfolk and the arrival at Petersburg is scheduled for 5 p. m. Nov. 11. The dedication exercises in that city will take place Monday, Nov. 12.

Tuesday the party will go to Rich-

BIG COPPER MERGER

To Include the Leading Companies of World

CALUMET, Mich., Sept. 28.—A combine of the copper interests of this country and England, or a large portion of them, under an English operating and holding company, with headquarters in London, is reported to be under consideration.

John McLean and John Seidenius of Duluth, Minn., John L. Ryan, president of the Anaconda Copper corporation; W. E. Carey, R. L. Agassiz, the Calumet & Hecla magnate, besides representatives of the Guggenheim and Rothschild interests, are said to be assembling for a conference today, to be held probably in Chicago. Ryan, Carey and Agassiz have been in the southwest for two weeks.

The announced purpose is to evade possible legal complications and overcome the possibility of government interference under what is described as obsolete antitrust legislation. The rumor is vouched for here by a man close to the Calumet-Ryan interest.

The proposal combination is to be under English law and to include all the big southwestern properties. The Calumet authority states, however, that it is not unlikely that all large copper interests in America will be included. Calumet & Hecla and other large Lake Superior and Big Butte and other properties of Montana are mentioned.

"They would not sell out to the English corporation," the Calumet informant says, "but merely form a holding corporation and be operated through an English company. British and German laws encourage this sort of thing."

"The new corporation would be enabled to get control of the copper market and to regulate the output and the price of copper metal throughout the world, doing so without restraint of trade."

THREE DOLLARS PER YEAR. TWENTY-FIVE CENTS PER MONTH

The sworn daily average circulation of The Lowell Sun for the year 1910 was Sworn to by John H. Harrington, proprietor, Martin U. Reidy, business manager, and Alfred Pilotta, pressman, of The Sun, before me, January 2, 1911. J. JOSEPH HENNESSY, Notary Public.

The time will come when Canada will demand concessions from the United States, and unless she concedes reciprocity she need not expect any favors. On the whole there is a prospect of a great democratic victory all along the line at the November election, a victory that will elect Governor Foss in Massachusetts and many other progressive governors throughout the country in states that formerly elected republicans.

Postmaster General Hitchcock has given a demonstration of the use of the flying machine for carrying the mails. This may be very well for showing the possibilities of aviation at some future period, but as flying machines work today they are neither safe nor reliable for the purpose of carrying the mails. They cannot be used in unfavorable weather, while the mails must be attended to in all kinds of weather. The time has not yet arrived when the delivery of mail can be subjected to the risks of aviation.

FOR THE PARDON OF C. F. KING

A strong plea is being made for the pardon of Charles F. King, the Boston financier, who is now serving a sentence of ten years for having swindled a great many people out of their money by conducting a bogus banking scheme. The witnesses who testified against him at the trial have all signed the petition for his pardon. Moreover, it appears that Dr. Richardson of Boston testifies that the prisoner is suffering from a disease that is dangerously near the incurable point. It is alleged that King's life can be saved only by an operation, and that the prospect of its success in prison would be very slight, while the prisoner might recover if he had liberty and were permitted to undergo treatment at one of the leading hospitals. It is difficult to oppose the petition under such conditions, but if King had been a little less prominent and a less successful thief there would probably be no petition for his pardon and nobody to make any such plea for him on account of his illness.

THE FRENCH NAVAL DISASTER

The awful disaster to the French battleship Liberte following a number of less serious accidents would lead to the belief that either in the construction of battleships or in the attention given the operation thereof there is some very grave defect. France is not the only power that has had serious accidents to battleships. There have been many such on the battleships of the United States, and we understand that it was to prevent such accidents that the great ammunition hoist was recently manufactured for our navy by the Lamson Company of this city.

It would appear that in the recent French disaster the seriousness of the fire was not realized in time to avert the danger. The department in which the fire occurred could easily have been flooded had the officers of the vessel known that such a course was necessary. The captain of the ship was on shore, and it is possible that his subordinates were not quite as attentive to duty as they should have been in his absence. It will be difficult to learn just what was the real cause of the accident, as the ship has been blown to pieces and practically all of the men who had anything to do with the incipient blaze have been killed. It is a sad calamity to France, and one that will cause all the other great nations to exercise the utmost precautions in order to avert the possibility of similar disasters.

RE-ELECTION OF FOSS ASSURED

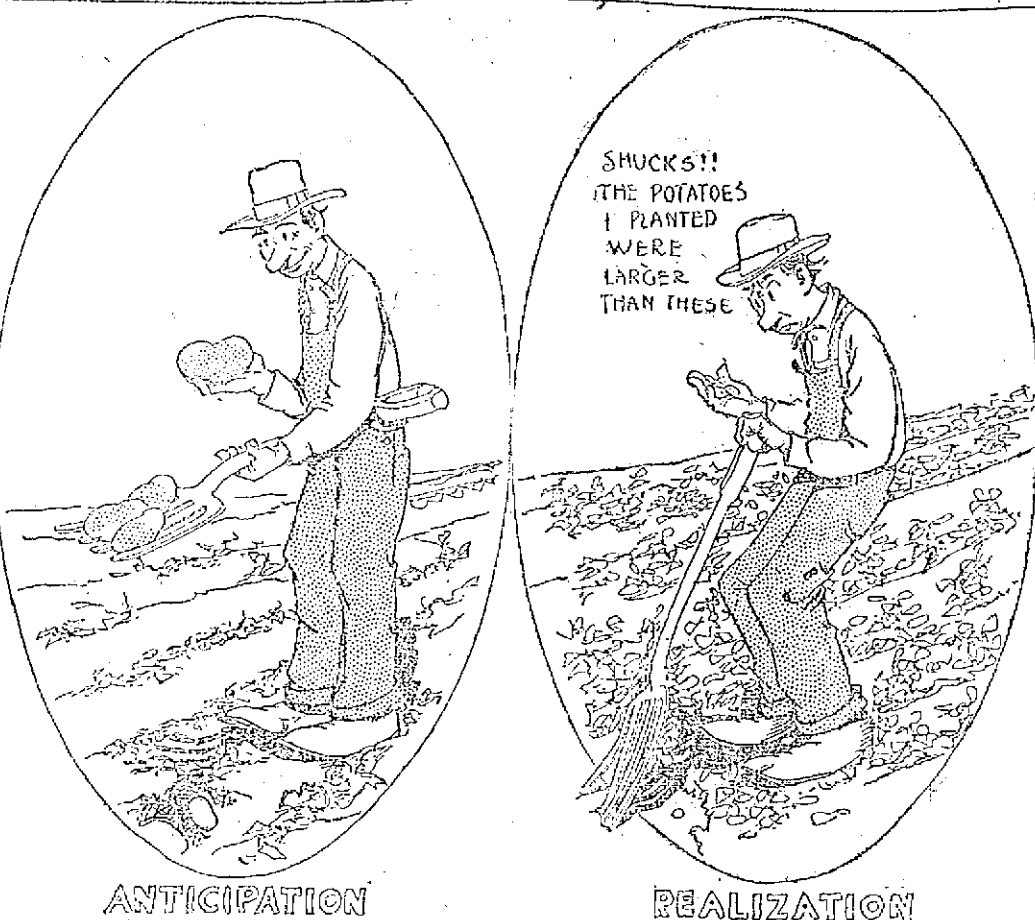

The political parties of this state having nominated their respective tickets, the campaign may now be regarded as open. Governor Foss, as was expected, will again lead the democratic party, and the present lieutenant governor, Louis A. Frothingham, the republican. The people will have to choose between these nominees, and between an administration thoroughly progressive and successful on the one hand and one that, if we are to judge from the candidate, must be old-fashioned, unprogressive and disappointing. Governor Foss has made one of the best governors this state has had in half a century. Small politicians may cavil on matters of policy or detail, but the fact stands out boldly that Foss was governor, that he was not dictated to by any man or set of men; that he did what he believed to be best for the state. This was apparent in his many appointments to the bench, most of which were highly commended by all parties. We do not believe the sensible people of this state are ready to retire a governor who has done his duty so courageously, and who has so creditably upheld the honor of the old commonwealth on all occasions.

If the republicans had nominated a very strong man there might be some excuse for a change; but with an opponent of the calibre of Mr. Frothingham, the election of Foss by from 25,000 to 50,000 majority is a foregone conclusion.

The legislature this year adopted most of the reforms advocated by Mr. Foss in his inaugural at the beginning of the year, and to these reforms the governor can point as of his initiative. It is true he did not succeed in carrying out all his ideas of reform, but so far as he has been successful the state has been benefited by the enactment of new and beneficial laws. Governor Foss needs no defense, although he will be bitterly attacked by the republican press as he has been already by Representatives Walker and White. He can afford to ignore other and similarly sensational attacks. While he so palpably unfair that they have collected his support throughout the state.

Governor Foss need not exert himself very much in the campaign for re-election. The people will re-elect him by a sweeping majority. It is true that, as might be expected, his efforts to reduce the expenses of the state administration did not always meet with the approval of the republican machine. Hence we are likely to hear considerable about his employment of experts to look into the finances of state departments, and we shall hear, too, that the great issue upon which the governor first sailed into office has been defeated. That issue has gone down in defeat, but it is not dead, and it remains for a man like Governor Foss and others in the democratic ranks to keep the issue alive and to bring it forward for an intelligent decision.

LIFE'S DISAPPOINTMENTS

SEEN AND HEARD

In Newport, R. I., that city by the sea which from time to time spectacularly leaps into fame, or notoriety through the spectacles of some of its prominent, or wealthy inhabitants, there occurred a few weeks ago a little incident which strikingly illustrates the grotesque fancies that at times possess the minds of those to whom Dame Fortune has given twenty-four hours a day to be devoted to pleasure. To this end, generally, the young men and women of the prominent or wealthy families of that place aspire, and to realize that these aspirations have their fulfillment one has but to read the newspaper accounts of the "goings-on" in that gay little city.

The incident to which we refer runs along something as follows: A young lady—a handsome young lady, for does she not reside in Newport—appeared a few days ago on one of those beautiful avenues for which that city is famous, driving her car. On the small rear seat of that vehicle—the seat on which usually sits an individual resembling, so far as animation is concerned, an Egyptian mummy, we were a lucky—on this seat appeared, as immovable as a statue, a trained mangle.

Along the avenue the car glided; its occupants apparently heedless of the smiles of amusement or of derision that overspread the several faces of the passersby. These, it is needless to say, depended for their means of locomotion on the old reliable "blanks" mare.

At last the destination of the car was reached, the Casino. Here the young lady, the handsome young lady, alighted and, turning to her canine companion, whispered some mysterious words—as were they not to the alchemists of old—into its ear, whereupon the animal nodded its head suspiciously and then looked straight ahead, apparently disinclined to notice the vulgar crowd who, having collected, stared upon it.

In this rapid posting it occurred to us, in our mistress, leaving the clubhouse returned, patted it affectionately on its sleek, well-groomed back, and entering her car, with her companion whirled away. And the vulgar plebeians still looked on.

A Georgia woman who moved to Philadelphia found she could not be contented without the colored man-may who had been her servant for many years. She sent for the man, and the servant arrived in due season. It so happened that the Georgia woman had to leave town the very day Monday arrived. Before departing she had first time to explain to her new modern conveniences with which her apartment was furnished. The gas stove was the contrivance which interested the colored woman most. At her mistress's house had lighted the oven, the broiler and the other partners and felt certain that the old servant understood its operations. The mistress hurried for her train.

She was absent two weeks, and one of her first questions to "mammy" was how she had worked alone.

"De fines' ever," was the reply. "And dat air gas stove—O, yes! Why do you know, Miss Florence, dat fire ain't gone out yet!"—Sacred Heart Review.

FOLLY

It was folly, they told me, to love you, dear. But Love was deaf, and it could not hear. And they scorned, and they warned and they called me mad; But I thought of you, and my heart was glad. It was folly to long for a touch of your lips. To thrill at the touch of your finger. It was folly to think and to dream of you. They told me, my love, but they never knew. The subtle thrill of the touch of your hand. And they would not and could not understand. What I care what the Wise Ones said? The cynical sneer, or the shake of the head? I pitted them all, for they never knew The joy of the folly of loving you! —Will Lisenbee.

In a newspaper interview with the mayor of New York it is shown how that magistrate walks for his recreation in preference to all other forms of sport. He considers it the one great opportunity for pleasure that is open to all the world and wonders why every one does not adopt his habit of walking to and from his or her business.

The idea is worth advocacy. There is a new interest in life when one has the habit well established of going to work. It occupies hours better than cheap literature, it gives a glimpse into the doling and ways of the world which many persons would otherwise not secure. London working people, it is said, walk into the city's busy parts and from long distances. It is surely a question of habit, and the habit once formed there need not enter the thought of fatigue any more than with other constant use of the muscles of the body in normal ways—as for example, in holding the body erect in a sitting position, or the action of the arms and fingers.

The mayor says he does most of his work while walking—that is he gets things all thought out and has only to put his work on paper at top speed when he gets to his desk. The period of the morning walk to work would afford time for thinking undisturbed for others who accustomed themselves to such a use of their faculties. Life in the outdoors is the normal and happy life for mankind and everything we can do to enjoy the freedom of air and sunshine—when it is to be had—is a broadening of the joys of life and brings a happy refreshment which it is foolish to miss.

Such ideas as this emphasize the often heard query nowadays whether all the modern conveniences, like telephones and street cars, really save the people anything valuable in saving so much "time." Does not our "zealous" time-saving mean sometimes the loss of what is better?

EDITORIAL COMMENT

Lawrence Eagle: For years and years the sugar trust is known to have stolen from the government. By means of false weights and tricky means of government officials, this rapacious trust diverted into its own coffers millions of dollars that should have gone to the government in revenue. The trust was caught red-handed in its thievery, yet nobody was punished; nobody went to jail. The government finally put a stop to the revenue stealing. The doctored springs were taken away, and the corrupt customs collectors were discharged. This forced the trust to adopt new methods in order to maintain its inflated dividends, so recently it sent out a wall about a "short crop" and now sugar prices are almost as high as they were during the civil war. The sugar trust is determined to get "its."

ATTEMPT TO BOOST COTTON

Fall River Globe: Spot cotton is now below 11 cents. From seemingly reliable sources the reports indicate a probable crop approximating, and indeed, exceeding the government estimates, which were so vehemently assailed by certain southern congressmen and senators as well as representatives of farmers' organizations of the south. Besides that, the shipments of cotton to the market are unusually large for so early in the season. In view of all these circumstances, it would appear that the manifesto issued a few weeks ago by the Farmers' Union, in which it was stated that the cotton had gone forth to the growers that they should hold their product for 15 cents or better, supplemented by the assertion that all crops pointed to a crop of but $2,500,000 bales or less, had not had much influence in affecting either the market or the action of the growers or the spinners.

WHENCE GOOD MAY COME

Globe: Sometimes it does no harm for one nation to stand up to another. Out of the Venezuela debt which President Cleveland hurled at England has come the best understanding that ever existed between the two countries. That menace of war sobered both nations and put the politicians of each on their guard. British public opinion awakened to a perception of and a respect for our national sensibilities such as it never had gained before and also an appreciation of the value of our good will. On the other hand, as we recovered from our unbecoming frenzy we were somewhat dazed to see how near the brink we had rushed and also how many good people there were in England who did not sympathize with Lord Salisbury's policy of badgering us about nothing.

HELPLESS IN GALE

Steamer Shoreham Disabled Off Newport

NEWPORT, R. I., Sept. 28.—For an hour yesterday the steamer New Shoreham, which plies between Block Island, Newport and Providence, drifted helplessly about at the mercy of wind and storm, while engineers worked feverishly to repair a high pressure valve, damage to which had caused the disabling of the ship. In the gathering darkness the half-hundred passengers stood on the deck and anxiously awaited the outcome. Meanwhile the torpedo boat destroyer Amman and half a dozen tugs were rushing from Newport to the aid of the stricken steamer. Chief Engineer William O'Neill and his helpers succeeded, however, in repairing the damage, and when the Amman picked up the New Shoreham with her searchlight, the latter was the last sight of the disabled vessel on her way into the harbor under her own steam.

The New Shoreham left Block Island for Newport at 4 o'clock and had gone some distance when the machinery gave out. Repairs were made and a new start taken, but a short time later there was another breakdown, and this time the steamer for an hour. Meanwhile a 45-mile gale was blowing, driving the steamer before it, and fear of being wrecked on Point Judith urged the engineers on in their repair work. The New Shoreham is not equipped with wireless, but her plight was discovered by another vessel and word was sent to Capt. Kenyon of the Price's Neck life saving station, and he in turn notified tugs and Commander Williams of the torpedo station, the latter ordering out the destroyer. Several of the passengers were seasick and a number left the New Shoreham here to continue to Providence by rail. The steamer continued her journey last night.

PALMER ON TRIAL

YESTERDAY'S SESSION

Three daughters of the late Harry Shaw, who was keeper of the jail at Lowell, and their mother were on the witness stand yesterday.

Mrs. Harry Shaw, the first witness put on at the afternoon session, although subjected to no cross examination, broke down and wept bitterly as she left the stand. Her daughters tried to console her as she took her seat, but they finally had to assist her to the corridor before she could compose herself.

John C. Burke is counsel for the defendant and Dist. Atty. Higgins is conducting the prosecution.

Jackson Palmer was recently indicted upon charges arising in the course of a recent investigation of the conduct of Middlesex county officials by the grand jury.

During this investigation it is alleged that Palmer falsely testified, when he declared that he had seen one of the Shaw girls present a trip ticket from Lowell to Boston, the number of which he had noted, and upon subsequent inquiry by him at the ticket office in Lowell had learned that the ticket with this number had been sold and charged to the account of Middlesex county.

In his opening address Dist. Atty. Higgins stated to the grand jury of the investigation of the grand jury into the charges of graft against the county officials. Mr. Burke objected, asking the court to confine him to Harry Shaw and his possible connection with the case on trial.

Mr. Burke also contended that the grand jury had no jurisdiction over the conduct of Harry Shaw, he being dead at the time of the investigation, and that the proceedings against him were irregular, as was everything said against him and that no cognizance could be taken of it.

At the trial yesterday Mr. Burke objected to evidence being presented by the district attorney on this ground and was overruled, the court allowing exceptions and promising in every instance to save what rights the defendant might have.

Objection to Testimony

George H. Sweetnam of Bedford, foreman of the grand jury which investigated the conduct of the Middlesex county officials, opened the testimony, but counsel for the defense objected on the ground that what the grand jury considered was not material under the circumstances. He was overruled. Objection was then made on the ground that the statutes prescribed that the deliberations of the grand jury should not be made public.

The district attorney contended that after the report had been made, it was proper to discuss what had taken place.

After a long conference the district attorney again offered the report in evidence. The court refused to allow it to be put in, ruling that the fact that it had been made and filed was sufficient, Mr. Sweetnam was then excused as a witness.

Miss Shaw's Evidence

Miss Florence Shaw was called. She testified that she knew Jackson Palmer well. She had met him frequently at Marblehead Neck, where both families spent their summers. The families were very good friends.

"Did you know him, quite well?" asked the district attorney.

"Very well, I thought," was her answer.

She testified that she never used a Middlesex county ticket on the Boston & Maine railroad, and when asked if she remembered an incident in 1908 or 1909, when she and her sister and another boy and girl were riding on the western division of the Boston & Maine railroad and Jackson Palmer sat behind her, she testified that she did not.

She said she would have recalled the incident had it occurred. She testified that she had never used a county ticket, but had always ridden on a mileage book belonging to her mother.

Mrs. Henry Carter of Worcester, a sister of the preceding witness, testified as to Palmer's visits to the cottage in Marblehead.

"He didn't know anyone else there," said the witness. "We had always known him and so we offered him all the hospitality we could and he accepted it."

Mrs. Lawrence Churchill of Lowell, also a sister, corroborated the above evidence. Not one of them, to her knowledge, they testified, had ever ridden on a ticket that was purchased for county official business. They had always received the tickets from their mother or their father had bought them for them.

Corroborated Her Daughters

Mrs. Harry Shaw was on the witness stand only a short time and was permitted to sit. Her testimony was in corroboration of that of her daughters.

Mr. Burke said that he did not desire to cross examine her. She began weeping as she was taken back to her seat beside her daughters, and being unable to compose herself she and they withdrew from the courtroom and remained in the corridor for some time.

Sheriff John R. Fairbairn testified as to matters that were investigated by the grand jury, most of his evidence going in under objection by Mr. Burke, an exception always being saved.

During an argument over an objection Mr. Burke charged the district attorney with abandoning the indictment and bringing in new matter for which he had had no opportunity for preparation to meet.

"That indictment has not been abandoned," said Mr. Higgins, "it is simply near gone, as a matter of law," retorted Mr. Burke.

On Selling County Tickets

John R. Miller, for several years ticket agent of the Boston & Maine railroad company at Lowell, testified as to the arrangements for selling tickets to the keeper of the jail during Mr. Shaw's incumbency and of their being charged to the account of the county.

Whenever a ticket was so purchased, he said, a receipt was taken from the county official for it. The price of the ticket was charged in a book and the receipt was held in lieu of cash until the account was settled at the end of each month.

FRAUDS FOUND

WARRANTS FOR REPUBLICAN AND DEMOCRATIC OFFICERS

I'm glad George has worked out a new system for playing the races. Do you think it will win?
No. But it will vary the conversation when he comes to explaining how he lost his money.

THE END SEAT HOG.

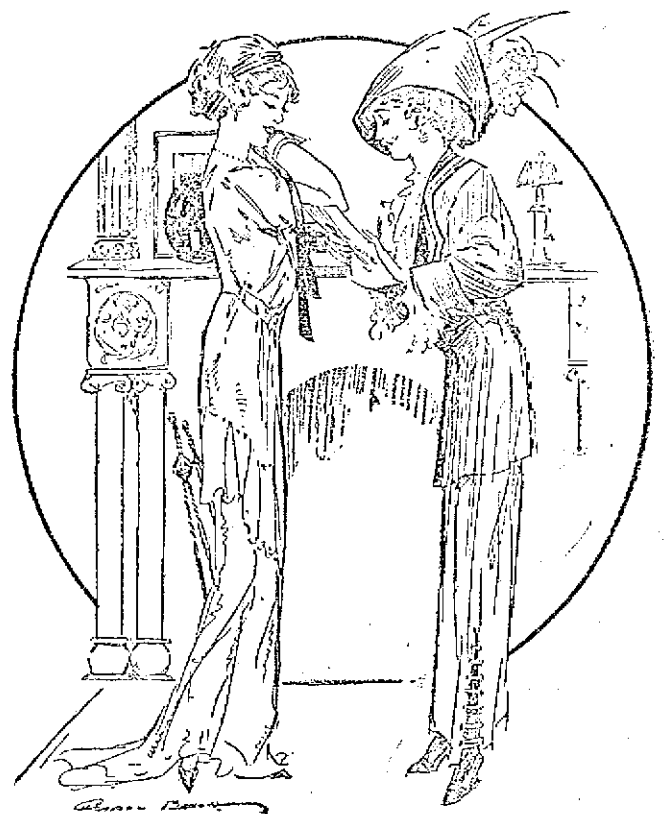

So the open car has been packed with moth-balls and laid away for the winter?" he queried of the conductor as he smoked his cigar on the rear platform.
"Yes, and I am a happy man!" was the reply. "Just take a look inside. There are fifty passengers, and every one has a grin on his face. You couldn't get one of them to kick about anything. See those two old fellows hugging each other?"
"They seem to be brothers."
"Brothers be hanged! They have fought each other all summer about end-seats, and there were times when I thought murder would be done. See how that fat woman is smiling at the little fellow. You'd almost think they were in love, and yet I've heard her threaten his life because he wouldn't hitch along and give her the end-seat. There are two fat men up by the door borrowing tobacco of each other and wrapping up in blandness. About the middle of last month I had to call an officer to take them both off my car. It was a case of 'no hitch along.'"
"There is a man in there who looks like a miser," said the passenger.
"And he is one, but you wouldn't have known it by his actions last summer. If he couldn't get an end-seat he'd raise a row, and twice I heard I thought murder would be done. See him dare a man to get off the car and have it out. Bless you, sir, but running an open car is the same as working around a menagerie, only the animals are a little better behaved."
"And you think their moral influence is bad?"
"Bad, sir? Why, if the weather was so that they could be run the year round we should become a nation of pigs and kickers within five years! Blessed be the closed car. There are no end-seats. You drop down anywhere and begin to snore right and left, and if the conductor happens to ask for your fare twice you pay rather than disturb the harmony of the occasion."

The October Girl

LIKE fluttering leaves that strew the world,
My senses seem to wildly swirl
Whenever my blinking eyes behold
The sweet, serene October Girl.

BUT, oh, my soul is warped with woe!
She treats me as a common churl,
Because I was her Summer beau,
While now she's an October Girl.

ANYTHING TO PLEASE.

Mersey! Here's a telegram from Fred. He's been hurt in the football game.
What does he say? He says: "Nose broken! How do you prefer it set—Greek or Roman?"

No Legal Advice.

SEE that you are a real estate man," said the caller as he entered the office of a dealer, "but you are probably posted in the law enough to answer a question. If so, I am willing to pay for it."
"I give out no legal opinions, sir!" was the reply.
"But this is a very simple matter."
"But you must go to a lawyer."
"But there isn't one within a mile of here."
"I can't help that."
"The question simply is—"
"Sir, I positively refuse."
"Oh, well, if you are so stiff as all this I'll have to go elsewhere, but I must confess to being a little surprised."
"You are not so surprised as I was about ten years ago," said the dealer. "A man who suspected that a neighbor was stealing his stove-wood came to me and asked if he hadn't a legal right to load a stick or two with gunpowder. I told him that he had."
"And he went ahead on your opinion?"
"He did, and a week later I also went ahead. The wife of the suspected wood-stealer was a washwoman who went out by the day. One evening my wife asked me to drop in there and engage her for the next day."
"Um."
"I was in there when one of the loaded sticks exploded and blew up the stove, the kitchen, the woman and myself, and the doctors didn't get through tinkering at me for about three months. No, sir, you will get no legal opinion from me. Go to a regular lawyer and let him be blown through the window into the yard and lose his hair and eye-brows and have his legs roasted."

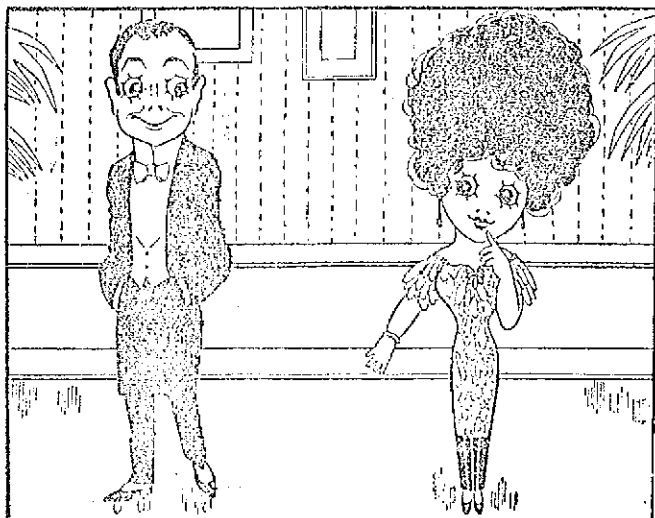

GIVING HER A JOLLY.

Miss Sweet—Weren't you awfully frightened the first time you went up in an aeroplane?
Aviator—Well—for a while I did feel a sort of groundless apprehension.

Winning Compliments

THE beautiful girl shook her head in the negative.
"No," she said after a moment's deliberation, "I can never—no, never—be your wife. But I'll tell you what I will do. Just to show you that there is no hard feeling on my part, I will be present when you marry some other girl and bombard you with my shoes for luck."
Ah, here was an opportunity. Quick as a flash the young man responded: "Please don't. If you must throw old shoes borrow them."
"And why not use my own?"
"Because they are so small we could never detect them from the rice."
Flattery won. The beautiful girl decided then and there that the young man was altogether too clever for any other girl, so she reversed her decision and the cords are cut.

AT THE BALL.

Don't be afraid of the slippery floor, Miss Sweet, I will support you.
Miss S.—Oh, Mr. Hungry, this is so sudden.

Ahead of the Game.

I HAD fallen heir to 300 acres of land in Iowa," said the Easterner, "and I went out there to see about disposing of it. I landed at a town thirteen miles away from my property, and had scarcely arrived when it began to rain. That was the beginning of a storm that lasted nine straight days. After the second day the roads were so bad that there was no traveling. One could scarcely get around the village. On the morning of the ninth day the landlord of the inn brought me a man who knew all about my land, and as we stood, hand in the fellow said:
"I want to congratulate you on your luck."
"As to how?"
"This 'ere rain."
"But hasn't it been heavy?"
"Why, sir, it's put at least five hundred dollars in your pocket."
"I don't see how?"
"Then I'll tell you. It's made a lake of 300 acres of your farm out there, and a huckleberry swamp of the other 60. Lord, man, but this storm seems to have come just on your account! There's the shores of a lake to hold camp-meeting on, and there's huckleberries to feed the crowd!"

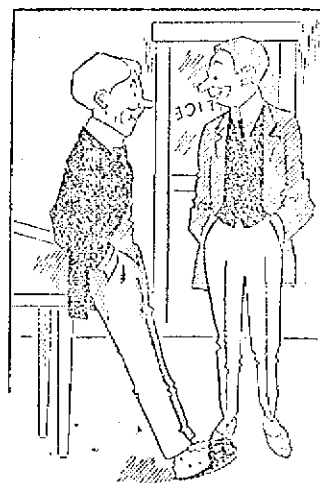

SO IT IS SAID.

"You'll have to get some new socks. I'm not going to sit up till after midnight darning your old ones."
"But my dear, it's never too late to mend."

Here's a Pointer.

ALL the signs point
To an early winter.
To a late winter.
To a cold winter.
To a mild winter.
To heaps of snow.

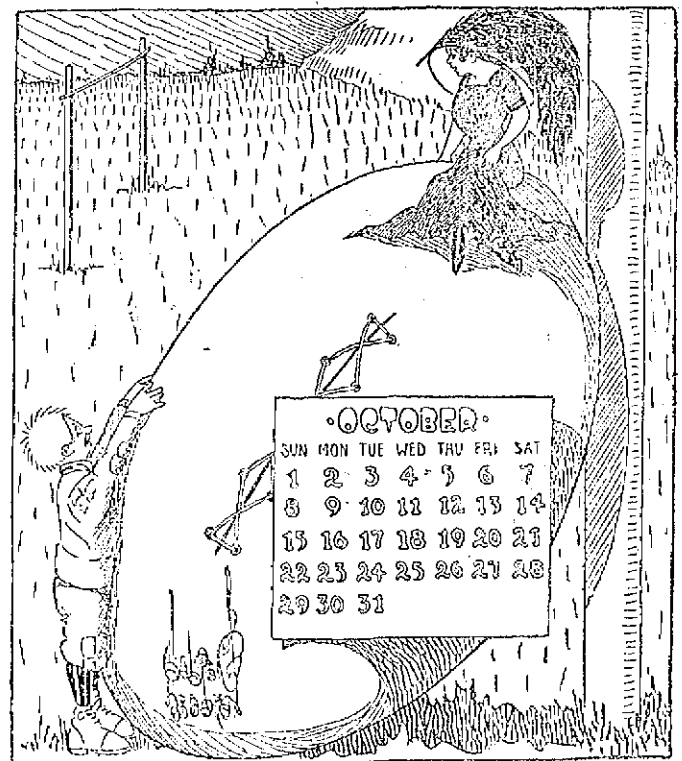

ON GUARD.

That new fall suit of yours fits you splendid. Who is your tailor?
He's the first man you see as you go out.

To no snow at all.
To much suffering among the poor.
To the poor rolling in luxury.
To ice five feet thick.
To no ice at all.
To one of the severest, balmiest, blizzardiest, mildest, awfulest, regular old snortists of a summer-all-winter. Get out your bed-sleds on the one hand and your flower-beds on the other, and when you hit it let 'er go gallop!

ALWAYS THANKFUL.

Hewitt—My grandmother was always thankful.
Jewett—What was she thankful for?
Hewitt—Her parents gave her that name and she didn't apply to the Legislature to have it changed.

HIS GOAL.

An Innocent Wife.

HE had been invited to make one of an automobile party next afternoon, and that evening at the dining table he carelessly mentioned the fact that he had never witnessed a game of baseball in his life, and that he would take in one next day. There were no objections, nor was anything further said until he returned from his spree. Then the wife queried:
"Was it a good game?"
"Flare!"
"And you understood it?"
"Perfectly."
"I am glad you did, for I want you to explain a few things here in the evening paper. For instance it says that 'Austin made a corking step of Gardner's grasser.' What do you understand by that?"
"Why, I—I—"
"And it says that 'Hemphill made a corking one-hand scap.' Can you explain?"
"I could, but—"
"And it says that 'Nelson caught Warhop asleep at the bat.' Do the players go to sleep in the middle of a game?"
"I don't think so, but—"
"And it says that 'Phares were high in the air.' Were they flying?"
"I can't just say, you know."
"Oh, well, it makes no difference. I was automobiling all the afternoon and having a splendid time, and I just felt to pity you stuck up there on a hard bench and with two porous plastic on your lame back!"

BLARNEY.

Miss S. K. Keds.—Howdy, Miss Lucy, Howdy. Yo's lookin' ultra-machin; attach yo' summah trip. A little sunburned, not too much, jes' a becomin' shade o' tan.

IN 1911.

You don't find chestnuts under these trees like you used to.
No, by heck! These here blamed aeroplane fellows just pluck them off every time they pass.

THIS DAY IN HISTORY

FIRST SILK MACHINE

SEPT. 28.—The French people were great silk weavers and it was one of the great industries of the country when on Sept. 27, 1797 Joseph Marie Jacquard gave to the world his completed silk loom that was destined to revolutionize the whole silk industry. This loom bears his name today. Like all labor saving inventions the new machine was received with envy by the workers. The latter could see nothing but starvation ahead for themselves and families. Jacquard was an object of fears wherever he went and his life was threatened a number of times. A mob even invaded his home and smashed one of his looms to kindling. And then the turn came. Instead of decreasing the business the new loom increased the demand for cheaper silk and Jacquard was recognized as a public benefactor and he was given honor in the same locality where before he had dodged bricks. He was given the cross of the Legion of Honor and a dozen years after his death a monument was erected to his honor at Lyons. He received tempting invitations to settle in England but he resisted all calls and died at Orléans near his native city of Lyons.

CIRCULAR ON REQUEST

REGISTER PURCELL

Congratulated by J. A. Burns, His Opponent

Mr. William C. Purcell, the present register of deeds, is being congratulated on the large vote he received as candidate for re-nomination. His total vote was 2952 in the city and in the district it went away above 2600. Two years ago he was elected by a majority of 106, having carried Lowell by 543. His opponent at that time was Horace S. Bacon, who has been again nominated on the republican ticket. Mr. Purcell has made many improvements in the office since he took charge one of which is the installation of steel protectors for the records.

Register Purcell this morning received the following letter from Mr. Burns, his opponent in the caucus. The reply is also appended.

Lowell, Mass., Sept. 27, 11.

Mr. Wm. C. Purcell,
Dear Sir:—Permit me to congratulate you on the handsome endorsement you received at the polls yesterday. I will gladly appreciate being called upon at any time I may be of service to you.

Very truly yours,
James A. Burns.

The Reply

Lowell, Sept. 28, 1911.
Mr. James A. Burns, 41 Riverside Ave., Lowell, Mass.

Dear Sir:—Your kind note of congratulation at hand and I feel very grateful for the offering of your services in the contest for election. I thoroughly appreciate the spirit in which it is sent, and I most sincerely thank you.

Yours most respectfully,
William C. Purcell.

THE GRAND JURY

Says Judge Tried to Obstruct Justice

ATLANTIC CITY, Sept. 28.—In a pre-arranged to Justice Samuel Kalisch yesterday, the grand jury which has been investigating political and election affairs in Atlantic county, declared County Judge E. A. Higbee guilty of "a deliberate and inexcusable attempt to interfere with and obstruct the course of justice."

It was also announced by the grand jury that a committee had been sent to Governor Woodrow Wilson to confer with him as to the best and most effectual steps to take under the circumstances.

Justice Kalisch advised the grand jury that they could not take further action regarding Judge Higbee's conduct, but that impeachment proceedings could be instituted in the senate if the governor should see fit. All the facts in the matter, supported by affidavits, are now in Governor Wilson's hands.

The grand jury returned twenty-five additional indictments growing out of the election investigation, and some of them are said to be directed against men prominent in city and county affairs.

The action of the grand jury, coming just after the organization men had a hard-fought victory at the primaries, is a stunning blow to the organization men, who now fear vigorous prosecutions will rob them of the fruits of their victory.

PROBATE COURT

DISMISSES PROCEEDINGS IN THE RUSSELL CASE

CAMBRIDGE, Sept. 28.—All the proceedings in the probate court instituted by the attorneys for the North Dakota claimant for the estate of Daniel Russell of Melrose were dismissed today and the controversy, which has since the identity of the man who says he is Daniel Blake Russell and which occupied the probate court for six months last year, was sent to the supreme court on exceptions. The proceedings today were brief, consisting of various motions by L. A. Simpson, representing Dakota Dan, all of which were overruled by the court.

An effort to have the appeal from the probate court tried before a jury will be the next step in the famous case.

CITY SOLICITOR'S OPINION

In the copy of the city solicitor's opinion relative to the right of law and the car sprinkler, printed in yesterday's paper, an error occurred in the last paragraph, which should have read as follows: In any event if the present law does apply to this particular contract, the responsibility for its violation, if there be any, rests upon the American Car Sprinkler company and not upon the city of Lowell.

PREMIER LAURIER

Says That He Will Lead the Opposition

OTTAWA, Ont., Sept. 28.—The great resources of Canada and the character of the Canadian people make it certain that the Dominion will one day be the greatest factor in the British empire, even exceeding in importance and influence the United Kingdom itself," declared Earl Grey last night at a farewell banquet tendered him by the Canadian club. He announced that owing to the change of Canadian administration he would not sail from Canada on October 6th but would defer his departure until the 13th.

"Some people profess to place reliance on the Monroe Doctrine," Earl Grey continued, "but where would that doctrine stand if the British fleet were swept from the seas? The only security for Canada's defense is the supremacy of the British fleet."

Sir Wilfrid Laurier and R. L. Borden spoke briefly.

"The people of Canada have just declared that the party led by Mr. Borden is to govern Canada," said Sir Wilfrid, "and while I regret the decision, I have no quarrel with it and will take my place at the left of the speaker as Opposition leader."

Mr. Borden said the Canadians have viewed with wondering admiration the splendid campaign Sir Wilfrid Laurier had made and expressed the hope that he might be able to close his own career with a display of as remarkable vigor.

A LIVELY RUNAWAY

Horse Ran Madly Through Merrimack Square This Morning

A lively runaway occurred this forenoon, when Ernest Daigle's horse covered the distance between St. Jean Baptiste church in Moody street and the corner of Stackpole and East Merrimack streets at break-neck speed, but however without causing any damage or injury to itself or the wagon.

Mr. Daigle, who is a plumber, was doing work in a house in Moody street opposite St. Jean Baptiste church, and his horse which is some trotter, bitched to a delivery wagon, was stopped by the street opposite the house. At about 11:20 o'clock a passing automobile started frightened the animal and it took at lightning pace towards city hall.

A number of people tried in vain to stop the animal, but the latter kept on its furious race down Merrimack street towards the square. At the latter place a number of pedestrians narrowly escaped being struck by the crazed animal. The horse then increased its speed and went along East Merrimack as far as Stackpole street, where it had to come to a stop, the street being blocked.

The horse was then seized and returned to its owner, who was seen on its trail. The strangest part of this runaway is that although the horse covered a distance of over a mile at a very fast pace, there is not a scratch on the wagon and the horse is as sound as can be, escaping without the least injury.

THE DIRECT PRIMARIES

Meet With Approval of the Labor Leaders

BOSTON, Sept. 28.—The state-wide primary method for selecting candidates for election has been given its first trial in Massachusetts and according to politicians who commented today on its workings it has stood the test.

The democratic leaders who have been urging direct primaries for several years pointed to the new method as the best argument in favor of direct election of United States senators while the republican managers agreed that the size of the vote Tuesday was larger than had been expected and the machinery worked more satisfactorily than they had anticipated.

Chairman Hatfield of the republican state committee said that he believed that never before in the history of the party had so many republicans taken part in the nomination of candidates.

Robert Luce, the republican candidate for lieutenant governor and one of the party movers in favor of direct nominations, was particularly enthusiastic today over the results.

Speaker Joseph Walker, who was defeated for the republican nomination for governor, said today that the direct primaries had come as a slap.

It is expected that there will be minor changes in the law by the next legislature and there seemed a general sentiment today among politicians in favor of having the primaries held in all cities and towns earlier in the day.

FOR EVENING SCHOOLS

THOMAS G. ROBBINS,
Principal Evening High School.

JOHN C. FARRINGTON,
Who Resigned From Committee on Evening Schools.

The Appointment of Teachers Made Last Evening

The school committee held a long and busy meeting last night. There was a big part of business on hand, including the appointment of evening school teachers. On recommendation of Supt. Whitcomb, Walter Connolly was appointed a teacher in the machine class at the Industrial school. The introduction of a new course in the Industrial school, that of social betterment for girls and young women, was voted.

The committee on teachers, Craven Midgely, chairman, made its report, and the following were given a fifth grade certificate: Charles F. Hobson, Walter B. Reilly, Charles J. Batchelder, Arthur W. Trubey, Fred Brannon, Irene F. Dodge, May E. P. Lowmy, John Golden, Katherine Maguire, Elizabeth Scannel, Frank Fitzgerald, Miss Esther V. Greene was appointed principal of the Worthen Street school in place of Miss Mary J. Alger, resigned.

Miss Hazel Chadwick, Lowell Normal school, 1911, was given a certificate of the fourth grade.

Arthur W. Trubey was elected a teacher of manual training at the High school, in place of Edwin F. Roberts, resigned.

The committee on schools and hygiene, Dr. Lambert chairman, gave the following as the list of janitors appointed for the school year: High, Michael Lynch, William Mack, Benjamin Maguire, Charles E. Evening School Teachers

The list of evening school teachers as sanctioned by a majority of the committee on evening schools was read by John C. Farrington, a minority report signed by himself and George W. Trubey, and Thomas Mahoney, Jr. The minority report recommended the following changes: Peter McMinin, as principal at the Old Moody in place of Milo G. Robbins, and Charles King at the Riverside instead of Joseph Keyes. Mr. Farrington said that Mr. Robbins had held the job for twelve years, and he thought it was time to give another fellow a chance. He said that the appointments of his brother members were accepted and he thought the same courtesy was due him. He said that the young man he named, Peter McMinin, was well qualified for the position. The minority report was overruled and a little later Mr. Farrington tendered his resignation as a member of the committee on evening schools.

PLUMPNESS MAKES HEALTH Thin People Need This

If you are too thin if you are pale and sallow; if what you eat seems not to strengthen you; if your lips and cheeks are colorless; if because your blood is deficient in red corpuscles and disease can easily overcome you, you have no reserve strength or nourishment to uphold you.

A pharmaceutical product, called 3-grain hypo-nutrient tablets, is much prescribed for these conditions, and it taken for several months, rapidly increases weight and improves the color. Buy in sealed package of any well stocked apothecary shop.

Pain-Away-Pills do not depress the heart. They headache, neuralgia, etc. All drug stores.

Teachers Resign

Supt. Whitcomb read the following three resignations: Winifred C. Haggerty, Pond Street school; Mabel H. Elin, Colburn primary school; Carrie A. Paul, Moody school. The resignations were accepted and a vote of thanks given the teachers for their faithful work.

Another Evening School

The superintendent read a petition signed by about 15 members of the Jewish colony on Howard street, for the opening of an evening school on that street. The petitioners were represented by Isaac Banker, and the matter referred to the committee on evening schools.

A six months leave of absence was granted to Elsie M. Cragin and a half year's leave of absence to Miss O'Hearn of the Lincoln school, for reason of ill health.

The board voted to close the public schools on the last Friday in October, to enable the teachers to attend the Middlesex county convention of school teachers.

Plumbing Classes

A communication from John E. Drury in behalf of the master plumbers, for the opening of plumbing classes in connection with the Industrial school was read, and finding Mr. Dooley in favor of the new class the matter was left to the committee on teachers. It was at this point that Mr. Goward recommended the appointment of a committee of three members, to be known as the committee on Industrial schools. Later, Mr. Midgely moved that a committee of four members be appointed for the Industrial school. This was finally cut down to three, composed of Franklin E. Johnson, chairman, and Messrs. Midgely and McKenzle.

Principal Dooley's Report

Supt. Whitcomb read a report from Supt. Dooley of the Industrial school, saying that there were 52 girls registered in the classes at the Morrill school and 106 boys at the Bartlett. As the situation is at present, there are too many applicants for the teaching staff, and among those registered are 25 boys from out of town who have to pay a tuition fee. The question arose whether it was proper to turn away the out of town boys and lose money, or turn away the Lowell boys and make money on the tuition fees. Dr. Lambert allowed that it would be proper economy to appoint another teacher, and accommodate more boys, so the superintendent recommended Walter Connolly for a position as teacher in the machine class of the Industrial department. Connolly was appointed and the matter of salary referred to the committee on finance.

A motion was passed to open a class in decorative sign painting in the evening drawing school and authority given the sub-committee on evening schools to open such a class.

Portuguese Evening School

A communication from the Portuguese residents was read, stating that the Portuguese government allowed a certain sum of money to educate her people in the United States, said money to be used for the instruction of adults only. The petitioners prayed that an unused class room in the school be given to them, with the understanding that they are to pay all expenses.

The question of classes of social betterment for girls and young women in the Industrial school was discussed at some length, such class to include the various home duties such as dress-making and millinery. Mr. Dooley spoke in favor of it, and the motion to open such a class was passed.

Committee on Rules

The minority report of the committee on rules was brought up for consideration and left. The report provided that the tenure of office rule, be amended to include the evening school teachers. It was so voted.

Dr. Lambert Speaks

Dr. Lambert discussed the question of the Cheever street school briefly, saying that such a matter should not have been given the publicity that it received. The school board knew what they were doing when they leased the school to the Oblato fathers, and that the place was a parochial school. The fact that a nominal rental only was charged was because of the fact that the board knew it was not to be used as a parochial school.

A motion to amend two of the rules of the school board, so as to conform to the new law, was passed.

Government Makes New Attack On It

DENVER, Sept. 28.—Sensational charges that the so-called lumber trust completely dominates the lumber trade of at least 20 states by maintaining a spy system, black lists, divisions of territory and other alleged illegal methods conducted through a central agency in Chicago, called the lumber secretaries' bureau of information, are made in an anti-trust suit filed in the U. S. court here yesterday by the department of justice.

This is the government's fourth action in a nation-wide prosecution of the lumber "trust." In addition to the criminal indictments already standing against the secretaries of 14 lumbermen's associations.

Anti-trust suits under the Sherman law are now pending against Michigan Lumber Dealers' association and the Eastern States Retail Lumber Dealers' association. The secretaries' bureau and the Colorado and Wyoming Lumber Dealers' association are defendants in the action filed yesterday.

The government asks the court to enjoin the bureau from continuing its exchange of lumbermen by paid spies and circulating "black lists" and other confidential information. It asks that the Colorado and Wyoming association be enjoined from contributing to the aid of the bureau.

The bill is replete with allegations of threats and intimidations said to have been practiced upon so-called "beneficial" manufacturers and wholesalers.

The secretaries' bureau is alleged to be the medium through which the criminal indictments already standing against the secretaries of 14 lumbermen's associations.

The government holds that by attacking the bureau the department of justice strikes at the root of the alleged restraints which are said to make costly the distribution of lumber from the manufacturer to the consumer.

Atty.-Gen. Wickersham and his special assistant, Clark McCrecher, have been working more than a year gathering the evidence upon which the suits are brought.

A GENERAL LOCKOUT In Building Trades in New York is Threatened

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—A general suspension of all building operations was threatened today as a result of the strike of the marbleworkers. The board of governors of the building trades employees association at a meeting today expects to serve notice on the unions that unless they call off a sympathetic strike on some sixty buildings in support of the marbleworkers the employers will declare a general lockout.

that if the unions do not accept their terms the shutdown will become general.

The marbleworkers struck about eight weeks ago, demanding an increase in pay.

AN IRATE HUSBAND Held Imprisoned by Wife Till Police Arrived

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—Mrs. James Eagle, No. 129 West One Hundred and Thirty-fifth street, appealed for a policeman yesterday to the West One Hundred and Twenty-fifth street station over the telephone, declaring that her husband had gone crazy and had threatened to kill her.

Patrolman Marron found Eagle fastened in a bedroom. His wife had tied a clothes line to the door knob, wrapped it around various heavy pieces of furniture and had tied the end of it to the wash tubs in the kitchen.

The infuriated husband attempted to crawl out through the transom, but could not get over. He did not dare jump two stories from the window. For twenty-four hours his meals had been tossed over the transom by the frightened wife.

The policeman held parley between them before opening the door. Mrs. Eagle insisted she had taken precautions to hold her husband, after he threatened to desert her and their four-year-old son Jimmy. Eagle verified this and declared he was tired of being nagged.

The policeman liberated the husband. The latter at once began to pack a suit case to leave, but his wife insisted he was taking articles of clothing that she had bought. The officer refused to allow Eagle to take away more than he wore, and advised Mrs. Eagle to get a summons from the domestic relations court. Eagle hurried down to Seventh avenue and disappeared.

JUMPED TO DEATH

Boy Discouraged Because He Lost Job

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—Despondent because he had lost the position he held for four years, Carl Christiansen, 19 years old, a waiter, who lived at No. 145 East Thirty-sixth street, leaped to death last night from the ninth floor of the Temple Court building, at Beekman street and Theatre alley.

Christiansen was informed last night by employees in a lichen room on the ground floor of the Temple Court building that he had lost his position. Shortly afterward he approached a porter and speaking of his discharge said:

"I can't go home and tell my father and mother that I've lost my job. I've held it for four years. I reckon the only thing left for me to do is to commit suicide."

He left the building and walked to Park row. He returned to the Temple Court building and rode up in an elevator to the ninth floor. For several minutes he walked back and forth along the corridor. He then lifted a window overlooking Theatre alley and, climbing out on the window sill, jumped. Almost every bone in his body was broken.

HUSBAND BARRED

WIFE CHANGED THE LOCK ON THE DOOR

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—WANTED—Somebody who will invent a skeleton key that will open any lock. Apply to Oscar C. Feullert, 1327 Beacon avenue. Feullert hasn't advertised yet for the key like this, but he admitted yesterday he has a device that such a device would have saved him a good deal of worry and inconvenience and might have kept him out of court altogether.

He asked for a writ of habeas corpus to get his 4-year-old son from Alvin Feullert, his wife, of 4305 Park avenue, on the ground that she isn't as fit as he is to take care of the child.

"I was married in October, 1901, and started house-keeping in Park avenue," said Feullert. "My wife took it into her head to charge me with abandonment. Well, here's how it happened: I went away to work one day and when I came back I found my key wouldn't fit the lock on the door of our apartment. My wife had a new lock."

"I certainly didn't abandon my wife and home; I was locked out. I couldn't get a key to fit the lock, that's all."

Feullert said that he made a desperate effort to square himself at home, but couldn't get on good terms with his wife. He vacated for the fact that he went to his wife on two occasions and offered her $5. If she would cook his supper for him. She refused the offer. Feullert quotes Mrs. Feullert as having said in the presence of the boy:

"Faps will go over the bridge of sighs unless he pays me $150."

Ready to Challenge For America Cup on Fair Conditions

LONDON, Sept. 28.—"The minute I hear that the New York Yacht club is willing to meet me under its own rules I'll challenge again," said Sir Thomas Lipton today regarding reports called here that the American yacht clubs favor changing the cup conditions so that the international races can be conducted according to rules recognized by every club in America.

"I felt sure that when Americans knew the facts of the case they would put things straight. It is no fault of mine that there has been no challenge from this side. I see from the cables that many important yacht clubs want the New York Yacht club to use the golden bridge which provides for conditions to be arranged by mutual consent."

"I never could believe that American sportsmen wanted to keep the cup on a mere technicality. I am more than pleased to see that the Atlantic Yacht club is of the same opinion. All I ask is to race under the New York Yacht club's own rules. As I've said before, what is good enough for them is good enough for me."

"Every yachtsman in America knows there is nothing would stimulate the sport so much as another international race, even if the race were under the universal rule. I couldn't say that I would win, but win or lose every American yachtsman would then

Ed. Walsh Was Too Much for the Red Sox

BOSTON, Sept. 28.—In these melancholy, saddest-of-the-year, autumnal days, when the scar and yellow is beginning to get in its work, it makes little difference to us who wins; the afternoon set-to. Perhaps one might look out where the Cubs and Giants are winding up the season in a blaze of fireworks, but hereabouts—what's the use. Yesterday we trekked out to Huntington avenue only to find Ed Walsh propelling the sphere for the White Sox, and incidentally engineering a 3 to 0 victory over the local club.

The game, played in the gray of the afternoon, didn't amount to much. There are six more of the same to be played between now and the final curtain, but the only question that they will decide is whether or not the Red Sox speedsters representing us will lead the first division or pass into history as the occupants of the sixth rung of the ladder counting from the top.

Walsh had Ray Collins as opposition for eight rounds. Then Buchman, the New England league recruit, was given a trial, and marched through one inning without mishap. Walsh held Boston to five hits, "The White Sox" made but six, but of these four counted in the scoring. In the fourth inning a walk to McInyre was followed by a single by Bodie and a couple of infield outs, McInyre scoring on the three plays.

An single by Lord, a sacrifice by McInyre and a three-bagger by Bodie made for another tally in the sixth, and a two-bagger by Shone Collins along with a sacrifice hit and a sacrifice fly were incidents in the third and last run which came in the seventh.

Against this Boston was seldom dangerous. The best little rally came in the eighth inning, when, after two were down, Enloe batted for Ray Collins and singled. Speaker followed with a one-base run to centre, you which Enloe took third. Gardner had a fine opportunity to distinguish himself, but his bat was a strike-out which one must maintain isn't very good in any extremity.

The game was played in 1 1/2 hour and 20 minutes, a shortness of time that must be indicative of the merits of the rival hurling. Walsh, always cool on a cloudy day, was steady as a clock, giving but one base on balls and scattering the five Boston hits in an extremely clever manner.

Collins was almost equally steady, the enemies' first run being undoubtedly due to a mixing out of the local infield with one out and a man on second and third. The mistake in technical defence gave the opposition the lever with which to pry open the run chest, and incidentally the advantage which eventually gave them the game.

The same teams go at it this afternoon at the usual hour. The score:

OPERA HOUSE

Many theatre-goers will recall the great success made here a few years ago by a musical comedy called "Comin' Through the Rye." Just why, no one could say. Little was known about it, yet a desire to see it seemed to become contagious. It impressed people as being good, and the performance lived up to expectations. Packed houses were the rule throughout New England. On return dates every ticket was sold in a few hours. That was several years ago. The theory of cycles in things theatrical as well as in the history of nations, seems to be borne out by the success of a new candidate for box office honors bearing the unique title of "The Newyeds and Their Baby." Its history parallels that of "Comin' Through the Rye." Originally produced in New York, it ran for several months. It was taken on the road and drew packed houses right from the start. People were turned away almost nightly. Exactly the case with "The Newyeds." In a comparatively short time, it has made a fortune—that is, a theatrical fortune for its owners. This is the first venture into New England and so far it has hit the bull's eye. It is an excellent entertainment, novel in plot, a line of characters new to the stage. In fact a distinct departure from anything yet offered in the musical comedy line. It's a big company—over 60 people. The Newyeds and their wonderful baby will be seen here at the Opera House, Friday and Saturday, Sept. 29-30, with Saturday matinee.—Adv.

DANTE'S "INFERNO"
With the exception of Shakespeare and the Bible, probably the greatest monument of literature and history is Dante's "Inferno." It has at all times been praised by students as a revelation rather than a mere poem. With all its power, this literary masterpiece has heretofore only been appreciated by a limited number of readers, while to the great masses it was a hidden treasure. It remained, however, for Edison's greatest invention, the moving picture, to furnish the key which has unlocked this treasure for the benefit of the general public. The recent reproduction of a "Picture drama," of the poem, by the Milano Film company of Italy, has been met with unparalleled success. The result, however, has been a complete revelation to both literary and art critics. There are more than one hundred scenes displayed covering almost every part of Dante's poem and constituting an entertainment of more than two hours' duration.

By special arrangement the pictures were first shown to his Majesty, the King of Italy, who, together with the members of the royal household commended the work with the highest gallery. The Milano company spent nearly two years producing the subject and received the advice of artists from every part of Europe, the result was a triumph not only of moving picture art, but of stage craft and pantomime as well. A dignified lecture augmented by special music rendered on a Mason & Hamlin pipe organ accompanies the pictures. The local engagement will commence at the Opera House on Monday, Oct. 2, for one week with daily matinees. It may be of interest to know that Messrs. Shubert have eight productions playing at their leading theatres throughout the country simultaneously with the local engagement.—Adv.

KEITH'S LOWELL THEATRE

"How does he do it?" This is the most popular question with the patrons of the B. F. Keith new theatre in Bridge street after they have witnessed the mystifying act which is the headliner this week and presented by Dr. Carl Herman; the only man living who can allow several hundred volts of electricity to course through his body and not feel any ill effects from it. This act is the most mysterious of any ever given on a local stage and is well worth seeing. If you are of a skeptical mind and believe that there is not a direct current flowing through the doctor's body you are invited to the stage, so that you may examine the apparatus he uses, including the three huge dynamo which furnish the "juice" in order that you will leave the theatre without a doubt in your mind regarding the genuineness of the act.

PACKY McFARLAND, WHO IS TO MEET MATT WELLS

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—What promises to be one of the best fights scheduled for a decade is the ten round bout listed for Oct. 15 at Madison Square Garden between Packy McFarland and Matt Wells. They have agreed to weigh in at 155 pounds at 5 o'clock on the afternoon of battle. Wells has shown that he can reach this notch and do himself justice, and it is an ideal fighting weight for Packy. The latter worked like a Trojan to make 133 at 3 for Wolgast in the engagement which has been declared off, but there were grave doubts extant in the minds of his friends whether Packy could have carried his fighting strength into the ring. A week before the Wolgast battle Packy looked anything like a man who was ready to tackle a tough customer like the champion. His face was drawn, and his skin was very pale. Nobody has any fear, however, but that the Chicagoan will be at his best with Wells; also it is a pretty safe bet that McFarland will give the Britisher the hardest tussle the latter has had since he landed upon these shores with his bushing honors thick upon him. With a few more pounds to his credit Attell might have bothered Wells a lot. McFarland is universally acknowledged to be one of the most scientific men of his poundage that the arena has known since the days of Joe Gans. He is fitted in every way to meet Wells on even terms.

Regarding the genuineness of the act, while Dr. Herman's act itself is the high priced feature act of this week's bill there are other acts that are fully as interesting, although not of the same nature, and are: Harlan Knight and his company in "The Chalk Line," a playlet with pathos and laughter; Mr. and Mrs. Allison, present "Wings from Minnesota," an interesting sketch of a young composer and a Swedish girl; John Neff and Carrie Starr, in "The Brainstorm Musical," Mr. Neff's latest creation; Roeder and Lester, gymnasts; Harry Fantelle and Viola Vallerie, entertainers in songs and dances and Emmett Brothers, dancers pre-eminent. Moving picture films of the latest subjects close the bill. Tickets may be ordered in advance by telephone, 28.—Adv.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

No better one-act play has been presented before a local audience in many seasons than the offering which is being featured at the Merrimack Square theatre this week by Our Stock company. The play is the work of Haddon Chambers, a playwright of merit, whose work has produced some of the best and highest type of short plays on the stage, and when presented adequately, is especially interesting and entertaining. Mr. Weston and his players are scoring a big hit in it this week. The staging of the piece compares favorably with the best things seen on a local stage in seasons. Next week this company will offer for the approval of the patrons of this theatre J. B. Stoddard's well-known playlet, "One Touch of Nature." Ross Brown, the world's greatest gift swimmer, will be among the other attractions for next week. The Shillings, The Fraser Troupe, The Robinson Trio and Miss McMahon, are sharing in the honors this week in a bill of unusual excellence. It is the desire of the management of the Merrimack Square theatre to give the best service possible to its patrons and to do this the assistance of those attending is necessary. Patrons who attend weekly are advised to have their names placed on the subscription list. It costs nothing. Why not do it now?—Adv.

SIR ROVER A WINNER

Captured the Pacing Stake in Three Straight Heats

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 28.—T. W. Murphy, wearing yards of bandages to keep in place a rib broken Tuesday when Baroness Helen tossed him over the fence, was winning heats on the Columbus track right and left yesterday until the course was flooded by rain that appeared at 3:15 and forced a postponement until noon today.

Murphy got one of his three races in straight heats in the 2:11 pacing stake. With R. T. C. he won the only heat decided in the 2:12 trotting stake, and after Black Twister had slipped the first heat in the 2:07 pace twice brought Longworth B down ahead.

Much comment was stirred up during the Sir R. race. There was a heavy play on the Canadian Hal B Jr. and Starting Judge Stone, when he found the good thing acting badly, was accused of not trying to protect him. In both the second and third heats the horse was far out of position when the field was sent away, and was distanced finally. The last heat of the race was paced in a driving rain.

R. T. C. and Longworth B. of the Murphy stable were pronounced favorites, and Sir R. was the choice for his race, though the presence of Hal B Jr. caused a lot of money to be sent into the auction box against him.

Atlantic Express, in the first heat of the afternoon, won the deciding heat of the horse review three-year-old futurity, equalling his record. Payment of second money to Mainleaf has been protested by the manager of the Madison stable in which Margaret Parrish belongs. It is contended that the judges erred Tuesday in placing Mainleaf when he fell inside the distance day.

Creighton was picked to win the 2:10 trot, four heats of which were raced Tuesday, but Chatty Direct was the raceiest and pulled through, trotting the last quarter of the final mile in 31 when Creighton, after going easy to the turn home, was brought up with a rush. The summary:

many as fun makers you should see "Naughty Rebecca," the delightful little comedy of three acts, by Maurice Hagenman, being given this week in this theatre. In many respects "Naughty Rebecca" resembles some of the famous comedy drama, "Three Times" in that there are three members of the cast dressed in opera cloaks of the same color and design, who are continually mistaken for each other by two young husbands who are out on a "lark," thinking that their wives haven't the least knowledge of their whereabouts. However, their jealousy is rudely awakened for they discover after disporting about a wall knowing each all evening that the two women they have been with are their wives, who had conceived the plan for the purpose of trying their faithfulness. The third wearer of the opera cloak is a maid of one of the men who wrote the notes to the husbands requesting them to come to the cafe. She goes to the cafe in order to see the scheme through.

The far running throughout the drama is of a most delightful and laugh producing nature and the presentation is as complete as could be desired. "Completeness of every detail" is one of the slogans of Mr. Meek with his company and house and the result is that the many little things which come to the surface and injure the presentation of a drama where everything is done in a penny saving way, are unknown at this theatre. STOCK MARKET

WAS STEADY AT THE CLOSE THIS AFTERNOON

The Holders Took Profits On a Huge Sale—A Material Setback In the Closing Hours—R. A. O. Stock Made a Net Record Loss

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—With a much smaller volume of trading the stock market moved in an irregular manner at the opening today. The speculative leaders developed considerable strength. U. S. Steel opened with a block of 7500 at 92 1/2, compared with yesterday's close of 91 1/2, and in the first few minutes and trading rose to 97 1/2. The preferred gained 1/2. Union Pacific rose 2 points and Reading, St. Paul, Amal. Copper, N. Y. and American Smelting, L. Lehigh Valley, which sold 1 1/2 below yesterday's close, quickly recovered its position and made a net gain of 3/4. Western Maryland lost a point and S. P. 3/4.

The market showed a great deal of irregularity. This was due to wide swings on professional operations rather than to such nervousness as existed yesterday. Following the brisk rise after the opening the market reacted. Then another heavy demand set in which carried the whole list higher than before. U. S. Steel reached 98 1/2 and gained from 1 to 1 1/2. There were general in other important stocks. The Gould issues moved in a hesitating way and there was persistent pressure against the Wabash stocks. The common fell to 10 1/2, a new low record, and the pfd. went down to 20 1/2.

A strong tone prevailed throughout the morning session on the exchange. Stocks advanced steadily on an increasing demand. Although there were rapid advances were quickly and there was an absence of yesterday's disquieting fluctuations. The financial district was flooded with rumors to the effect that some sort of a statement reassuring to corporate interests of the country would emanate from administration sources before long. The demonstration of strength which the market gave in the second hour was so convincing that there was a frantic scramble by the shorts to cover and bull forces operated with growing confidence. Virtually every stock of moderate activity rose from 2 to 2 1/2, with Reading showing a rise of 3 points, U. S. Steel 2 1/2, and U. P. 3 1/2. Bonds were firm.

Announcement that the Union Pacific road had rejected the demands of the labor leaders had little effect, however, although U. P. declined almost a point from the best. Prices elsewhere showed fractional gains. There was some contraction of operations except in U. S. Steel, which changed hands in blocks that ranged from 2000 to 6000 shares.

Speculation took a strong upward turn a gain and there was every evidence that a relentless campaign was being waged against the unwieldy short interest. Blocks of thousands of shares of all the favorite stocks were absorbed at huge gains in the closing hour and there was a material set-back. The decline was accelerated by liquidation in B. & O., which lowered to 10 1/2 to 9 3/4, a net loss record. Partial recoveries followed on a light demand.

At the time it is alleged that they were driving a horse attached to a light driving carriage, which was stolen from Massachusetts avenue in Boston at 7 o'clock Tuesday morning. The outfit is owned by J. M. Riley, a contractor of Cambridge. The local police stabled the horse and wagon at Williams' stable.

It is alleged that the boys drove the horse from Roxbury to Revere and elsewhere during the entire day. It is alleged that another boy was with

AEROPLANES CRASH

The Two Aviators Had a Narrow Escape

CANTON, O., Sept. 28.—While attempting to make a landing after circling about the aviation field here yesterday Eugene B. Ely lost control of his machine and crashed to the ground, hitting Aviator Atwood's machine on the way. Both aviators were dumped to the ground but neither was badly injured. One of the planes of Ely's machine was damaged.

The gusty breeze was responsible for the accident and kept the aviators from attempting any sensational flights yesterday. No high flights were made. Most of the birdmen flew around the course a few feet from the ground and even then they had trouble with the wind.

Atwood won from Brookins in the quick starting contest.

Ely was circling the field about 50 feet from the ground when the accident occurred. A heavy gust of wind tilted his plane and he jerked a lever too far over in an effort to counteract it. As a result he lost control of the machine and it plunged towards the ground. At this moment Atwood was just leaving the ground in his machine and one of Ely's planes touched Atwood's machine. Both machines hit the ground and Ely was spilled out. He sustained a blackened eye but otherwise was uninjured.

SECRETARY MEYER

INSPECTED THE TWO BATTLESHIPS UTAH AND FLORIDA

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—Secretary Meyer visited the navy yard today to inspect the battleships Utah and Florida, now nearing completion. Secretary Meyer will discuss with Admiral Loudest, the navy yard commander, the practicability of moving the two dreadnaughts into the North river for their final touches to give more room at the yard.

It is expected that the two new battleships will be moved into the North river by Dec. 1. The Utah, which is the more nearly completed, probably will be made the flagship of the first division of the Atlantic fleet.

ARM AMPUTATED

Eric Freiberg Met With Serious Accident

Eric Freiberg, an employe of the Cudahy Packing company, was the victim of a terrible accident late yesterday afternoon, when his arm was caught in a sausage machine and so mutilated that amputation was necessary.

Freiberg, who is an experienced man in this line of business, was working around his machine at 3:30 yesterday afternoon when in some unaccountable manner his right arm was caught in the grinders of the machine. Before the machine could be stopped the arm was drawn through to above the elbow and the hand protruded from the other side.

The ambulance was quickly summoned, but as it was impossible to extricate the arm, it being literally mangled by the machine, the only recourse was to amputate the member, and this was done. Dr. R. W. Parker took off the arm above the elbow and during the operation Freiberg watched the doctor without for a moment losing consciousness. After the operation he was even strong enough to walk to the elevator to be taken to the hospital. The ambulance removed him to St. John's hospital, where it was reported he was resting comfortably.

STARVING BABIES

Were Locked in House by Their Parents

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—In a locked room in an East side tenement yesterday, a janitor heard the means of children. She called a policeman, who broke in the door and found two little girls and their baby brother almost unconscious from starvation.

Goldie Kurland, 9 years old, when revived with food, said that she and her 3-year-old sister and the year-old boy had been locked in the flat since early Monday night, when their parents had a quarrel and left the house. The children were turned over to the Children's Society, which said that the baby would probably die. A police alarm was sent out for John J. Kurland and his wife.

THE EDDY HEIRS

Not Necessary Parties to Friendly Suit

BOSTON, Sept. 28.—The heirs of Mrs. Mary Baker G. Eddy, the founder of the Christian Science church, are not necessary parties to the friendly suit of the directors of the Christian Science church to have trustees convey to the church real estate owned by Mrs. Eddy in this city and in Newton in accordance with her will, according to a ruling by Judge Merton of the supreme judicial court today.

Assistant Attorney General Field, representing the commonwealth, claiming that the heirs of Mrs. Eddy now living outside the state should be joined in order that a final decision in the matter might be completed and preclude these heirs in case they were dissatisfied from bringing another proceeding. Involved in the case is the validity of certain provisions of the will under the state which prohibits a bequest of an amount exceeding an annual income of more than $2,000 to any one church.

In his decision today the judge, without comment, overruled the motion of the assistant attorney-general that the suit be joined as defendants in the suit. The case will be heard on its merits at a later date.

WICHITA, Kan., Sept. 28.—William McFall, a fireman, and R. Johnson, former policeman, are known to be dead; at least two others are believed to be buried under a fallen wall and several persons are injured as a result of fire in the wholesale warehouse quarter early today, causing a property loss of $300,000. The fire was confined to one block.

SEMINARY OPENS

A LARGE ENTERING CLASS AT ST. JOHN'S

St. John's seminary, Brighton, opened yesterday, about 70 students preparing for the priesthood returning from a few weeks' vacation and an entering class of some 25 students being added. This is one of the largest entering classes to the seminary for some time. The new students came principally from Boston college, Holy Cross college and St. Charles college at Ellipton City, Md.

The faculty is directed by Rev. Dr. John B. Peterson, who has been in the faculty for several years and was advanced by Archbishop O'Connell to the presidency just before the close of the last term. Dr. Peterson is well known among the clergy of the diocese, a large number of whom ordained in the past 10 years or so came under him as students. He is an able scholar and aims to secure the highest efficiency among those who come to him for training.

THE NEW ROUTE

FOR THE GRAND TRUNK ROAD WAS INSPECTED TODAY

BOSTON, Sept. 28.—A tour of inspection of the proposed new route in Massachusetts of the Grand Trunk railroad was made today by President Charles Hayes and several high officials of that company. The route was over the Southern New England railroad, over which the Grand Trunk is planning to gain access to the sea by way of Palmer, Blackstone and Providence.

It is believed that the trip is an important step in bringing the Grand Trunk to this city. The party was headed by A. W. Smithers of London, chairman of the directors.

WOMAN DETECTIVE

WAS BEATEN AND KICKED BY A PRISONER

BOSTON, Sept. 28.—Miss Esther Trask, a store detective, captured a man suspected of shoplifting yesterday at the very entrance of the court house, although beaten and kicked by the prisoner.

Several times the man pounded his fist into her face, as she clung to him, while some of Boston's most prominent attorneys looked on.

A crowd collected, watching the unequal struggle—a crowd of lawyers, stenographers and business men. It was an inspector from police headquarters, summoned by telephone by a woman's voice, who came to Miss Trask's aid.

And the prisoner, to whom Miss Trask had managed to cling for nearly five minutes, in spite of the beating she was receiving, gave the inspector, Wise, such a tussle that he was obliged to call for another officer before he could get him to headquarters.

Miss Trask said that she had seen the prisoner, who gave the name Jas. Shannon, no home, take some glasses and a pipe from the counter in the department store. She followed him, wanting to pass an officer to have the man arrested. At last, fearing he would get away, she came close to him. He noticed that she was following him and turned on her striking her full in the face. Then she grabbed him and hung on till the police inspector arrived to stop the unequal fight and shame the crowd.

WEALTHY WOMAN

WAS ARRESTED ON A CHARGE OF LARCENY

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—Mrs. Frances Walker, said to be the wife of a wealthy resident of Holyoke, Mass., and socially prominent in that city, was arrested late yesterday and arraigned in court accused of shoplifting.

A department store detective alleges he saw Mrs. Walker appropriate several articles of women's wear, valued at $21, and slip them into a blouse jacket. He watched her, he says, in a looking glass, and did not arrest her until she had left the store.

Mrs. Walker, who is a handsome woman and well over 40 years of age, was given a 12-hour detention when the detective took her into custody. She was released on $200 bail, furnished by the manager of a well-known hotel, where she was stopping with her husband.

Her husband declared the arrest was "all a mistake." Mrs. Walker's examination was set for Sept. 30.

ANTIQUES LOST

TRAMPS OR THIEVES BLAMED FOR FIRE IN GOLFSTOWN

GOLFSTOWN, N. H., Sept. 28.—The bungalow of Prof. Ernest Pierce of Tarrytown, N. Y., situated on the mountain road about one mile from the village, was burned yesterday with its contents. There was no insurance. The fire was discovered by some of the city boarders of the Mt. Pleasant house.

Mr. and Mrs. Pierce left for Tarrytown a week ago Monday and there has been no one there since. It was either set by tramps who broke in to steal or thieves who were after the furniture and set the fire to cover the tracks, as it was known to be furnished with very valuable antiques that have been in the family of Mrs. Pierce for generations.

The loss on the bungalow is estimated to be $500, while that of the furnishings it is impossible to tell till Mr. and Mrs. Pierce can furnish a list.

HERDS RAVAGED

FOOT AND MOUTH DISEASE SPREADS IN EUROPE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28.—Reports to the department of agriculture indicate that the foot and mouth disease is spreading and ravaging herds of cattle, sheep and swine in all parts of Europe. A rigid quarantine has been in existence for some time against all European countries and within the last few weeks the prohibition against importing animals has been extended to England.

Dr. A. D. Melvin, chief of the bureau of animal industry, says that the small outbreaks in the United States have been effectively stamped out and that it is proposed to maintain a quarantine so close as to prevent any infection entering this country.

FAMILY WAS POISONED

Daughter is Suspected by the New Orleans Police

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 28.—Annie Crawford, who the police allege is herself addicted to the use of drugs, was arrested by the police yesterday charged with poisoning her younger sister, Elsie, by administering poison, and is said to have partly confessed her guilt.

The police believe the Crawford girl has poisoned four members of her own family for gain.

Three other members of the family have died under mysterious circumstances within the past 14 months and Annie Crawford was beneficiary in the insurance policies on the life of each.

The policies she held on all four amounted to only $1750, and the police say the girl spent nearly all the money for clothes.

Elsie Crawford, who was a stenographer, died suddenly Saturday under circumstances so suspicious that the coroner had the contents of the stomach analyzed by an expert chemist.

The finding of traces of morphine was followed by the arrest of the older sister. The authorities said last night that the bodies of the three other members of the family will be examined for a similar examination.

Dist. Atty. Adams said last night: "It was established today that Annie Crawford is probably addicted to morphine. It is also established that she had access during the past three weeks to morphine and was in a position to obtain it in practically any quantity."

During the illness of Elsie Crawford she bitterly complained that her food and drink were poisoned and I have charged Annie Crawford with the murder of her sister Elsie."

The first of the Crawford household to die was Mary Agnes, another sister of the prisoner. Her death occurred June 28, 1910, supposedly of acute meningitis. Three weeks later, July 15, 1910, the father died, uraemic poisoning being given as the cause. After an interval of two weeks, on July 29, 1910, the mother died. In her case uraemic poisoning was also given as the cause.

Annie Crawford held insurance policies on the lives of the deceased in the following sums:

Walter Crawford, father, $800; Mrs. Crawford, mother, $400; Mary Agnes Crawford, sister, $400; Elsie Crawford, sister, $250. She has collected the insurance in each case, except that of her sister Elsie, payment of which was withheld, pending receipt of the certificate of death.

On the Monday morning following her sister's death on Saturday Annie made a demand on the insurance company for the money. She also went to the railroad offices where her sister was employed and collected $45 due the dead girl.

For several years Annie Crawford had charge of the drug department of the Presbyterian hospital. She lost her place there more than a year ago, it is alleged, after the disappearance of a quantity of drugs.

The girl is small, pale and frail, appearing more like a prim and self-conscious school teacher than a person with criminal inclinations.

FIRE IN TAILOR SHOP

An alarm from box 125 at 11 o'clock last night summoned a portion of the fire department to 591 Market street where a bundle of clothes in a second hand tailor shop was on fire. The clothes were damaged and the side of the building slightly scorched.

MADE DEATH PACT

Mother and Son Committed Suicide
by Drowning

EAST BROOKFIELD, Sept. 28.—Stricken with grief and mortification at charges which had been preferred against the son, Mrs. Mary Lacey, aged 54, and her son, John G. Lacey, aged 30, both of Fitchburg, strapped their wrists together, then face to face, with their clasped hands pressed close to their breasts, threw themselves into the waters of Lake Lashaway here yesterday and ended their lives by drowning.

On the banks of the lake was a bag, which held, besides a dozen letters to relatives and friends, a bottle of carbolic acid, another means of ending their sorrow which was not needed.

The bodies were found close to the edge of the lake, lying in barely two feet of water, by a boy named DeRoche, who was first attracted to the spot by the sight of the bag.

The authorities were notified and with the appearance of Medical Examiner E. W. Norwood of Spencer the bodies were taken from the lake by Francis Bedard, later being taken to an undertaker's in Spencer.

Before entering the water the man had removed his coat and hat and his mother had taken off her hat and jacket.

The right wrist of the young man was bound to the left wrist of his mother with a skate strap while the other two hands were held less loosely together with a string.

Letters of Explanation

The bag, which contained 10 letters addressed to parties in Fitchburg and Windsor, Vt., was opened and enough of the letters examined to ascertain the identity of the parties.

The letters in each case mentioned the approaching hearing on charges preferred against the young man in Fitchburg and stated that both the mother and son fearing the shame and disgrace of the matter preferred to end their lives to meeting the publicity.

One of the letters was addressed to a daughter-in-law, Mrs. Bert Lacey, in Windsor, Vt., another to Mrs. Charles Lamphrey of the same place, while others were to Henry Patch, Charles "Bosket" and Herbert Abbott of the Fitchburg club in Fitchburg, and Dr. Underhill of Groton, Lacey's bondsman.

The bag also contained two life insurance policies. One of them, a $1000 policy, was made out in the name of John G. Lacey, and the other, for a smaller amount, was made out to Mary J. Lacey.

Arrested Sunday Night
Mrs. Lacey and her son formerly lived in North Brookfield, but for several years had made their home in Fitchburg, where Lacey was employed as a steward at the exclusive Fay club. More than six feet tall and of athletic build, Lacey was a young man who commanded much respect and regard from the members of the club and acquaintances.

Last Sunday night he was placed under arrest on unusual charges preferred by Charles Bosquet, an 18-year-old boy who was also employed at the Fay club, and the case was continued to Thursday for a hearing.

Since that time Lacey had not appeared at the club, his mother leaving town about the same time.

So far as could be learned the couple were seen in Spencer about 9 o'clock yesterday morning. It is thought they then went to North Brookfield, where they had formerly lived, and came to East Brookfield by trolley.

A resident of East Brookfield, living near the lake, heard a scream from the borders of the lake about 1 o'clock and it is believed that the suicide pact was carried out at this time, as the medical examiner declared the bodies had been in the water but two or three hours.

Medical Examiner Norwood communicated with a daughter of Mrs. Lacey in Windsor, Vt., and arrangements were made for members of the family to come to Spencer and take charge of the bodies.

A PRISON SENTENCE THE MEN'S MISSION

For Man Charged With Robbing Stores

Large Congregation at St. Peter's Church

BOSTON, Sept. 28.—Walter P. Chapin of Malden was sentenced by Judge Lawton in the superior court yesterday afternoon to state prison for a term of not less than 2½ nor more than four years. He was charged with two counts of larceny from department stores. It was asserted that Chapin obtained goods valued at $188 by false pretences.

Inspector Patterson, when asked by the court if he knew anything about the prisoner, declared that the record showed that in 1898 Chapin was sentenced to state prison for a term of four to seven years for perjury in connection with a straw ball case. He also declared he was sentenced for three years in the house of correction in 1904 for larceny from department stores by false pretences.

The inspector said that Chapin was arrested in Philadelphia on charge of fleeing people in an advertising scheme. There he claimed to be a doctor. The next heard of Chapin, said the inspector, was when he went to Maine and defrauded several farmers on an apple proposition.

Asst. Dist. Atty. Webber informed Judge Lawton that although only two counts were named in the complaint upon which Chapin was found guilty a few days ago, at least 30 other counts could be placed against him. Mr. Webber read a list of goods that he asserted were stolen by Chapin, the value of which was $2678. Chapin's scheme was to open an account at the stores and furnish references.

Kills A Murderer
A merciless murderer is Appenletts with many victims, but Dr. King's New Life Pills kill it by prevention. They gently stimulate stomach, liver and bowels, preventing that clogging that invites appendicitis, curing constipation, headache, biliousness, chills, 25c at A. W. Dows & Co.

The attendance at the men's mission at St. Peter's church continues to be large, the inclement weather of last evening not interfering with the number present by any means. The men present filled both the upper and lower churches. Rev. Fr. O'Mahoney, O. S. A., was the preacher in the main church, taking for his subject, the sin of drunkenness. Rev. Fr. Whalen, O. S. A., spoke in the chapel.

A feature of the early morning mass today was the exceptionally large number of communicants. Rev. Fr. O'Donnell, O. S. A., was the celebrant of the mass and Rev. Fr. Mullin assisted in giving communion. Fr. O'Donnell later gave a brief instruction on the meaning of the sixth and ninth commandments.

The children's mission is a big success, large numbers attending the services regularly.

BODY IDENTIFIED

MAN COMMITTED SUICIDE AT MONTPELIER, VT.

MONTPELIER, Vt., Sept. 28.—The man who fired a bullet into his brain in front of the Palace motion-picture house on Main street at midnight Tuesday night, was definitely identified yesterday as Albert Roth of Whitehall, N. Y., and an undertaker was sent here to remove the body.

Roth brought the revolver he used with him, investigators of stores failing to show that it was purchased in this city.

The girl who sent him back his engagement ring and the young man who was with her Tuesday night after their interview, and whom Roth followed during the evening but did not molest, feel relieved to think that it was not a double or triple tragedy.

Local Shriner's took charge of the body and notified the family.

BOARD OF CHARITIES

Dropped the Proposition to Purchase Auto Ambulance

Lowell will not have an automobile ambulance for some time to come. The board of charities held a special meeting last night to consider the immediate purchase of an auto ambulance but decided to drop the matter until there is a special appropriation for that purpose. Commissioner Howe urged the necessity of a fast ambulance and proposed that it be purchased out of the board's present appropriation. The board chairman, Dr. McCarty, allowed that Mr. Howe's suggestion was not a very good one. He said it was a businesslike and while he was in favor of an auto ambulance he would not sanction its purchase except by special appropriation.

DR. J. J. McCARTY,
Chairman of Charity Board.

Mr. Howe said that the board, to do its full duty, should buy an auto ambulance and buy it right away. He said that the saving of a human life was of greater importance than the juggling of appropriations. "I have for some time past urged the purchase of an auto ambulance," said Mr. Howe, "because I believe it would improve the ambulance service. I figure that in a projected improvement we would be doing our full part in reducing to a minimum the chances of persons losing their lives because of slow ambulance service."

Mr. Howe then moved that the board purchase an automobile ambulance, and Commissioner Burns seconded the motion.

Mr. Coupo was opposed and stated his objections. He said it was inconsistent with the board's method of doing business and that the ambulance should not be purchased unless the board were allowed an appropriation for that specific purpose.

Chairman McCarty said he would favor the purchase of an auto ambulance if it could be secured without taking the money from the department.

"I believe that we should be governed by common sense at all times," said the chairman. "Now the present proposition which provides for the taking of $5000 out of the outdoor relief fund, which is the only place we could possibly take it from, is what I consider a bad move. If we did this, we would in a way deprive the poor of the city of that which belongs to them. Then looking at the question from another view, we could say that after we had taken the amount necessary for the purchase of the auto and had used up the little that might be remaining we would go before the city government or appropriations committee and ask for more money to plug out for the end of the year. Our excuse then would not be for money for an ambulance or an improved ambulance service, but for more funds for carrying on the outdoor relief work. That would be so I believe, a rather unbusinesslike and rather improper way of getting the money. According to the opinion of our city solicitor, in the case of the 'feeble-minded bill,' this board, and, as a matter of fact, any other board, cannot spend a certain sum of money given them for a specific purpose, for any other purpose. Now if the present motion should be favorably acted on I would say that it would be in direct violation to this ruling, which means a direct violation of the city ordinances and the state laws, and I rule that the motion as offered is not, according to common sense or honorable business methods, and therefore rule it out of order."

Mr. Howe stated that it was not his desire to be unfair in the matter, or attempt to railroad the proposition through in any underhanded way. He believed that the proposed new ambulance would bring about conditions that would warrant its change, and he thought that the saving of lives was first and foremost.

Commissioner Burns allowed that other departments of the city had done about the same thing in the past and he saw no reason why it couldn't be done properly and without it being considered underhanded or improper.

Mr. Coupo opposed the proposition from the start and Commissioner Ricard also believed that while an auto ambulance service would bring about an improvement, he thought that the method proposed in the motion was hardly right.

It was finally decided to drop the matter for the present and make a try for it next year.

OPINIONS DIFFER

AS TO CAUSE OF EXPLOSION ON THE LIBERTE

PARIS, Sept. 28.—The Midi affirms today that absolute differences of opinion exist between Vice-Admiral Helie and the minister of marine, M. Delcasse, as to the cause of the explosion that destroyed the Liberte. The admiral, who commands the second squadron, to which the battleship belonged, maintains that the disaster was due to the decomposition of the powder in the magazine. M. Delcasse refuses to accept that explanation.

YEAR AT YALE BEGINS

NEW HAVEN, Sept. 28.—The doors of recitation halls in Yale university swung inward today to receive the young men who will follow their studies for the next academic year. Examinations have been completed and the results point to a larger class of academic freshmen than for several years. In the Sheffield Scientific school there seems to be a falling off. The upper classes in both departments retain their strength of last year while the graduate schools appear to have made gains.

BILLERICA PEOPLE

Will Ask County Board for St. Improvements

Street and roadway improvements in Billerica were discussed at the Manning manse yesterday afternoon at a meeting of the Billerica Improvement association and Billerica board of trade. Warren H. Manning presided. In the large gathering there were a large number of women residents present.

It was voted to ask the county commissioners to define the lines of a number of roads in the town. Attention will be given in the newly built district for a uniform regulation of the width of streets. Attention will also be given to secure public reservations along the river bank.

Improvements will be made on the common in Billerica Centre and F. S. Clark was authorized to confer with Boston & Maine officials regarding improvements near the railroad station in North Billerica. The regulation of the dumping of garbage and posting of signs within town limits for advertising purposes also received attention.

VINTON PAINTING

LOAN OF IT WANTED BY BOSTON ART MUSEUM

A request has been made to the Lowell Art association for the loan of a painting, "Une Bohemienne," from the brush of the late Frederick P. Vinton, which is the property of the association. The painting is wanted for the coming memorial exhibition of Mr. Vinton's works soon to be held at the Boston Art Museum.

This painting was presented to the Lowell Art association in 1878 by Thomas G. Appleton, through the kindly offices of Miss N. P. H. Robbins and her late sister. This is the first opportunity the association has ever had to loan any painting to an exhibition elsewhere.

act in the last hour proposed to the royal government to come to an agreement and has declared itself disposed to afford all the economic concessions compatible with the dignity and superior interests of Turkey; but the royal government does not believe in measures taken at this hour which have demonstrated their futility and which, remote from constituting a guarantee for the future, would be themselves permanent causes of disagreement and conflict.

The Italian government, having the intention henceforth to protect its interests and its dignity, has decided to proceed to the military occupation of Tripoli and Cyrene.

This solution is the only one that will give Italy power to itself to decide and itself attend to that which the imperial government does not do.

The royal government demands that the imperial government shall give order that the actual Ottoman representative shall not oppose the measure which in consequence will be necessary to effect this solution without difficulty. An ultimate agreement will be requested between the two governments to regulate the definite situation which will arise.

(Signed) "San Di Giuliano."

SITUATION SERIOUS

LONDON, Sept. 28.—Although hope has not been abandoned that Italy's aggression upon Tripoli may be prevented, nothing tangible is in sight to sustain it. Here it is feared that Italy's action may open up the whole eastern question, as the Turks, paraphrasing Boer law, might say: "If you will stagger humanity if Europe allows this robbery to be perpetrated."

If Turkey has 30,000 men in Tripoli, as is estimated, great doubt is expressed regarding Italy's being capable of capturing the province, because of the Arabs, who people it, and all of whom have taken alarm, are sworn to support the Turks.

Italy's grievous failure in Abyssinia is not forgotten, while the Turks are still regarded as the best soldiers in Europe. The Turkish government has been spending every available piaster on its army, which never before was so well equipped or officered.

The British consul in Tripoli is expected to notify the government if British subjects are in danger. If such notice is received British warships will be sent there immediately.

A Paris despatch reports that Italy has sent an ultimatum to Turkey declaring that the latter must agree to Italy's occupying of Tripoli and that unless a reply is received by today Italy will immediately proceed with the threatened occupation.

A letter from Tripoli dated Sept. 21, reads: "On the day that the Italian newspaper intimating that the Italians contemplated an expedition to occupy Tripoli were received here every café and theatre, all shops and stores were instantly closed and word was immediately passed to the Arabs throughout the town to meet in the great mosques to decide what they should do."

"They agreed that they would resist the Italian landing to the last. They have vowed that they will go to the British consulate and seek British protection."

TRYING TO PUSH TURKEY

CHIASO, Switzerland, On the Italian frontier, Sept. 28.—The latest despatches from Rome indicate that Italy is trying to put Turkey on the aggressive, in an endeavor to provoke an incident which would amount to a casus belli and thus justify a declaration of war or the sudden occupation of Tripoli.

Turkey is determined not to give any such pretext, and is ready to do almost anything. Indeed, the much talked of Mussulman fanaticism has not yet manifested itself.

The first expedition of 22,000 men will sail Oct. 3, it is understood, and will be followed by a second expedition of 12,000 men, if nothing occurs to change the present plans.

The deadlock in the negotiations between Italy and Turkey is causing great uneasiness, especially in Germany, which is divided between its duty towards Italy, Italy, and the desire not to lose Turkey, where Germany has powerful interests at work with the object of replacing Great Britain commercially.

ONE PERSON KILLED

CHIASO, Switzerland, on the Italian frontier, Sept. 28.—While the general strike attempted throughout Italy in protest against the mobilization of the army and navy for the possible occupation of Tripoli continues to be a failure, especially in the large towns, the attitude, exhibited by the military authorities, are causing excesses in small centres where their followers predominate. Between Ancona and Porto, Italy, telegraph poles were torn down and placed across the railway tracks to delay the trains, which are transporting the recruits to the military stations. Trains were held up in the province of Bologna, where the tracks were damaged, requiring repairs by the military engineers.

The cavalry dispersed the rioters in many instances and during the conflicts in Bologna and the provinces of Parma, Piacenza and Modena one person was killed and a score were injured.

JOHNSON-WELLS BOUT

LONDON, Sept. 28.—The Johnson-Wells championship fight, scheduled for Oct. 2, has been abandoned by the principals and promoter, owing to the opposition of the authorities and a large element of the public.

BODY IN A WELL

Aged Woman Thought to Have Been Robbed

WESTFIELD, Sept. 28.—The finding of the body of an aged woman in a well in the village of Granville and the discovery that her room in a farmhouse owned by her son had been ransacked led to the beginning of an investigation by Medical Examiner James of this town, who went to Granville today. As the village, which is eight miles southwest of here, near the Connecticut line, is without means of communication other than automobile, the outcome of Dr. James' inquiry was not expected to become known before tonight. The woman was Mrs. Umansky.

According to the story told by Mrs. Paul Umansky, her husband was away from home all day yesterday on a visit to Winsted, Conn., returning last evening. She said that about 10 a. m. she left home, leaving her baby in charge of her mother-in-law and did not return from a drive to Voland until 3 p. m. On arriving home she said she found the front door locked. She went in the back door and found her baby alone. Hastily looking through the house she found that the elder Mrs. Umansky's room was in great disorder, the bureau drawers having been ransacked and their contents scattered about. She notified neighbors and a search of the premises resulted in the finding of the body of her mother-in-law floating on top of ten feet of water in a well near the house.

Selectman Joseph Welch, who viewed the body and assisted in removing it from the well, said that the clothing appeared to have had pieces torn from it. There were no marks of violence on the head or neck. The woman is said to have had $100 in her clothing yesterday morning but no trace of this could be found.

SENATOR CUMMINS

Was Not Present to Greet President Taft

FORT DODGE, Ia., Sept. 28.—The reception committee of Iowa republican leaders which welcomed President Taft to the state at Council Bluffs today did not include U. S. Senator Cummins, one of the acknowledged leaders of the insurgents in the senate.

Senator Cummins has declared for Senator La Follette for the republican presidential nomination in 1912 against the wishes of many of his own friends who desire Mr. Cummins himself to be a candidate before the 1912 convention.

Governor Carroll and staff, U. S. Senator Kenyon, several congressmen, Republican National Committeeman Hart and enough republican leaders to fill two special cars attached to the presidential train at Council Bluffs were waiting to greet the president.

Senator Cummins' welcome, it was said today, would come tomorrow at Des Moines, where he is a member of the reception committee. Aside from that appearance with the president the senator is not expected to figure in the trip across the state.

Beginning at Council Bluffs with a speech of explanation of his long trip west that was turned into a talk of prosperity President Taft led up before the morning was half through and before he had seen a half dozen Iowa towns to a discussion of the tariff and his veto of the three revision measures at the special session. On the way from Council Bluffs to Fort Dodge the presidential train passed through many prosperous looking villages and towns where hundreds of farmers were waiting to catch a glimpse of Mr. Taft as he waved a welcome from the rear platform of his car. In spite of the heavy rain of last night and the threatening aspect of the skies today the crowds were fairly large and proved good listeners. At Denison the president made his first long speech. He chose the tariff again.

At Beckwith City today the president optimistically the tariff situation thus: "I cannot take time to discuss here the issues of the day or the issues that have led to executive action that have been made the subject of discussion generally. I should be glad to tell you about my veto of the tariff. We are going to attempt a reduction of the tariff just as soon as we have adequate information and that information is coming along in the first of December next. Then we are going to recommend a reduction and if we don't you punish us; if we do, be with us."

TRIAL FOR MANSLAUGHTER

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—Joseph Nevins, a taxicab chauffeur, was placed on trial yesterday for the killing of James E. Mallon, a health department employee, on June 7 at Broadway and 50th street. A conviction carries a possible prison sentence of 15 years and a fine of $10,000. The arrest of Nevins was due to Wm. A. Brady, theatrical manager, who witnessed the occurrence.

DETECTIVES SEARCH LINER
NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—At the request of the chief of police of St. Louis two private detectives searched the steamship Campana before departure for Liverpool yesterday for a man charged with deserting his wife after robbing her of $2000 in bonds. One passenger answered the general description of the runaway but he proved his identity.

ROOMERS AND BOARDERS WANTED—Mrs. McGregor pays all attention to her guests: sets a first class table; best chambers and dining room kept clean; steam heat, electric light; nothing to equal it can be found in Lowell for the price charged. Gent's $2.50, ladies, $2.00. Baths with hot and cold water. All are welcome. Transients accommodated. If you feel hungry go to the Quincey House, 63 Lee st.

THE "YES" MAJORITY

May Be Changed From 26 to 758 Against Repeal

AUGUSTA, Me., Sept. 28.—The clerks of four towns whose official returns to the governor and council on the recent election on the question of repealing constitutional prohibition favored the repeal of the amendment, whereas the town clerks contend that the towns voted against the repeal, appeared at the monthly meeting of the governor and council today for the purpose of filing petitions for permission to make corrected returns.

These officials stated that they came prepared to present the town records, upon which corrections can be based and to give any information desired by the governor and council.

A date will be set when a hearing will be given all parties interested in the petition. If corrections are made in response to the petitions from these four towns the "yes" majority of 26, as tabulated by the governor and council from the official returns will be changed to a majority of 758 against repeal.

FIRE ON STEAMER

IT WAS EXTINGUISHED WITH SLIGHT LOSS

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—Fire broke out today on board the steamer Bunker Hill of the Maine S. S. Co., which plies between here and Boston. She was lying in her dock when the flames were discovered in the forenoon. After a short fight they were extinguished. The cause of the fire was not ascertained. The loss was small.

AUTHOR RICHARDSON DEAD

WOONSOCKET, R. I., Sept. 28.—Erastus Richardson, poet, student and scholar, author of Richardson's history of Woonsocket, died here this morning in his 75th year.

AVIATOR RODGERS' TRIP

UNION CITY, Pa., Sept. 28.—Aviator Rodgers passed over here, flying rapidly westward, along the line of the Erie road at 11:30 a. m. Union City is 40 miles from Jamestown, N. Y., and 487 miles from New York.

Trouble Between Turkey and Italy Becomes More Serious

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 28.—A telegram from Tripoli under yesterday's date states that upon the invitation of the local branch of the Banca di Roma many Italians passed the night on board the bank's steamer. The telegram adds:

"The panic among and exodus of Italians are increasing, the object being to emphasize the necessity for the arrival of Italian warships. The attitude of the Turkish and Arab population, and of the local authorities is exemplary. The proclamation of the Turkish grand vizier enjoining the population to be calm and prudent was publicly read."

Turkish circles are convinced that there is no real warrant for the agitation in the Italian colony at Tripoli and it is regarded as the outcome of a deliberate design to provoke a pretext for Italian intervention.

Yesterday Arabs, natives of Tripoli who are residing in Constantinople, held a meeting of protest against the Italian insinuation that the Arabs of Tripoli were in favor of Italian rule. Loyalty to the sultan was expressed.

The minister of the interior today addressed the provincial authorities through a circular note assuring them that the government was resolved to defend the national honor, adding:

"For the moment no actual aggression has taken place but Italy apparently is ready to take action any moment."

ITALY SENDS ULTIMATUM

PARIS, Sept. 28.—It is accepted in government circles here that Italy has sent an ultimatum to Turkey but has not set the time within which the demand must be met or rejected. Hence, from the document itself it cannot be determined when Italy will proceed from words to action.

The delay, although indefinite, will not, it is presumed, continue many hours without a suitable response from the Porte.

ULTIMATUM REPORT CONFIRMED

BERLIN, Sept. 28.—The report that Italy has presented an ultimatum to Turkey is confirmed but, according to the information had here, it demands the immediate cessation of the despatch of Turkish troops and material of war to Tripoli. The general demands of Italy have not yet been presented.

The Porte yielded and stopped the movement of the ships toward Tripoli except the transport Derna, which had already sailed and could not be reached when the ultimatum was delivered. Italy acquiesced in the plans of the Derna and did not interfere with her passage.

THE MOROCCAN AFFAIR

PARIS, Sept. 28.—A semi-official note issued today says that the observations presented by the German government on the last French proposals for a settlement of the Moroccan affair satisfy this morning and the reply maintains reservations which acquire serious examination.

GRAVE MEASURES THREATENED

ROME, Sept. 28.—The minister of foreign affairs has sent the following telegram to the Italian legation consulates in the Balkans.

"The constant opposition of Turkey to all legitimate and economic activity on the part of Italians in Tripoli and Cyrene and the danger which surrounds our nationals at this moment compel the royal government to take grave measures."

SPEEDY ANSWER SOUGHT

ROME, Sept. 28.—Sometime during Tuesday night the Italian minister of foreign affairs, Marquis Di San Giuliano, addressed to the Italian charge d'affaires at Constantinople, Signor Di Martino, a note which began:

"During the long series of years the government of Italy never ceased to make representations to the Porte upon the absolute necessity of correcting the state of disorder to which the government of Turkey abandoned Tripoli and Cyrene. These regions should be admitted to the benefits of the progress realized by other parts of the Mediterranean and Africa."

The transformation which is imposed by the general exigencies of civilization constitutes for Italy a vital interest by reason of the slight distance separating these countries from the coasts of Italy. Notwithstanding the attitude taken by the government of Italy, which has always accorded its loyal support to the imperial government in the different political questions of recent times; notwithstanding the moderation and patience shown by the government of Italy; his views received by the imperial government, but more than that all enterprise on the part of Italians in the regions mentioned have been systematically opposed and unjustifiably crushed."

The note continues:

"The imperial government, which at the present time has shown constant hostility toward all legitimate activity in Tripoli and in Cyrene, has by an

SMOOTH PAVING WORK MAN FOUND GUILTY

Will be Started in Dutton Street He Was Given a Jail Sentence Next Week For Larceny

There are more men employed in Dutton street today to the square foot than in any other street in the city of Lowell. The street railway company is putting in new rails preparatory to the smooth paving job that will start there next week. Everything that the street railway touches in the line of tracks is a rush job and there is no such thing as a man resting on a pick or shovel. There are about 60 men on the job in Dutton street and the job extends from Merrimack street to Broadway.

Newell P. Putnam, superintendent of streets, said today that he expects to get into Dutton street next week and the street railway people expect to get through there by Saturday. They are putting in new rails and new ties. It will cost somewhere in the vicinity of $14,000 to pave Dutton street from Merrimack street to Broadway, and it is generally conceded that the smooth paving should be continued to Middlesex street. That would make smooth paving go to speak from the depot along Middlesex street to Central, to Merrimack, to Dutton, Fletcher and back to the depot. This would have been arranged for this summer, but was considered unwise at this time because of the proposed abolition of the grade crossing in Middlesex street.

The abolition of the Middlesex street grade crossing will also mean the abolition of the Fletcher street crossing and the grade of the streets in the vicinity will be more or less affected. It is expected that the work will change the entrance to the Lowell Machine shop, and that Putnam says he expects that a number of changes, not anticipated at the present time, will take place.

East Merrimack Street
The street department is busy on the paving job in East Merrimack street, and as soon as one side has been finished Mr. Putnam will move his men into Dutton street. He says that he can save considerable time by alternating from street to street as he did in the Merrimack street and Gorham street jobs. There is always a wait of a day or two on every job and that wait is eliminated by moving from street to street.

A sum of $2740 has been appropriated for a continuance of the smooth paving from Howe street to Fayette street, but Mr. Putnam is not sure that he will be able to get to it at this time. He says, however, that he will make a good try.

The Fall Clean Up
Asked if he expected to make an early clean up of the fall work, Mr.

This morning Judge Hadley presided over a very brief session of the police court. The most important case to come before the court was that of George Antonakos, charged with larceny and breaking and entering. He pleaded not guilty, and was represented by Lawyer Daniel J. Donahue. The case after a brief trial found the defendant guilty and ordered him to pay a fine of $25 and to serve a sentence of five months in the Lowell jail. It would appear from the testimony that Costas Costos, who runs a pool room at 497 Market street had for some time been missing some money and cigars from his store. He notified the police, and Inspector Walsh was detailed upon the case, and the inspector made a very searching investigation with the result that the defendant was landed in the police station. Their investigation led them to the belief that Antonakos was the culprit from the fact that he did not work, and was continually smoking cigars and hanging around the pool rooms. The officer arrested the defendant and brought him to his room. A key was found upon his person, and Officer Regis went to the pool room and found that the key was the one that was missed from the pool room some days previous. On close questioning he admitted that he had stolen some cigars and had broken into the pool room three times during the past month. Judge Hadley was inclined to be kind, and directed the defendant and offered the withdrawal of the fine, but the defendant said no. "I will go to higher court, the superior court, and there we will find out."

Other Offenders
John Mahoney was charged with illegally removing baggage and pleaded guilty. He settled the board bill and was allowed to go, as the com-plaintant was satisfied with the settlement.

Patrick Harrington was fined $6 and John Shea was assessed $3 for drunkenness. The probation officer released three and there were three $2 fines for drunkenness.

Case of Hemier
Today the police learned from Lawrence that Nicholas Hemier, who was before the Lowell police court yesterday and sentenced to the state farm at Bridgewater, was a resident of that city, and that his friends and relatives were anxiously looking for him, and were desirous of learning his whereabouts. Deputy Supt. Downey was called to the phone this morning after court, and in answer to the inquiries from the Lawrence authorities, who claimed that a man by that name had been missing from Lawrence for several days, informed the Lawrence police as to the disposition of the case in the local police court. When the man appeared before the police court in Lowell he could not speak the English language, and apparently had no friends. It was learned through an informant that his name was Nicholas Hemier, and that he had no residence in this city or for that matter anywhere else so far as the court could determine. Judge Hadley, after due consideration, decided that the best place for the poor man was the state farm at Bridgewater.

Upon the information from Lawrence the local authorities will take the matter up again, and upon the return of Supt. Welsh from Cambridge this afternoon a complete investigation of the case will be made.

Judge Hadley is interested in the case, and wishes further information as to the identity of the man, and will do all in his power to see that he is once more restored to his relatives in Lawrence or elsewhere. It would appear that the man is mentally unbalanced as he was unable to give any straight account of himself.

A LARGE ATTENDANCE At the Naturalization Court in This City Today

A very large crowd was in attendance at the naturalization session of the superior court at the court house in Gorham street this morning. Judge Walter Perley Hall of Fitchburg, recently appointed to the bench was the presiding officer and 29 men, representing about every nationality were naturalized, that is they received their last papers.

The session opened at 10 o'clock. The court room was filled with future American citizens and each of the latter was accompanied by two witnesses, the said witnesses being the same as 90 days ago when the first session was held in this city.

At the last session of the naturalization court in this city which was held last June, a large number of people took the second paper. They were accompanied with two witnesses each, and today the same men appeared before Judge Hall to be sworn as American citizens. It was a necessity for the applicants to be accompanied with the same witnesses. The applicants went through the regular formalities of answering questions, and the court adjourned at twelve o'clock to reopen again at 2 o'clock.

The session lasted this afternoon as long as there were applicants to be sworn in, and another session will be held tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock, at which time those who have taken out their second papers will be given an opportunity to become full pledged American citizens.

Putnam said that it depended entirely upon the weather. "If the weather holds out as good as it did last year," he said, "we will get everything cleaned up all right. Of course there are always some set backs that one is not looking for. Two gangs that were clogging streets have been laid off for more than a week because we have no oil. I put in a requisition for a car of oil August 21 and it hasn't arrived. I spoke to the purchasing agent about it. He said he ordered it all right and I don't know why it doesn't put in an appearance."

Cambridge Street Bridge
Mr. Putnam says that his department has run up against a snag in the Cambridge street bridge job. "We thought we struck a pretty soft bottom at the Lawrence street bridge," he said, "but it was nothing compared to what we are up against in the Cambridge street job. In some places there doesn't seem to be any bottom and it's hard work to set a pile. I don't know what to make of the situation. When we drive one pile two or three others will bob up. I know there is quicksand there, but there's something besides quicksand; something that is of rubbery nature. The job is taking about four times as long as it should because of the pile driving trouble."

Big Building Permit
The permit for the erection of the building to be erected by the New England Telephone & Telegraph Co., at the corner of Appleton and Elliot streets was issued at the office of the inspector of buildings yesterday afternoon. A picture of the building and a detailed description of it has already appeared in these columns. The estimated cost is $170,000.

The committee on appropriations will meet tomorrow night at 8 o'clock.

STRIKE ORDER HELD UP

Final Action Will Not Be Taken Until Tomorrow

CHICAGO, Sept. 28.—Today is a day of grace in the threatened strike of 35,000 mechanical employees of the Harriman railroad, including the Illinois Central road, several hundred of whose clerks are already on strike. It had been intended to call the men out at noon today unless a conciliatory reply to the latest demands were received from Vice President Julius Kruttschnitt, who is in New York city, but the time for final action was put off till tomorrow, following a conference last night of officers of the international unions concerned.

The ultimatum sent to Mr. Kruttschnitt yesterday was not made public and no reply was received from him yesterday or last night. The demand, in substance, is that the Harriman lines recognize the federation of various unions in the same way as the railroads now deal with the individual unions.

J. W. Kline today said for the first time since the agitation began that the strike would be called unless the demands were complied with by the railroads. He said that he did not expect any reply from Mr. Kruttschnitt.

AN ARMED POSSE

After Doctor Who Escaped From Hospital

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 28.—Dr. J. Grant Lyman, the federal prisoner who escaped from an Oakland hospital Sunday night, is being pursued by an armed posse and federal officials through the mountains near Shasta Springs.

With him is Charles Thorne, hospital nurse, who aided Lyman to escape. Lawrence Gailardo, the chauffeur who drove Lyman to Sacramento, was arrested and confessed.

Dr. Lyman is a promoter and organizer of enterprises involving millions. He was arrested by post office officials in San Francisco Sept. 5, on complaint of Los Angeles investors in a Panama land scheme, who declared they had been defrauded of $50,000. The promoter attempted to escape arrest and injured his knee, necessitating his detention at the hospital.

The escape from the hospital involved the drugging of a nurse and a plot by which Thorne, a previous acquaintance of Lyman, was employed as a nurse in the hospital.

The promoter was permitted last Sunday to go to the hat room. A half hour later nurses found that Lyman had escaped through a window.

U. S. Marshal Elliott was immediately notified and the police called in to aid in the search. Lyman and Thorne are known to be armed. Two women are known to have been with the fugitive at the time of the escape, but their identity is unknown.

Dr. Lyman is well known in Boston, New York and the capitals of the world. He was a promoter in Wall Street in 1900. While in that city he was an exhibitor at the horse shows.

CHELMSFORD

A pleasing entertainment was held last night at the Chelmsford town hall, and the affair was very successful. The attendance was large and the proceeds of the soiree will be devoted to the purchase of a pipe organ for the Central Baptist church.

The program opened with a selection by the Adams orchestra, which also gave other numbers during the evening. S. Thompson Blood of Concord Junction, the well known impersonator pleased the audience very much with his characterizations. Herbert Ellis of North Billerica was heard in two pleasing Scottish songs and Miss McGregor of Lowell who appeared on the program as "The Human Violin" mystified and delighted her hearers by her imitation by voice of the tones of a violin.

At the conclusion of the entertainment ice cream and cake were offered for sale by the young people of the society.

LAWRENCE BANKERS KILLED BY A TRAIN

Are Accused by the City Solicitor Boy Ran Onto the New Haven Tracks

LAWRENCE, Sept. 28.—City Solicitor D. J. Murphy scored the bankers of Lawrence last night before the city council when that body concurred in the order recently passed by the city to grant the abatement of property taxes before October 1 should be granted a 6 per cent. abatement.

Solicitor Murphy said the city's financial condition was due to the sins of other administrations and not to Mayor John P. Cahill's regime. He also said that the opponents of the measure to grant the abatement were trying to put the city in the mire. Mr. Murphy asserted that when an attempt was made to negotiate a loan with the Old Colony Trust company in Boston, the president of that institution stated that the bankers of Lawrence had asked the trust company not to negotiate the loan.

JOKE OR AN ERROR

May Cause the Death of Three Men

WORCESTER, Sept. 28.—The mistake of a thoughtless practical joke of some boy in bringing body salts for table salt to three employees of the Worcester Blackberry & Dye Works may cause the death of the men who sprinkled the white powder over their lunches.

The three men, Frank Chacour, 63 Wall street; Ferch Elias, 21, of 4 Rensselaer street, and Simon Hadjar, 21, of Wall street, are all seriously ill. The former is at the St. Vincent hospital and the latter two at the City hospital.

They were in the yard of the factory at noon eating lunches that they had brought from home. Calling a boy, which one they cannot remember, they sent him into the factory for some table salt.

He returned shortly with a handful, which the men sprinkled over their lunches. The impression it was table salt. They collapsed, while at work, one after the other, at about 3 o'clock. Dr. R. J. Shanahan, called to treat them, ordered them to hospitals, where they have very slight chances for recovery.

A GREAT CROWD

WILL WITNESS THE CHICAGO. NEW YORK GAME

CHICAGO, Sept. 28.—Although the defeat of the New York National league team yesterday made it impossible for the leaders in the league punt race to clinch the championship in the present series of four games, the easterners today expressed confidence in their ability to take revenge in the game scheduled for this afternoon.

Supporters of the Chicago team, which has held the championship of the National league for several years, are expected to be present in great numbers. The game will be played at the West Side park to its capacity in the hope that Chicago would also take the second game of the series.

JACK JOHNSON

IS NOT "BROKE" ACCORDING TO HIS MOTHER

CHICAGO, Sept. 28.—Mrs. Tiny Johnson, mother of the world's champion heavyweight pugilist, yesterday denied, with shrieks of laughter, that the colored pugilist had gone broke in England.

"So they say Jack has spent all his money," remarked the mother of the big fellow, who has $100,000 of her own in the First National bank put there by Johnson for her special use.

"Jack Johnson is striding the English," said Mrs. Johnson. "He always lives on the country when he is traveling. You could not more get him to touch the interest of his $150,000 Chicago holdings than you could scare him white in the face. No, sir, that is all just talk."

"Jack only took a little money with him. He hasn't drawn any since from his slot of the water. He has been living on what he has made."

"Jack's money is in the custody of a Chicago committee of safety. These gentlemen will never give Jack a cent of his own money except for certain purposes and he's got to show them."

"What is the committee of safety?" Mrs. Johnson was asked.

MASS OF REQUIEM

At 8 o'clock yesterday morning a high mass of requiem was sung at the Immaculate Conception church by Rev. Dennis A. Sullivan, O. M. I., for the repose of the soul of the late Rev. John Biller, O. M. I.

The attendance at the church was very large for the deceased was well known and much beloved in that parish. The choir under the direction of Charles P. Smith rendered the Gregorian chant, Mrs. Hugh Walker presiding at the organ. P. P. Haggerty sang Domine Jesu Christe and Mrs. Walker sang Pie Jesu.

MILFORD, Sept. 28.—A football scrimmage was the indirect cause of the death of James Carey, a 14-year-old schoolboy, here today. Becoming excited while playing football with his schoolmates, Carey, with the ball under his arm, ran onto the New Haven railroad tracks near the schoolhouse and was struck and instantly killed by a passing train.

MME. BONAPARTE

REPORTED TO BE IN A SERIOUS CONDITION

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28.—Mme. Jerome Bonaparte, the widow of Col. Jerome Bonaparte, a grandson of the first emperor of France, is seriously ill at her home here. Mme. Bonaparte was before her marriage, Miss Carolina LeRoy Appleton of Boston. She is a granddaughter of Daniel Webster.

On Monday Mme. Bonaparte was brought to Washington from her summer home at Bar Harbor. Her condition is now serious and reports indicate that there is no change for the better.

Mme. Bonaparte's first marriage was to Newbold Edgar, by whom she had two children, Commander Webster N. Edgar, U. S. N., and Miss Constance Edgar, who is a nun of the Visitation order in Baltimore. By her second marriage, in 1871, she had two children, Jerome N. Bonaparte, and a daughter, who is now the Countess von Moltke Hufeladt, of Denmark. Both children spent the summer with Mme. Bonaparte at Bar Harbor.

When Col. Bonaparte married he had just returned to his native land, having served with distinction in the French army, seeing service in the Crimean war, the Italian campaign and the Franco-Prussian war. He barely escaped with his life during the commune.

He was a graduate of West Point and afterward went to Paris with his father, Jerome Napoleon Bonaparte. Both received great attention from the emperor, Louis Napoleon, and the young emperor, regaining his dominion in the U. S. army, he was appointed a sublieutenant in the French ranks.

The paternal great-grandmother of the present Jerome N. Bonaparte of this city was Miss Elizabeth Patterson of Baltimore, whose marriage to Prince Jerome Bonaparte, the youngest brother of Napoleon I, made a most interesting chapter in Franco-American history. It took place on Christmas eve, 1803, with the Rt. Rev. John Carroll, bishop of Baltimore and afterward archbishop, officiating. A civil marriage also took place.

ASK HIS RELEASE

TWO PRISONERS PLEAD FOR THEIR COMPANION

BOSTON, Sept. 28.—Police headquarters yesterday received a unusual incident. Two prisoners, who, the police say, are self-confessed housebreakers, pleaded with the police to release a third man, arrested with them in a West End pawnshop yesterday, claiming that he had had nothing to do with the jobs and had just met them. The police detained the man, however, Joseph E. Finn, 19 no home, and he with the others will be turned over to the Lynn police.

On Tuesday the police discovered in a pawnshop a shotgun, opera glasses and other articles valued at $218, stolen from the residence of William E. Northey of 335 Essex street, Saxon place on September 12. Thinking that more loot would appear, plans were made to watch for the men yesterday. Finn and two youths, giving the names of John H. Cole, 18, of Mechanicville, N. Y., and Stewart A. Smith, 18, of 511 135th street, New York, were seen entering a pawnshop and inspecting them under arrest. Cole and Smith pleaded for the release of Finn.

When placed under arrest the men had a pigskin bag containing billiard balls, opera glasses, baby pins set with pearls, gold ladies, sugar spoons, oyster forks and two pairs of valuable seal skin gloves, all believed to have been stolen in Lynn.

INSTANTLY KILLED

NEWTON MAN PICKED UP A LIVE WIRE

NEWTON, Sept. 28.—Frederick W. Swaine, aged 71, of 55 West Pine street, Athol, picked up a live wire which fell into his garden and set fire to the grass yesterday afternoon, and was instantly killed.

He was working about the garden when the wire broke a short distance from him. He picked up the wire and fell to the ground. A neighbor ran out with a stick and succeeded in pushing the wire from his hands, which were burned to a crisp. The clothing also caught fire from the wire, but the blaze was soon extinguished with several buckets of water in the hands of neighbors.

Mr. Swaine lived with his son, Frederick W. Jr., and at the time of the accident his son's wife, who is an invalid, was sitting in a window and witnessed the death of the aged man. She became prostrate and Dr. Hutchinson was called, who, after examining Mr. Swaine and finding that he was beyond medical assistance, attended Mrs. Swaine.

The body was later viewed by Medical Examiner George L. West and removed to the house.

HARVARD COLLEGE

OPENED WITH A REGISTRATION OF OVER 3000

CAMBRIDGE, Sept. 28.—Harvard college opened its doors today for its 276th year of academic instruction with a registration of 3000 students in the department of arts and sciences. Registration in the law and medical schools will increase this number to considerably over 3000. The freshman class this year exceeds in number any ever admitted to the college, due to the new entrance requirements. There was also a large representation from the west than usual through the effort of President Lowell, who, with presidents and secretaries of Harvard western clubs, have worked to popularize the college in that part of the country. Among the entering students is Lionel De Jersey Harvard, a descendant of John Harvard, who founded the institution in 1636. It is also stated that Vincent Astor, son of Col. John Jacob Astor, will be a member of 1915. The first meetings of courses for instruction will be held tomorrow.

DEDICATION PARTY

Is to Make Trip to Battlefields

BOSTON, Sept. 28.—Gov. Foss, with the consent of the executive council, yesterday approved the order for the appropriation of $3500 which the legislature granted so the state may be represented at the dedication of the military monuments in Valley Forge, Pa., and Petersburg, Va.

The party will start Nov. 9 and be gone ten days. Major Anderson of Springfield, chairman of the Petersburg memorial commission; Senator Denny of Worcester and Representative Witt of Springfield, senate and house chairmen of the legislative committee on military affairs, called on the governor and urged him to approve the order and the itinerary arranged by Sergeant-at-Arms Federal.

The official delegation will include the governor or lieutenant-governor, the president of the senate, speaker of the house, two members of the governor's staff, two members of the executive council, clerks of house and senate, the joint legislative committee on military affairs, the sergeant-at-arms, doorkeepers of house and senate, the commissions supervising erection of the memorials and the commander of the Grand Army of his representative, a total of 35.

The executive councilors chosen for the trip are Brightman of New Bedford and Cushing of Norwood. The party will leave Boston in a special car No. 3 at 4.50 p. m. for New York and will go to Washington Nov. 10. The route is by way of Norfolk and the arrival at Petersburg is scheduled for 5 p. m. Nov. 11. The dedication exercises in that city will take place Monday, Nov. 13.

Tuesday the party will go to Rich-

BIG COPPER MERGER

To Include the Leading Companies of World

CALUMET, Mich., Sept. 28.—A combination of the copper interests of this country and England, or a large portion of them, under an English operating and holding company, with headquarters in London, is reported to be under consideration.

John McLean and John Sedenius of Duluth, Minn., John D. Ryan, president of the Amalgamated Copper corporation; W. L. Corsey, H. L. Agassiz, the Calumet & Hecla magnate, besides representatives of the Guggenheim and Rothschild interests, are said to be assembling for a conference today, to be held probably in Chicago. Ryan, Corsey and Agassiz have been in the southwest for two weeks.

The announced purpose is to evade possible legal complications and overcome the possibility of government interference under what is described as obsolete antitrust legislation. The rumor is vouched for here by a man close to the Calumet-Ryan interest.

The proposed combination is to be under English law and to include all the big southwestern properties. The Calumet authority states, however, that it is not unlikely that all large copper interests in America will be included. Calumet & Hecla and other large Lake Superior and Big Butte and other properties of Montana are mentioned.

"They would not sell out to the English corporation," the Calumet informant says, "but merely form a holding corporation and be operated through an English company. British and German laws encourage this sort of thing. The new corporation would be enabled to get control of the copper market and to regulate the output and the price of copper metal throughout the world, doing so without restraint of representatives of the Guggenheim and

The time will come when Canada will demand concessions from the United States, and unless she concedes reciprocity she need not expect any favors. On the whole there is a prospect of a great democratic victory all along the line at the November election, a victory that will elect Governor Foss in Massachusetts and many other progressive governors throughout the country in states that formerly elected republicans.

Postmaster General Hitchcock has given a demonstration of the use of the flying machine for carrying the mails. This may be very well for showing the possibilities of aviation at some future period, but as flying machines work today they are neither safe nor reliable for the purpose of carrying the mails. They cannot be used in unfavorable weather, while the mails must be attended to in all kinds of weather. The time has not yet arrived when the delivery of mail can be subjected to the risks of aviation.

FOR THE PARDON OF C. F. KING

A strong plea is being made for the pardon of Cardenio F. King, the Boston financier, who is now serving a sentence of ten years for having swindled a great many people out of their money by conducting a bogus banking scheme. The witnesses who testified against him at the trial have all signed the petition for his pardon. Moreover, it appears that Dr. Richardson of Boston testifies that the prisoner is suffering from a disease that is dangerously near the incurable point. It is alleged that King's life can be saved only by an operation, and that the prospect of its success in prison would be very slight, while the prisoner might recover if he had liberty and were permitted to undergo treatment at one of the leading hospitals. It is difficult to oppose the petition under such conditions, but if King had been a little less prominent and a less successful thief there would probably be no petition for his pardon and nobody to make any such plea for him on account of his illness.

THE FRENCH NAVAL DISASTER

The awful disaster to the French battleship Liberte following a number of less serious accidents would lead to the belief that either in the construction of battleships or in the attention given the operation thereof there is some very grave defect. France is not the only power that has had serious accidents to battleships. There have been many such on the battleships of the United States, and we understand that it was to prevent such accidents that the great ammunition hoist was recently manufactured for our navy by the Lamson Company of this city.

It would appear that in the recent French disaster the seriousness of the fire was not realized in time to avert the danger. The department in which the fire occurred could easily have been flooded had the officers of the vessel known that such a course was necessary. The captain of the ship was on shore, and it is possible that his subordinates were not quite as attentive to duty as they should have been in his absence. It will be difficult to learn just what was the real cause of the accident, as the ship has been blown to pieces and practically all of the men who had anything to do with the incipient blaze have been killed. It is a sad calamity to France, and one that will cause all the other great nations to exercise the utmost precautions in order to avert the possibility of similar disasters.

RE-ELECTION OF FOSS ASSURED

The political parties of this state having nominated their respective tickets, the campaign may now be regarded as open. Governor Foss, as was expected, will again lead the democratic party, and the present lieutenant governor, Louis A. Frothingham, the republican. The people will have to choose between these nominees, and between an administration thoroughly progressive and successful on the one hand and one that, if we are to judge from the candidate, must be old-fashioned, unprogressive and disappointing. Governor Foss has made one of the best governors this state has had in half a century. Small politicians may cavil on matters of policy or detail, but the fact stands out boldly that Foss was governor, that he was not dictated to by any man or set of men; that he did what he believed to be best for the state. This was apparent in his many appointments to the bench, most of which were highly commended by all parties. We do not believe the sensible people of this state are ready to retire a governor who has done his duty so courageously, and who has so creditably upheld the honor of the old commonwealth on all occasions.

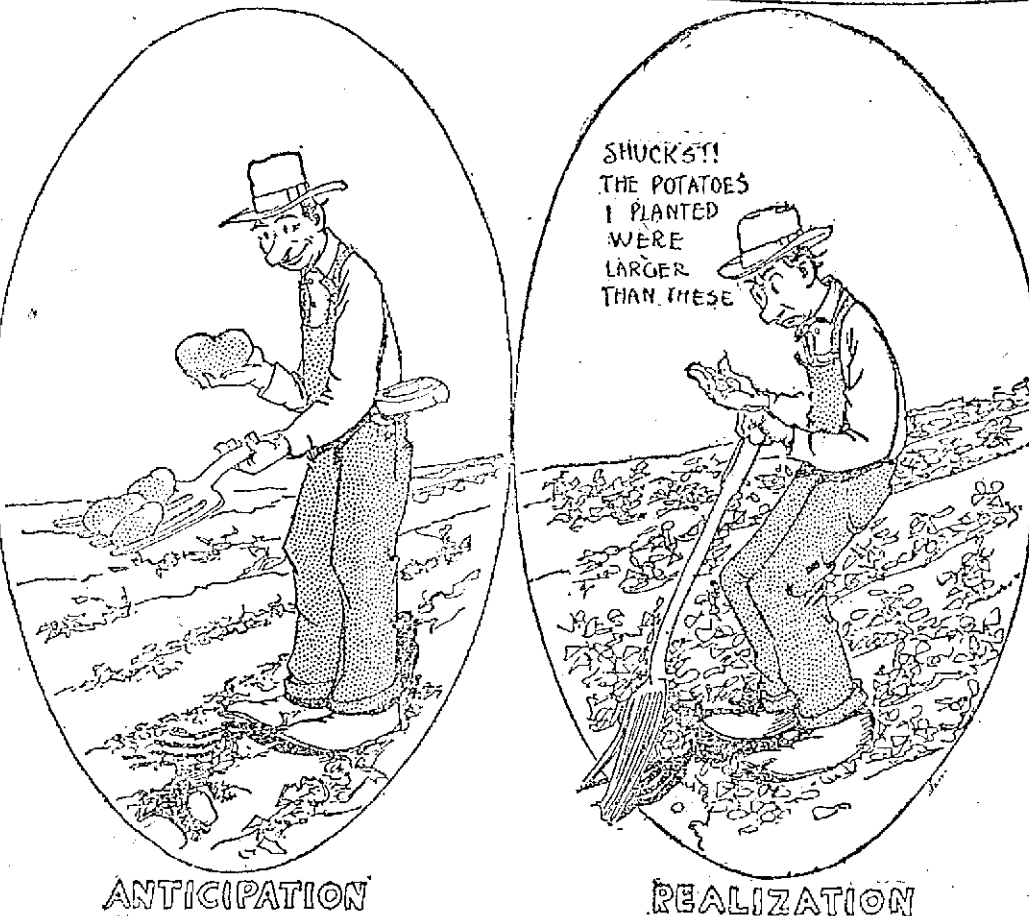

If the republicans had nominated a very strong man there might be some excuse for a change; but with an opponent of the calibre of Mr. Frothingham, the election of Foss by from 25,000 to 50,000 majority is a foregone conclusion.

The legislature this year adopted most of the reforms advocated by Mr. Foss in his inaugural at the beginning of the year, and to these reforms the governor can point as of his initiative. It is true he did not succeed in carrying out all his ideas of reform, but so far as he has been successful the state has been benefited by the enactment of new and beneficial laws. Governor Foss needs no defense, although he will be bitterly attacked by the republican press as he has been already by Representatives Walker and White. He can afford to ignore other and similarly scurrilous attacks. They are so palpably unfair that they have solidified his support throughout the state.

Governor Foss need not exert himself very much in the campaign for re-election. The people will re-elect him by a sweeping majority.

It is true that, as might be expected, his efforts to reduce the expenses of the state administration did not always meet with the approval of the republican machine. Hence we are likely to hear considerable about his employment of experts to look into the finances of state departments, and we shall hear, too, that the great issue upon which the governor first sailed into office has been defeated. That issue has gone down in defeat, but it is not dead, and it remains for a man like Governor Foss and others in the democratic ranks to keep the issue alive and to bring it forward for an intelligent decision.

LIFE'S DISAPPOINTMENTS

SEEN AND HEARD

In Newport, R. I., that city by the sea which from time to time spasmodically leaps into fame, or notoriety through the escapades of some of its prominent, or wealthy inhabitants, there occurred a few weeks ago a little incident which strikingly illustrates the grotesque fancies that at times possess the minds of those to whom Dame Fortune has given twenty-four hours a day to be devoted to pleasure. To this end, generally, the young men and women of the prominent or wealthy families of that place aspire and to realize that these aspirations have their fulfillment one has but to read the newspaper accounts of the "goings-on" in that gay little city.

The incident to which we refer runs along something as follows: A young lady—a handsome young lady, for, does she not reside in Newport—appeared a few days ago on one of those beautiful avenues for which that city is famous, driving her car. On the small rear seat of that vehicle—the seat on which usually sits an individual resembling, so far as animation is concerned, an Egyptian mummy, we mean a lackey—on this seat appeared, as immobile as a statue, a trained mastiff.

Along the avenue the car glided; its occupants apparently heedless of the smiles of amusement or of derision that overspread the several faces of the passersby. Those, it is needless to say, depended for their means of locomotion on the old reliable "skanks" name.

At last the destination of the car was at hand. The Casino. Here the young lady, the handsome young lady, alighted and, turning to her canine companion, whispered some mysterious words—as were wont to be the alchemists of old—into its ear, whereupon the animal nodded its head sagaciously and then looked straight ahead, apparently disinclined to notice the vulgar crowd who, having collected, gazed upon it. In this rigid posture it remained until its mistress, leaving the clubhouse, returned, patted it affectionately on its sleek, well-groomed back, and entering her car, with her companion whirled away. And the vulgar plebeians still looked on.

A Georgia woman who moved to Philadelphia found she could not be contented without the colored mammy who had been her servant for many years. She sent for old mammy, and the servant arrived in due season. It so happened that the Georgia woman had to leave town the very day mammy arrived. Before departing she had just time to explain to mammy the modern conveniences with which her apartment was furnished. The gas stove was the contrivance which interested the colored woman most. After the mistress of the house had lighted the oven, the broker and the other burners and felt certain that the old servant understood its operations, the mistress hurried for her train.

She was absent two weeks, and one of her first questions to mammy was how she had worried along.

"De finest ever," was the reply. "And dat air gas stove—O, met Why, do you know, Miss Florence, dat fire ain't gone out yet!"—Sacred Heart Review.

FOLLY

It was folly, they told me, to love you, dear.

But Love was dead, and it could not hear.

And they scorned, and they warned, and they called me mad!

But I thought of you, and my heart was glad.

It was folly to long for a touch of your lips.

To thrill at the touch of your finger tips.

It was folly to think and to dream of you.

They told me, my love; but they never knew.

The subtle thrill of the touch of your hand.

And they would not and could not understand.

What did I care what the Wise Ones said?

The cynical sneer, or the shake of the head?

I pitied them all, for they never knew

The joy of the folly of loving you!

—Will Lisenbee.

In a newspaper interview with the mayor of New York it is shown how that magistrate walks for his recreation in preference to all other forms of sport. He considers it the one great opportunity for pleasure that is open to all the world, and wonders why every one does not adopt his habit of walking to and from his or her business.

The idea is worth advocacy. There is a new interest in life when one has the habit well established of going to work. It occupies hours better than cheap literature, it gives a glimpse into the doings and ways of the world which many persons would otherwise not secure. London working people, it is said, walk into the city's busy parts from long distances. It is largely a question of habit, and the habit once formed there need not enter the thought of fatigue any more than with other constant use of the muscles of the body in normal ways—as for example, in holding the body erect in a sitting position, or the action of the arms and fingers.

The mayor says he does most of his work while walking—that is he gets things all thought out and has only to put his work on paper at top speed when he gets to his desk. "The period of the morning walk to work would afford time for thinking undisturbed for others who acceptance themselves to such a use of their faculties. Life in the outdoors is the normal and happy life for mankind and everything we can do to enjoy this freedom of air and sunshine—when it is to be had—is a broadening of the joys of life and brings a happy refreshment which it is foolish to miss.

Such ideas as this emphasize the often heard query nowadays whether all the modern conveniences, like telephones and street cars, really save the people anything valuable in saving so much "time." Does not our zealous time-saving mean sometimes the loss of what is better?

EDITORIAL COMMENT

Lawrence Eagle: For years and years the sugar trust is known to have stolen from the government. By means of false weights and tricky means of cheating the scales, and by bribery of government officials, this rapacious trust diverted into its own pocket millions of dollars that should have gone to the government in revenue. The trust was caught red-handed in its thievery, yet nobody was punished; nobody went to jail. The government finally put a stop to the revenue stealing. The doctored springs were taken away, and the corrupt customs collectors were discharged. This forced the trust to adopt new methods in order to maintain its inflated dividends, so recently it sent out a wall about a "short crop" and now sugar prices are almost as high as they were during the Civil war. The sugar trust is determined to get "its."

ATTEMPT TO BOOST COTTON

Fall River Globe: Spot cotton is now below 11 cents. From seemingly reliable sources the reports indicate a probable crop approximating and, indeed, exceeding the government estimates, which were so vehemently assailed by certain southern congressmen and senators as well as representatives of farmers' organizations of the south. Besides that, the shipments of cotton to the market are unusually large for so early in the season. In view of all these circumstances, it would appear that the manifesto issued a few weeks ago by the Farmers' Union, in which it was stated that the cotton had gone forth to the growers that they should hold the product for 15 cents or better, supplemented by the assertion that all signs pointed to a crop of but 12,500,000 bales or less, had not had much influence in affecting either the market or the action of the growers or the spinners.

WHENCE GOOD MAY COME

Globe: Sometimes it does no harm for one nation to stand up to another. Out of the Venezuela debt which President Cleveland hurled at England has come the best understanding that ever existed between the two countries. That menace of war sobered both nations and put the politicians of each on their good behavior. British public opinion awakened to a perception of and a respect for our national sensibilities such as it never had gained before and also an appreciation of the value of our good will. On the other hand, as we recovered from our venereal frenzy we were somewhat faced to see how near the brink we had rushed and how low many good people there were in England who did not sympathize with Lord Salisbury's policy of badgering us about nothing.

HELPLESS IN GALE

Steamer Shoreham Disabled Off Newport

NEWPORT, R. I., Sept. 28.—For an hour late yesterday the steamer New Shoreham, which plies between Block Island, Newport and Providence, drifted helplessly about at the mercy of wind and storm, while engineers worked feverishly to repair a high pressure valve, damage to which had caused the disabling of the ship. In the gathering darkness the half-hundred passengers stood on the deck and anxiously awaited the outcome. Meanwhile the torpedo boat destroyer Amman and half a dozen tugs were rushing from Newport to the aid of the stricken steamer. Chief Engineer William O'Neill and his helpers succeeded, however, in repairing the damage, and when the Amman picked up the New Shoreham with her searchlight off the Point Judith lightship the latter was on her way into the harbor under her own steam.

The New Shoreham left Block Island for Newport at 4 o'clock and had gone some distance when the machinery gave out. Repairs were made and a new start taken, but a short time later there was another breakdown, and this held the steamer for an hour. Meanwhile a 45-mile gale was blowing, driving the steamer before it, and fear of being wrecked on Point Judith urged the engineers on in their repair work. The New Shoreham is not equipped with wireless, but her plight was discovered by another vessel and word was sent to Capt. Kenyon of the Police Neck life saving station. And he in turn notified tug and Commander Williams of the torpedo station, the latter ordering out the destroyer. Several of the passengers were seasick and a number left the New Shoreham here to continue to Providence by rail. The steamer continued her journey last night.

SEVERAL SPEAKERS

Addressed the Rally for Churchmen

A rally for churchmen planned by the Massachusetts Sunday School association, was held at the First Baptist church last night under the auspices of the Baruch class of that church.

The rally was in the interest of the "Men and Religion Forward Movement," at which prominent speakers discuss the great movement, and last night's rally in Lowell was no exception.

tion to the rule. The speakers last night were: George Ernest Briggs of Lexington, head of the work in Boston, and Secretary of State Albert F. Langtry, who were very interesting in their remarks. The meeting was presided over by President Robert E. Friend of the Baruch class, and George Taylor, president of the Merrimack Valley Sunday School association as well as W. W. Mann, secretary of the Massachusetts Sunday School association, addressed the gathering.

St. Paul's Church
The attendance was large at St. Paul's M. E. church last night, the occasion being an address on the "Problems of Drunkenness" by Oliver W. Stewart, field secretary of the National Temperance Union of New York. The meeting closed at 9:30 o'clock with the passing of the contribution envelopes, for the purpose of assisting in the campaign against liquor, that is being carried on by this organization.

First Trinitarian Church
A social as well as a business meeting of the Brotherhood of the First Trinitarian church was held last night with a large attendance. The feature of the evening was the presentation of a drama, "The Dictator" by a group of well known amateurs who composed the cast as follows: M. J. Mahoney, James E. Donnelly, Mrs. Daisyette Dunham, Mrs. Brown and William F. Thornton. Miss Elizabeth Tiffney presided at the piano and accompanied Mrs. Spence of the Kirk Street church quartet, who was the soloist of the evening.

AN IMPORTANT POINT

On Power of Police Board Decided by City Solicitor Duncan

Some time ago a man wrote a letter to the board of police stating that he had been assaulted by a hotel proprietor and he wanted his legal rights protected. Later, his attorneys, pur-ed to ask the city solicitor's opinion and he tells the board that the alleged assailant can be found guilty only after a proper trial and the board of police is not a tribunal for such purposes. The opinion submitted by the city solicitor reads as follows:

Lowell, Mass., Sept. 26, 1911.
Board of Police, Lowell, Mass.
Gentlemen: In response to your question as to the propriety of the board of police attempting to determine whether the proprietor of a hotel has committed an assault charged against him in a written complaint made to the board, before such matter has been determined by a court of justice, it is my opinion that the board would be hardly justified in such action, as in the eye of the law he might still be innocent though pronounced guilty by them. In other words he can be found guilty only after a proper trial and the board of police is not a tribunal for such purpose.

Very truly yours,
Wm. W. Duncan,
City Solicitor.

RELIEF TO THE MONOTONY.

I'm glad George has worked out a new system for playing the races. Do you think it will win?
No. But it will vary the conversation when he comes to explaining how he lost his money.

THE END SEAT HOG.

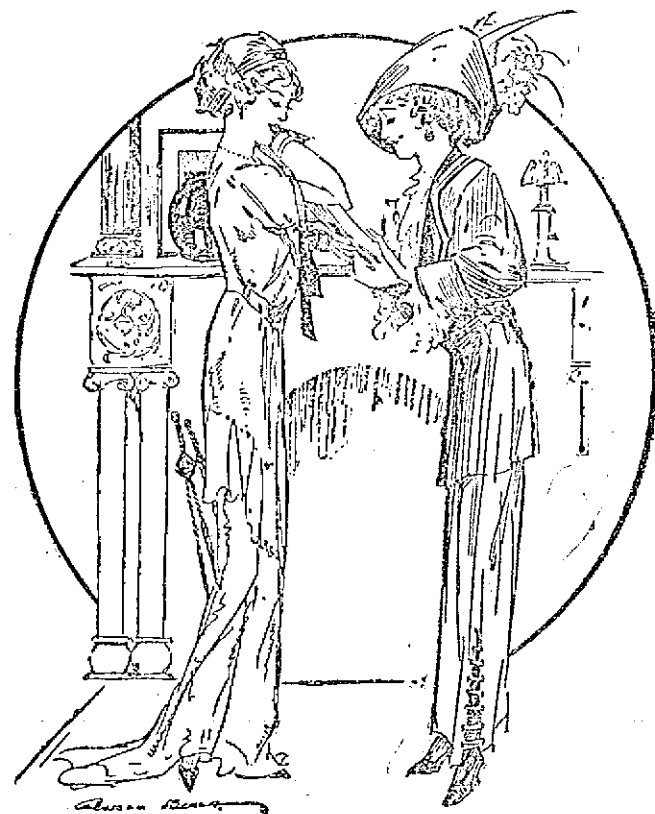

So the open car has been packed in moth-balls and laid away for the winter?" he queried of the conductor as he smoked his cigar on the rear platform.
"Yes, and I am a happy man!" was the reply. "Just take a look inside. There are fifty passengers, and every one has a grin on his face. You couldn't get one of them to kick about anything. See those two old fellows almost hugging each other?"
"They seem to be brothers."
"Brothers be hanged! They have fought each other all summer about end-seats, and there were times when I thought murder would be done. See how that fat woman is smiling at the little fellow. You'd almost think they were in love, and yet I've heard her threaten his life because he wouldn't hitch along and give her the end-seat. There are two fat men up by the door borrowing tobacco of each other and wrapped up in blandness. About the middle of last month I had to call an officer to take them both off my car. It was a case of 'no hitch along.'"
"There is a man in there who looks like a minister," said the passenger.
"And he is one, but you wouldn't have known it by his actions last summer. If he couldn't get an end-seat he'd raise a row, and twice I heard him dare a man to get off the car and have it out. Bless you, sir, but running an open car is the same as working around a menagerie, only the animals are a little better behaved."
"And you think their moral influence is bad?"
"Bad, sir? Why, if the weather was so that they could be run the year round we should become a nation of pigs and kickers within five years! Blessed be the closed car. There are no end-seats. You drop down anywhere and begin to smile right and left, and if the conductor happens to ask for your fare twice you pay rather than disturb the harmony of the occasion."

The October Girl

LIKE fluttering leaves that strow the wold,
My senses seem to wildly swirl
Whenever my blinking eyes behold
The sweet, serene October Girl.

BUT, oh, my soul is warped with woe!
She treats me as a common churl,
Because I was her Summer bean,
While now she's an October Girl.

ANYTHING TO PLEASE.

Mercy! Here's a telegram from Fred. He's been hurt in the football game. What does he say? He says: "Nose broken! How do you prefer it set—Greek or Roman?"

No Legal Advice.

SEE that you are a real estate man," said the caller as he entered the office of a dealer, "but you are probably posted in the law enough to answer a question. If so, I am willing to pay for it."
"I give out no legal opinions, sir," was the reply.
"But this is a very simple matter."
"But you must go to a lawyer."
"But there isn't one within a mile of here."
"I can't help that."
"The question simply is—"
"Sir, I positively refuse."
"Oh, well, if you are so stiff as all this I'll have to go elsewhere, but I must confess to being a little surprised."
"You are not so surprised as I was about ten years ago," said the dealer. "A man who suspected that a neighbor was stealing his stove-wood came to me and asked if he hadn't a legal right to load a stick or two with gunpowder. I told him that he had."
"And he went ahead on your opinion?"
"He did, and a week later I also went ahead. The wife of the suspected wood-stealer was a washwoman who went out by the day. One evening my wife asked me to drop in there and engage her for the next day."
"Um."
"I was in there when one of the loaded sticks exploded and blew up the stove, the kitchen, the woman and myself, and the doctors didn't get through tinkering at me for about three months. No, sir, you will get no legal opinion from me. Go to a regular lawyer and let him be blown through the window into the yard and lose his hair and eye-brows and have his legs roasted."

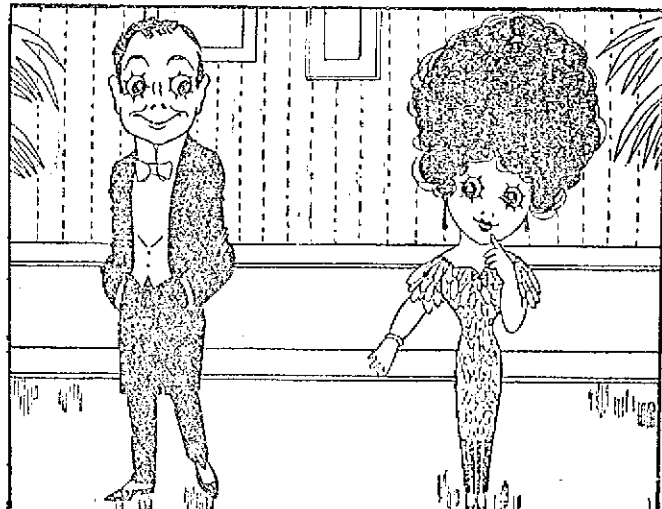

GIVING HER A JOILY.

Miss Sweet—Weren't you awfully frightened the first time you went up in an aeroplane?
Aviator—Well—er—for a while I did feel a sort of groundless apprehension.

Winning Compliments

THE beautiful girl shook her head in the negative.
"No," she said after a moment's deliberation. "I can never—no, never—be your wife. But I'll tell you what I will do. Just to show you that there is no hard feeling on my part, I will be present when you marry some other girl and bombard you with my shoes for luck."
Ah, here was an opportunity. Quick as a flash the young man responded: "Please don't. If you must throw old shoes borrow them."
"And why not use my own?"
"Because they are so small, we could never detect them from the rice."
Flattery won. The beautiful girl decided then and there that the young man was altogether too clever for any other girl, so she reversed her decision and the cards are out.

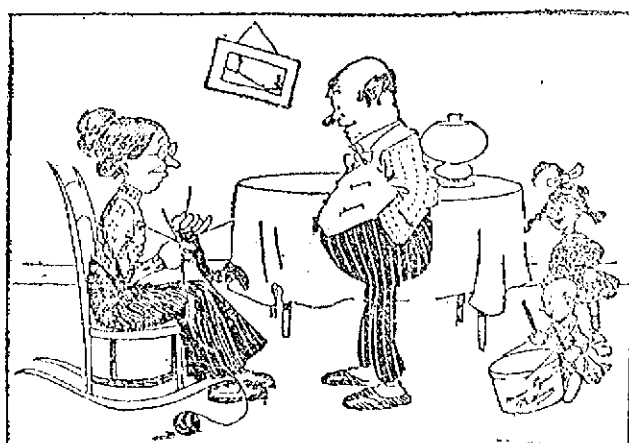

AT THE BALL.

Don't be afraid of the slippery floor, Mrs. Sweet, I will support you.
Miss S.—Oh, Mr. Hugger, this is so sudden.

Ahead of the Game.

I HAD fallen heir to 300 acres of land in Iowa," said the Easterner. "and I went out there to see about disposing of it. I landed at a town thirteen miles away from my property, and had scarcely arrived when it began to rain. That was the beginning of a storm that lasted nine straight days. After the second day the roads were so bad that there was no traveling. One could scarcely get around the village. On the morning of the ninth day the landlord of the inn brought me a man who knew all about my land, and as we shook hands the fellow said:
"I want to congratulate you on your luck."
"As to how?"
"This 'ere rain."
"But hasn't it been beastly?"
"Why, sir, it's put at least five hundred dollars in your pocket."
"I don't see how?"
"Then I'll tell you. It's made a lake of 300 acres of your farm out there, and a huckleberry swamp of the other 50. Lord, man, but this storm seems to have come just on your account! There's the shores of a lake to hold camp-meeting on, and there's huckleberries to feed the crowd."

"What was the land before the storm?" I asked.
"Oh, Jes common—jest good 'nuff to grow cornstalks seventeen feet high and 50 bushels of 'aters to the acre."
JOE KERR.

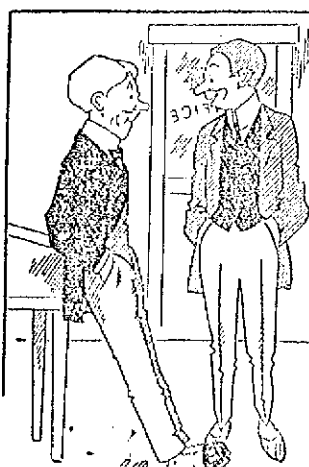

SO IT IS SAID.

"You'll have to get some new socks. I'm not going to sit up till after midnight darning your old ones."
"But my dear, it's never too late to mend."

Here's a Pointer.

ALL the signs point
To an early winter.
To a late winter.
To a cold winter.
To a mild winter.
To heaps of snow.

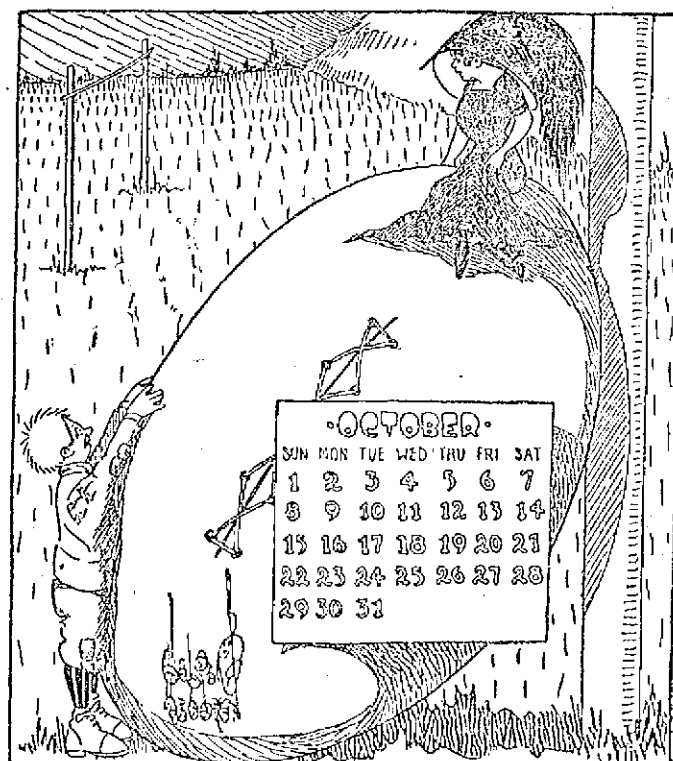

ON GUARD.

That new fall suit of yours fits you splendid. Who is your tailor?
He's the first man you see as you go out.

To no snow at all.
To much suffering among the poor.
To the poor rolling in luxury.
To ice five feet thick.
To no lee at all.
To one of the severest, balmyest, blizzardiest, mildest, awfulest, regular old snortists of a summer-all-winter. Get out your bob-sleds on the one hand and your flower-beds on the other, and when you hit it let 'er go Gal-lagher!

ALWAYS THANKFUL.

Hewitt—My grandmother was always Thankful.
Jewett—What was she thankful for?
Hewitt—Her parents gave her that name and she didn't apply to the Legislature to have it changed.

HIS GOAL.

An Innocent Wife.

HE had been invited to make one of an automobile party next afternoon, and that evening at the dining table he carelessly mentioned the fact that he had never witnessed a game of baseball in his life, and that he would take in one next day. There were no objections, nor was anything further said until he returned from his spree. Then the wife queried:
"Was it a good game?"
"Fierco."
"And you understood it?"
"Perfectly."
"I am glad you did, for I want you to explain a few things here in the evening paper. For instance it says that 'Austin made a corking stop of Gardner's grasser.' What do you understand by that?"
"Why, I—I—"
"And it says that 'Hemphill made a corking one-hand scoop.' Can you explain?"
"I could, but—"
"And it says that 'Nelson caught Warhop asleep at the bat.' Do the players go to sleep in the middle of a game?"
"I don't think so, but—"
"And it says that 'Pirates were high in the air.' Were they flying?"
"I can't just say, you know."
"Oh, well, it makes no difference. I was automobiling all the afternoon and having a splendid time, and I just felt to pity you stuck up there on a hard bench and with two porous plasterers on your lano back!"

BLARNEY.

Misto' S. Kezicks—Howdy, Miss Lucy, Howdy. Yo's lookin' ultra-machinous afiah yo' summah trip. A little sunburned, not too much, jos' a becomin' shade o' tan.

IN 1911.

You don't find chestnuts under these trees like you used to.
No, by heck! These here blamed aeroplane fellows just pluck them off every time they pass.

GUMB B

FIRST SILK MACHINE

SEPT. 28.—The French people were great loom silk weavers and it was one of the great industries of the country when on Sept. 27, 1707 Joseph Marie Jacquard gave to the world his completed silk loom that was destined to revolutionize the whole silk industry. This loom bears his name today. Like all labor saving inventions the new machine was received with howls by the workers. The latter could see nothing but starvation ahead for themselves and families. Jacquard was an object for jeers wherever he went and his life was threatened a number of times. A mob even invaded his home and smashed one of his looms to shreds. And then the turn came. Instead of decreasing the business the new loom increased the demand for cheaper silk till Jacquard was recognized as a public benefactor and he was given honor in the same locality where before he had dodged bricks. He was given the cross of the Legion of Honor and a dozen years after his death a monument was erected to his honor at Lyons. He received tempting invitations to settle in England but he resisted all calls and died at Oullins near his native city of Lyons.

CIRCULAR ON REQUEST

REGISTER PURCELL

Congratulated by J. A. Burns, His Opponent

Mr. William C. Purcell, the present register of deeds, is being congratulated on the large vote he received as candidate for re-nomination. His total vote was 2552 in the city and in the district it went away above 3903. Two years ago he was elected by a majority of 196, having carried Lowell by 543. His opponent at that time was Horace S. Bacon, who has been again nominated on the republican ticket. Mr. Purcell has made many improvements in the office since he took charge one of which is the installation of steel protectors for the records.

Register Purcell this morning received the following letter from Mr. Burns, his opponent in the caucus. The reply is also appended.

Lowell, Mass., Sept. 27, '11.

Mr. Wm. C. Purcell:
Dear Sir—Permit me to congratulate you on the handsome endorsement you received at the polls yesterday. I will gladly appreciate being called upon at any time I may be of service to you.

Very truly yours,
James A. Burns.

The Reply
Lowell, Sept. 28, 1911.

Mr. James A. Burns, 41 Riverside Ave., Lowell, Mass.
Dear Sir—Your kind note of congratulation at hand and I feel very grateful for the offering of your service in the contest for election. I thoroughly appreciate the spirit in which it is sent, and I most sincerely thank you.

Yours most respectfully,
William C. Purcell.

THE GRAND JURY

Says Judge Tried to Obstruct Justice

ATLANTIC CITY, Sept. 28.—In a presentation to Justice Samuel Kalisch yesterday, the grand jury which has been investigating political and election affairs in Atlantic county, declared County Judge E. A. Highgate guilty of "a deliberate and inexcusable attempt to interfere with and obstruct the course of justice."

It was also announced by the grand jury that a committee had been sent to Governor Woodrow Wilson to confer with him as to "the best and most effectual steps to take under the circumstances."

Justice Kalisch advised the grand jury that they could not take further action regarding Judge Highgate's conduct, but that impeachment proceedings could be instituted in the senate by the governor should he see fit. All the facts in the matter, supported by affidavits, are now in Governor Wilson's hands.

The grand jury returned twenty-five additional indictments growing out of the election investigation, and some of them are said to be directed against men prominent in city and county affairs.

The action of the grand jury, coming just after the organization men had a hard-fought victory at the primaries, is a stunning blow to the organization men, who now fear vigorous prosecutions will rob them of the fruits of their victory.

PROBATE COURT

DISMISSES PROCEEDINGS IN THE RUSSELL CASE

CAMBRIDGE, Sept. 28.—All the proceedings in the probate court last night in the case of the North Dakota claimant for the estate of Daniel Russell of Melrose were dismissed today and the controversy, which involves the identity of the man who says he is Daniel Blake Russell and which occupied the probate court for six months last year, was sent to the supreme court on exceptions. The proceedings today were brief, consisting of various motions by L. A. Simpson, representing Dakota Dan, all of which were overruled by the court.

An effort to have the appeal from the probate court tried before a jury will be the next step in the famous case.

CITY SOLICITOR'S OPINION

In the copy of the city solicitor's opinion relative to the eight-hour law and the car sprinkler, printed in yesterday's paper, an error occurred in the last paragraph, which should have read as follows: In any event if the present law does apply to this particular contract, the responsibility for its violation, if there be any, rests upon the American Car Sprinkler company and not upon the city of Lowell.

PREMIER LAURIER

Says That He Will Lead the Opposition

OTTAWA, Ont., Sept. 28.—"The great resources of Canada and the character of the Canadian people make it certain that the Dominion will one day be the greatest factor in the British empire, even exceeding in importance and influence the United Kingdom itself," declared Earl Grey last night at a farewell banquet tendered him by the Canadian club. He announced that owing to the pending change of Canadian administration he would not sail from Canada on October 6th but would defer his departure until the 15th.

"Some people profess to place reliance on the Monroe Doctrine," Earl Grey continued, "but where would that doctrine stand if the British fleet were swept from the seas? The only security for Canada's defense is the supremacy of the British fleet."

Sir Wilfrid Laurier and R. L. Borden spoke briefly.

"The people of Canada have just declared that the party led by Mr. Borden is to govern Canada," said Sir Wilfrid, "and, while I regret the decision, I have no quarrel with it and will take my place at the left of the speaker as Opposition leader."

Mr. Borden said the Canadians have viewed with wondering admiration the splendid campaign Sir Wilfrid Laurier had made and expressed the hope that he might be able to close his own career with a display of as remarkable vigor.

A LIVELY RUNAWAY
Horse Ran Madly Through Merrimack Square This Morning

A lively runaway occurred this forenoon, when Ernest Daigle's horse covered the distance between St. Jean Baptiste church in Moody street and the corner of Stackpole and East Merrimack streets at break-neck speed, but however without causing any damage or injury to itself or the wagon.

Mr. Daigle, who is a plumber, was doing work in a house in Moody street opposite St. Jean Baptiste church, and his horse which is some trotter, hitched to a delivery wagon, was stopped in the street opposite the house. At about 11:30 o'clock a passing automobile truck frightened the animal and it started at lightning pace towards city hall.

A number of people tried in vain to stop the animal, but the latter kept on its furious race down Merrimack street towards the square. At the latter place a number of pedestrians narrowly escaped being struck by the crazed animal. The horse then increased its speed and went along East Merrimack as far as Stackpole street, where it had to come to a stop, the street being blocked.

The horse was then seized and returned to its owner, who was soon on its trail. The strangest part of this runaway is that although the horse covered a distance of over a mile at a very fast pace, there is not a scratch on the wagon and the horse is as sound as can be, escaping without the least injury.

POLITICAL POSTERS

BARRIED FROM WINDOWS OF BOWLING ALLEYS

BOSTON, Sept. 28.—The proprietors of billiard and pool rooms and bowling alleys in this city were requested in a circular issued today by the licensing board to discontinue the practice of displaying in their windows and other parts of the premises political posters, cartoons, advertisements or portraits.

The board states that it objects to the circulation of such matter in behalf of any candidate for office.

BILLERICA

Mr. and Mrs. William B. Chambers observed the 25th anniversary of their marriage in their cosy home in Wilson street, North Billerica, last evening. The occasion was a very happy one, and the couple received the congratulations of very many friends. There were numerous and valuable presents.

The vote at the primaries last Tuesday evening was very light, there being but 103 votes cast.

The town committee chosen were as follows: Republican, Francis A. D. Smith, Herbert F. Jacobs, Warren Holden, Clarence A. Bowman, Fred H. Parker, Charles L. Burton, Isaac Hopkinson, Everett S. Bull, Albert H. Richardson, Harry G. Sheldon, Joseph Ellis, Joseph F. Talbot, William McBride, Nathaniel Hutchinson, Roger Barrington, Royce M. Hanson, Thomas Talbot Clark and Charles F. Manning.

Albert H. Richardson and F. A. D. Smith were elected as delegates to the state convention.

The democratic town committee chosen is comprised of the following: M. H. McLaughlin, John Twomey, Henry O'Brien, John Kenneley, P. M. McElligott, John Reardon, Bartholomew Hayes, Edward Riley, De Lacy Corkin and M. B. Hayes, delegate to state convention, Eugene Phair.

under the Sullivan Anti-Pistol law. Rossi, who pleaded guilty to carrying a revolver, said it was a custom of his countrymen.

"The statement of this defendant," said Judge Foster in imposing sentence, "as to the custom of carrying revolvers by certain nationalities is true, and it is true they were notified it is in violation of the law. I will impose a prison sentence as a warning to those who think that they are immune."

THE DIRECT PRIMARIES

Meet With Approval of the Labor Leaders

BOSTON, Sept. 28.—The state-wide primary method for selecting candidates for election has been given its first trial in Massachusetts and according to politicians who commented today on its workings it has stood the test.

The democratic leaders who have been urging direct primaries for several years pointed to the new method as the best argument in favor of direct election of United States senators while the republican managers agreed that the size of the vote Tuesday was larger than had been expected and the machinery worked more satisfactorily than they had anticipated.

Chairman Hatfield of the republican state committee said that he believed that never before in the history of the party had so many republicans taken part in the nomination of candidates.

Robert Luce, the republican candidate for lieutenant governor and one of the party movers in favor of direct nominations, was particularly enthusiastic today over the results.

Speaker Joseph Walker, who was defeated for the republican nomination for governor, said today that the direct primaries had come to stay.
